STOCKS TUMBLE; BANKERS' POOL DOES NOTHING

5,900,000 Shares Are Sold in 3 Hours.

BY FRED HARVEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 6.—[Special.]—That shiny new gold wall of protection which the big bankers of Wall street were supposed to have built around the ailing stock market to keep out the vicious bears was kicked to smithereens from the inside today.

Traders, big and little, joined in another wild scramble to get out of the market at any sacrifice. The result was a crash almost as violent and far reaching as the all time record affair of "Black Tuesday" last week.

Prices of the more active issues went tumbling anywhere from $10 to $20 a share from one end of the list to the other. In extreme cases the declines were more sensational—$35, $45, $55, and even as much as $100 a share. An average of 30 industrials showed a drop of 25.55 points on the day, as compared with 30.57 last Tuesday.

Billions in Values Wiped Out.

Billions were erased from market values. United States Steel alone showed a shrinkage for the day of more than $116,000,000 in the aggregate price of its common stock. American Telephone and Telegraph dropped about $289,000,000, Atchison about $65,000,000, General Electric, $200,000,000; Westinghouse, $44,000,000, and Union Pacific, $44,000,000.

So far as the average observer could determine there wasn't the slightest evidence of any support from the bankers' protective pool formed some ten days ago, when the market was at its worst. Indeed, there was every reason to believe the bankers had got out with the rest and unloaded their freshly acquired holdings in big blocks.

None of the bankers admitted this. They were silent all day, the members of the group. They held no formal meeting—that much was specifically announced—and they had no statement of any kind to make.

The federal reserve board was in session, but it likewise kept silent on the unexpected turn of affairs. The board of governors of the stock exchange met, but it was emphasized that this was a regular meeting devoted to routine business.

Frenzy Rages Unchecked.

Everybody in authority seemed to sit back and let matters run their course. Perhaps there was nothing else to be done, with the whole speculative community apparently terrified and the rush to sell assuming the proportions of an uncontrollable epidemic. At any rate, that's the way some well informed observers sized up the situation tonight.

Sales for the three hours—the market closed at 1 p. m.—totaled 5,905,900 shares, against 4,503,800 for the same period Monday. The stock ticker was left behind in the opening rush and was clicking away nearly an hour after the close.

Some of the outstanding targets of the bear drive, now in its third week, were pushed to new low levels for the year. Included in this list were such "blue chip" favorites as General Electric, Public Service of New Jersey, and Johns-Manville.

Bad News in Table Form.

	Prev. low.	Today's close.	Today's loss.
Adams Express	255	230	100

Westinghouse	100	128¾	17¼

The curb exchange also went through another turbulent session, with prices breaking sharply all along the line. An outstanding feature was the heavy sales in Cities Service, which opened on a block of 125,000 shares at 35, off 3¾, and later sold down to 30.

One Bank Stock Drops $1,000.

Bank stocks were uniformly weak, First National falling $1,000 to $5,000 a share and the stock of the Corn Exchange bank dipping 135 points to 195.

The stock market was weak from the outset, with prices melting away

FOILS MYRTLE BLACKLIDGE IN RAID ON ESTATE

Tax Officials Barred by Rough Guards.

Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge, collector of internal revenue, took personal charge of collecting on liens against Terry Druggan's blooded stock yesterday only to find herself subverted by three of Druggan's hoodlum henchmen. The result—score one for Druggan.

The collector and her chief deputy, Robert E. Neely, set out early in the afternoon for Sanola farm, Druggan's trim country estate three miles southwest of Lake Zurich. With them they carried liens against a herd of blooded Guernseys and several race horses which Terry is alleged to own. Druggan owes about $300,000 in back income taxes, Mrs. Blacklidge claims.

Find Farm in Order.

Unaccompanied, the collector and Mr. Neely drove to the gate of the farm. Before them up the road was the vista of a neat house and four orderly barns, trimmed in green and white and the whole surrounded by a spotless white fence. Also coming toward them were three burly men with hard faces.

"What'll it be?" one of them demanded of Neely. The latter presented his credentials and stated his business. He was sourly appraised for a moment.

"You wait here," the leader of the three commanded, "I'll have to talk to Mrs. Druggan about this."

Ordered to Leave.

Mrs. Blacklidge and Neely waited, under scrutiny of the other two, while the spokesman disappeared into the house. He was back almost immediately.

"Nothin' doin'," he said, "you can't come in."

Neely remonstrated. He and Mrs. Blacklidge were government officers and had proper papers to make their investigation and seizure.

"Get out," the leader threatened. "It'll be —— —— unhealthy for you if you don't."

The collector and Mr. Neely wished no violence and did leave, but they promised dire things for Druggan last night. "He can't buffalo the government like that," Neely said, adding that they were yet undecided as to just what course of action will be taken.

Important Case for U. S.

Mrs. Blacklidge explained last night that she had gone to Druggan's farm because she felt that the case was one of the most important that she has had before her since she took office as collector of internal revenue, and that it required her personal attention. The $300,000 claim is the largest the government has ever had against a gangster, Mrs. Blacklidge said.

"The Druggan case is of so much importance, I considered it my duty to give my personal attention to it," Mrs. Blacklidge said. "This setback will not prevent me from collecting the claim. We will evolve some plan whereby we can collect the money and I will see that it is collected."

Other Property Seized.

During the day Neely and his men served liens on three properties owned allegedly by Druggan and his partner, Frankie Lake. The property seized was in the vicinity of Roosevelt road and South Campbell avenue, and consisted of the Standard Beverage company, at 1225 South Campbell avenue, and a lumber yard and garage across from it. The tenants must pay their rent to the government hereafter.

Liens will be served on Lake's home at 912 North East avenue, Oak Park, this morning, Neely said.

Police, Cavalry, Armored Cars Halt Polish Riots

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Nov. 6. — Angered by parliament's adjournment for 30 days, the Polish Socialist party today staged protest demonstrations in Warsaw, Cracow, Bielsk, Boryslaw, and Vilna. At Lwow 2,000 Socialists, accompanied by large crowds, gathered in the main square, shouting against the government's action. Police, cavalry, and armored cars prevented further trouble and finally the mounted police charged twice to disperse the crowd. A large number were injured.

Claudia Muzio Sued for Jewel Bill of $9,000

In the ballroom scene of "La Traviata" at the Civic Opera house last night, Claudia Muzio, dramatic soprano, singing the part of Violetta, was garbed in a jewel trimmed gown. Magnificent diamonds sparkled on her fingers and arms. Envious shop girls in the gallery didn't know that a writ of attachment had been filed in the afternoon on all the singer's gowns and jewels.

The writ was obtained by the Philip Barnett company, jewelers at Michigan and Jackson boulevards. They charged that the opera star owed them $9,284 for jewels she had purchased. They posted a $20,000 bond and the writ was given to two deputy sheriffs to serve, with instructions that they seize all personal effects of the singer.

Gem Purchases Described.

The suit told of the fondness for jewelry displayed by the singer, who is Mrs. Renato Liberti in private life. It detailed all the purchases made by her from December, 1926, to December, 1927. She bought $25,534 worth of gems in that period, returned jewelry worth $1,250, and paid $15,000 in cash, leaving an unpaid balance of $9,284, according to the suit.

Some of the items listed in the writ with the purchase sales follow:

Dec. 7, 1926—Aqua pendant, $750.
Dec. 14, 1926—Diamond emerald bracelet, $1,000.
Dec. 14, 1926—Diamond brooch, $500.
Dec. 17, 1926—Diamond ring, $5,750.
Dec. 20, 1926—Diamond emerald circle brooch, $595.
Dec. 20, 1926—Sapphire diamond ring, $600.
Dec. 20, 1926—Man's diamond platinum ring, $450.
Dec. 20, 1926—Cigaret case, $150.
Dec. 20, 1926—Vanity case, $125.
Dec. 20, 1926—Gold bag, $375.
Dec. 24, 1926—Emerald ring to order, $950.
Dec. 31, 1926—Emerald ring, $550.
Jan. 12, 1927—Diamond pearl drape pin, $2,700.
Dec. 24, 1927—Diamond sapphire bracelet, $170.
Dec. 24, 1927—Diamond bar pin, $800.

Other items, such as gold cigaret holders, and a number of rings valued at $200 to $500, made up the total bill.

In May, 1925, a writ of attachment was obtained against the singer by a Michigan avenue store which charged her with failure to pay for $2,500 worth of gowns. The opera star paid the account and the writ was dismissed.

5 PERSONS SHOT BY MAN IN AUTO AT RADIO PLANT

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Five persons, two of them women, were shot here late today by one of three men who were seated in an automobile in front of the Crosley radio plant and had been making remarks to women employés leaving the building.

The victims: Claude Hughes, 36, wounded in neck, condition critical; Miss Loraine Wagner, 19, shot in left leg; James Crowe, 24, flesh wound in back; Edward Mappes, 18, shot in right hip, and Flora Gory, 43, also shot in right hip.

FLYER TELLS OF PEOPLE TRAPPED ON LAVA ISLAND

GUATEMALA CITY, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The death toll from the eruption of the volcano Santa Maria was officially estimated today at more than 400.

A vivid picture of the disaster was told today by D. G. Richardson, superintendent of operations of the Mexican Aviation company, who flew over the affected district. He said:

"I saw something which will ever live in my memory, an island surrounded by a moving mass of lava, which must be getting higher and higher; and on the island were men, women and children, trapped, with no hope of escaping a horrible death unless old Santa Maria so decrees."

The eruption, which began last Saturday and was continuing today, is one of the most serious volcanic disasters in the Americas.

Lava still was pouring today from the newly opened crater on the volcano, but it was largely following the course of earlier flows and had caused no extensive new damage. The authorities have sent numerous relief expeditions to the stricken area.

EVANSTON FLAT BUILDING BOMBED A SECOND TIME

For the second time in three weeks Evanston's mysterious bomber last night bombed an apartment building under construction at 544 Sheridan road, Evanston. The bomb, the fifth set off in empty buildings in Evanston in recent months, tore a hole in the concrete floor of the building and shattered windows for several blocks around, but the damage was slight.

The first three of the five bombings occurred on Tuesday nights at about the same hour, and since that time Chief of Police William Freeman has had the entire police force watching for bombers on Tuesday nights. Since the police adopted these tactics the bomber has changed his dates.

Parents Upset, Docs Baffled; Baby Fixes It

About five months ago Leonard Boyce Gilbert, two and a half year old son of Allan T. Gilbert, Chicago attorney, found a small screw on the floor of the Gilbert home in Kenilworth. The child put the screw in his mouth and drew it down his windpipe.

The parents knew nothing of the screw, and they attributed his frequent coughing spells to a cold. They had him treated for it.

Boy Taken to Hospital.

When his mother noticed that he had developed a sort of wheeze and that he didn't play as energetically as before, Leonard was taken to the Presbyterian hospital. There X-rays revealed the screw in one of the two bronchi which branch from the bronchial tube into the two lungs. Its position made it unusually difficult of access with surgical instruments.

Eleven weeks ago the small patient underwent an operation for the removal of the screw. It was unsuccessful. Very shortly thereafter a second operation was tried, and once more the probing surgical instruments failed to grasp the tightly wedged screw. The second operation proved a critical one, and following it all the physicians' skill was exercised to save the child's life.

Plan Trip to Specialist.

Recently, after Leonard had again gained strength, the doctors advised his parents to take him to a famous specialist in Philadelphia. This specialist possesses a three way fluoroscope, an instrument enabling the user to locate the foreign substance in such cases from three different angles, and thus work with greater precision. The trip was to have been made next Sunday.

But yesterday Leonard's nurse, Miss Thelma Smith, watched him go into another of his coughing spells. The child's face turned blue from suffocation. The nurse hoisted him by his heels and, clutching him somehow with one hand, dealt the boy a whack between the shoulder blades.

Out tumbled the screw.

BUNDESEN WOULD ABOLISH HIS OWN JOB AS OBSOLETE

The coroner's office should be abolished as obsolete, Coroner Herman N. Bundesen declared yesterday at a joint meeting of the American Association of Railway Surgeons and the Surgical Association of the Chicago and Northwestern railway at the Hotel Sherman.

"There are no coroners in many states and other states are contemplating the abolition of the office," he said. "The reason is obvious: most cases ultimately go to the state's attorney any way and much time could be saved and more efficiency created by leaving out the duties of the coroner."

He said it would not be proper for him to start a movement for abolition of an office he held, but indicated a hope that some action might be taken under pressure of public opinion.

Jurors Charge Coercion in Pantages Case

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Three women members of the jury which convicted Alexander Pantages on a statutory charge today swore to affidavits charging that they were influenced and coerced into returning a verdict of guilty against the vaudeville magnate.

The jurors were Mrs. Christana Bulrich, Mrs. William Ingles, and Mrs. Lotta C. Steiner, whose affidavits were included in seven filed by Pantages' attorneys in his plea for a new trial.

For Light Sentence.

The women swore they were influenced in switching their votes to guilty by the inclusion of the words "with clemency" in the verdict, believing such a direction would make it mandatory that Superior Judge Charles Fricke pronounce a light sentence.

The affidavits also charged that fear of caustic radio utterances against them by the Rev. R. P. Shuler also influenced their voting.

Mrs. Ingles said in her affidavit that Juror William Vellage "threatened to tell Bob Shuler how this affiant acted and voted unless she joined with him in a verdict of guilty, and further stated that he would see that Shuler made a statement over the radio in reference to it."

Penalty 1 to 50 Years.

After the verdict of guilty had been returned against Pantages, who was accused of having attacked Eunice Pringle, 17 year old dancer when she went to his offices to book a vaudeville act with his theaters, the three women jurors said they had learned that the jury's clemency recommendation did not make possible any mitigation of the sentence prescribed by law. The sentence is from one to fifty years in San Quentin penitentiary.

Affidavits also stated that the women knew that Garland Bittle, a defense witness, had been arrested for alleged perjury before the deliberations began and that the knowledge influenced their decision.

District Attorney Fitts tonight declared it "seems rather strange to me that since the verdict was returned three jurors have had a sudden change of heart. It is the law of California that a jury cannot impeach its verdict."

ROW 10 MILES TO SAFETY AS YACHT SINKS

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—With the sighting of a derelict schooner yacht 16 miles off Barnegat tonight it was revealed that its crew of two men had abandoned it in a sinking condition off this city and rowed 10 miles to land safely at Heins' pier here today.

The two men, Capt. William Jensen, New York City, and Charles Dietrich, a deck hand of Keyport, N. J., were taken to the Vermont avenue coast guard station. They remained there as guests of Capt. Bentham and will return to their homes tomorrow.

The skipper of the yacht, the Gray Goose, the property of Frederick P. Humphreys, a yacht broker of Keyport, told coast guard officials here that the schooner struck a submerged piece of wreckage last night, and three hours later they were forced to leave the craft after three and a half feet of water had entered the hold.

FRANCE HALTS EVACUATION OF RHINELAND ZONE

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Vorwaerts, Berlin daily, today said evacuation orders issued recently to the French regiment stationed at Kreusnach, in the third Rhineland military zone, had been canceled suddenly and that the regiment would remain until further notice. French soldiers about to enter a train at Mayence for return to France, were ordered to resume their old quarters in the Mayence barracks.

Vorwaerts said the counter order was believed to be a result of the change in the French ministry and the appointment of Andre Maginot as minister of war.

M. Maginot and his friends, the paper said, always have held the opinion that the third zone, in which Kreusnach and Mayence are situated, should be evacuated only after the Young plan has come into force.

Girl Circus Performer Loses Leg; Hit by Engine

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Ann William, 19, of Gary, Okla., a performer with the 101 Ranch show, lost her right leg when she was struck by a switching engine tonight. She was crossing the tracks, returning to the ranch train. Her condition was reported as critical.

HOOVER TARGET IN DUTY BATTLE, ARNOLD ADMITS

Go-Getter Outlines His Methods.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—More of the methods employed by J. A. Arnold, Washington go-getter for the Southern Tariff association and the American Taxpayers' league, to secure tariff protection for southern states' products or abolishment of the federal inheritance tax were revealed to the senate lobby investigating committee today.

Arnold candidly admitted President Hoover was made the "target" of his efforts in behalf of Louisiana sugar cane growers, who sought a high duty on sugar in the pending tariff bill. By "building fires" under southern senators to weaken their opposition to the bill, Arnold undertook, he said, to make it "politically safe" for the President to approve an even higher duty than was carried in the house bill.

Governor's Aid Sought.

He as readily admitted attempts, as spokesman for the Taxpayers' league, to reach Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York through John J. Raskob, Democratic national committee chairman, in the hope that if a tax revision program is laid before the forthcoming regular session of congress the New York governor's influence will carry the day for repeal of the inheritance tax.

He was still hazy on the details of how the nearly $225,000 collected for his organizations during the last year from corporations and individuals all over the county has been used. He twisted and squirmed through a four hour barrage of cross-questions to deny that he was a "lobbyist" without reflecting on the sagacity of the hundreds of eminent business men and great industries who are listed as contributors on what Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] has called Arnold's "sucker list."

Arnold insisted that the money has been legitimately used to encourage and crystallize public sentiment in favor of repeal of the inheritance tax and in favor of tariff protection for southern products, but he admitted that he refused to give either the Association of Commerce of St. Paul, Minn., or the Advertisers' National Protective bureau of Minneapolis details of the Taxpayers' league activities.

Signs Income Tax Order.

The upshot, a heated clash with Senator Caraway over the proper interpretation of that refusal, was Arnold's reluctant agreement to sign an order authorizing the treasury to produce his personal income tax returns for several years back.

In letters found in his files and read into the committee's records, Arnold told J. W. Groves of Minneapolis, the league's state chairman, that inasmuch as "we have got about all the money we can out of St. Paul I doubt the wisdom of submitting the information" requested by the St. Paul Association of Commerce and the Advertisers' Protective bureau.

"The information is necessary," it was asserted in the Advertisers' Protective bureau request, "because of the great number of fraudulent solicitations."

"There's a man whose letter indicates a suspicion that your organization is a mere device to get money," said Senator Caraway. "Did you feel no obligation to defend your honor when it was impugned?"

Referred Letter, He Says.

"I referred the letter to our state chairman in Minnesota," countered Arnold.

"The inference in that letter and the plain, blunt inference here is that you were getting that money for yourself," declared the Arkansas senator.

"I don't accept that!" shouted Arnold.

"Well," retorted Senator Caraway, "you'll have to accept it until you candidly explain your activities."

"You pose as an expert on taxes?" demanded Senator Caraway.

"Well—perhaps ——" stammered Arnold.

"You said yesterday your organizations have not filed any income tax returns?" interrupted the senator.

Not Required to File.

"Yes," answered Arnold. "No organization of this kind has to file."

"Have you any objection to this committee notifying the secretary of the treasury that you filed no returns for the organizations?"

"No."

"And will you give me a letter to thorizing the treasury to let us examine your personal return?"

"Now——" began Arnold, "Now—O, well, write the order and I'll sign it."

Among the letters taken from Arnold's files Senator T. J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.] found several addressed to prominent persons in Mississippi and other southern states urging them to bring every influence at their command to bear upon Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], whom Arnold described as an advocate of free sugar in the tariff bill and "our worst enemy."

Reaction Feared, He Says.

"According to my information," Arnold wrote on Aug. 17 last to J. C. Barry at La Fayette, La., "the President fears the wrath of the consumer. From the economic viewpoint he probably would be willing for the increase but for the political reaction he fears in the campaign.

"This opposition comes out of the south and is led by Senator Harrison and Senator Simmons of North Carolina, who is getting old and has turned it over to Harrison. The mention of a sugar schedule drives Harrison insane. He would put you on the free list. My thought would be that there should be a protective tariff sentiment built up in the state of Mississippi among the growers there.

"My thought is that weakening down the opposition would put courage into the President and he might stand for the house rates when the bill gets into conference.

"President Is Target."

"In conference the President has considerable power and the party will probably follow his wishes. My thought is that the President is the target."

"You think that from the economic standpoint the President would agree to the house rates, but from a political standpoint he would not?" asked Senator Walsh.

"Yes, in a way," answered Arnold.

"And you think the President would be amenable to political pressure?" asked Senator Walsh.

"I never heard of a President who wasn't," retorted Arnold.

Harrison "Worst Enemy."

Other letters told of "building fires under Pat Harrison, our worst enemy, until he changes his stand or lessens his activity against the bill," and in another, Arnold expressed his understanding that the house rate of 2.2 cents a pound tariff on sugar "reflected the President's views."

"Where did you get that?" demanded Senator Walsh.

"I don't know—probably from the press or discussions I heard," answered Arnold.

"Did you take it out of thin air, like you have other things?" asked the senator.

"O, I wouldn't say so," was the answer.

"What do you mean, 'the President is target'?"

"I would call 'target' a hasty expression, but he has influence."

"He was to be the target fired at?"

"No, but I was going to build up sentiment—"

"As in the case of Senator Harrison?"

"No, sentiment so that those who favor protection will feel safe in doing so."

"Really, what you mean is that the President, fearing political consequences, would be relieved of that fear if you developed sentiment?"

"He is entitled to have sentiment fully developed so he can express himself as he thinks best."

Another Letter Quoted.

In another letter Arnold wrote, "The senate finance committee gave the sugar growers all that public sentiment would stand for."

"Do you still think so?" asked Senator Walsh.

"No," answered Arnold. "I think it would stand for a 5 cent rate if the sentiment was expressed."

Arnold admitted that he had talked with Senator J. E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], the senate majority leader, "at least three or four times" on various tariff schedule problems.

"That wasn't lobbying, of course?" asked Senator Walsh.

"O, no, that was giving him information," asserted Arnold.

"And it wasn't lobbying when you were 'building fires' under Senator Harrison?"

"No, that was developing sentiment."

"And the more protection sentiment you could develpp in southern states the more money it meant for the Southern Tariff association?"

"That's right, senator," agreed Arnold.

Senator Walsh read letters written by Arnold to Senator Park Trammell [Dem., Fla.] and to H. B. Sawyer of Stone & Webster, Boston, Mass., investment bankers, reporting on the results of the conference of governors held at New London, Conn., on July 17, 1929. Nineteen of the governors present favored immediate repeal of the federal inheritance tax, he asserted in the letters.

In the letter to Senator Trammell, Arnold described Gov. Roosevelt of New York as "the key man, but he is noncommittal," and added that if the governor "would favor repeal of the federal estate tax it would go a long way towards repealing it."

Seeks Raskob's Aid.

"On the way to the governor's conference," Arnold wrote to Mr. Sawyer, "I stopped at Wilmington and suggested to Judge Laffey of the Dupont interests, who is the special attorney for General Motors, that he discuss this subject with Mr. Raskob in the hope that he would take the matter up with Gov. Roosevelt, whose influence and efforts could repeal the federal inheritance tax."

"I understand you to deny you are a lobbyist," said Senator Walsh.

"Yes," answered Arnold.

"What would you call these activities?"

"It wasn't lobbying, anyway."

CHICAGOANS TELL AID.

Many Chicago business men, admitting they had contributed to the support of the American Taxpayers' league, denied knowledge of the lobbying activities of J. A. Arnold, executive secretary of the league.

President V. V. Boatner of the Chicago Great Western whose road gave $750 over a period of three years to the league was one of the most outspoken of the "contributors."

"To all intents and purposes the league appealed to us as a bona fide institution," said Mr. Boatner. "If lobbying was carried on we had no knowledge of it nor did we contribute to the league with that understanding."

William Wrigley Jr. explained his $100 contribution by saying that he had hoped in this way to "keep well informed of progress of inheritance tax bills brought before congress," and that "the league performed this service well." Mr. Wrigley denied any knowledge of lobbying on Arnold's part.

ELECTION NEWS SEEN AS RAINBOW BY DEMOCRATS

Happy Over Virginia and Kentucky Results.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Democratic leaders were jubilant today over trends in yesterday's elections. Not only was the result of the Virginia state election of major importance from a national standpoint, but the outcome of local contests in a number of other sections, notably Kentucky, supplied straws which were seized by the Democrats as showing a swing toward the party that met disastrous defeat a year ago.

On the basis of the encouragement given by yesterday's elections, the Democrats are prepared to undertake with new zeal organizing for next year's congressional elections. With the tariff bill furnishing ample political ammunition, the Democrats hope to cut down Republican majorities in both houses of congress and pave the way for a real battle in the presidential election of 1932.

Of first importance from the Democratic standpoint was the election of the Democratic state ticket in Virginia, where the anti-Smith Democrats, led by Bishop James Cannon, had joined forces with the Republicans. The large majority rolled up by the Democrats, together with the fact that the coalition ticket failed to poll a vote much larger than the normal Republican vote, seemed to supply convincing proof that Virginia at least intends to remain with the solid south.

See Return of Solid South.

The Democratic leaders believe that the other four southern states which strayed away from the fold last year—North Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, and Texas also will be found back in line.

The Kentucky election, in which the Democrats retained a two-thirds majority of the lower house of the assembly and a majority of the senate, also was considered significant by party leaders. Hoover carried the state last year when the Republicans elected nine out of eleven congressmen. In as much as Kentucky is one of the border states, which shift with changes in popular sentiment, the Democrats believe the results show that a reaction in their favor has set in.

Results in New York City and in other municipalities were likewise cited by the Democrats as indicating a definite trend against the party now in control of the national government.

Republicans Take It Calmly.

The Republicans were ready to admit they could find little cause for elation, but refused to recognize reason for serious concern from a national standpoint. Even if the election demonstrated that their vision of a permanent break in the solid south was not justified, the Republicans pointed out, their presidential candidates had won without the south in the past and probably could do it again.

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, said that the elections "told a most remarkable story of Democratic progress."

Shouse Sees Cause for Joy.

"Not alone was the return of Virginia to the Democratic column by an unparalelled majority, or the election of the Democratic mayor of New York, which was, of course, expected, symbolic of the political trend, but all through the country, wherever an election was held, the story varies only in the degree of Democratic success," said Mr. Shouse. "The Democrats elected mayors in a dozen New York cities, most of them counted as Republican strongholds, and in Indiana, which is even more remarkable, while in Kentucky they won the legislature, which insures Democratic control of redistribution of congressional districts required by reapportionment under the new census.

"The country, for the time being at least, is Democratic-minded."

Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] said that the Virginia result "demonstrates that the large body of those who dissented last year told the truth when they insisted that their defection was momentary and in no sense permanent."

Senator Claude A. Swanson [Dem., Va.] said that the Democratic majority in the state and in every congressional district next year would exceed the majorities given yesterday. "This election also indicates," he said, "that the entire south will return to the Democratic party."

Election Glee Out in Cicero Turns to Gloom After Raid

BY THE SENATOR.

African golf, the Cicero "converts," the "new leadership" and futurist tendencies in politics were getting a scholarly analysis by the savants in the Sherman lobby yesterday afternoon when a west side precinct walloper surged in. He was frothing over with news like a mug of needled beer.

"Can you tie this?" says he. "Only yesterday Cicero gave a two to one or better vote for the Deneen-Cermak ticket. And today State's Attorney Swanson celebrates by sending out his dicks and pushing over a swell gambling joint in Cicero, one of Capone's places.

"The cops seized 300 guys and threw them in the can. These lads were all high principled fellows who weren't doing anything but playing a little faro, roulette, African golf, and other innocent games. Some of them had supported the ticket, and this is what they get for reforming.

Raided Weeks Ago.

"The joint was raided some weeks ago, but in recent weeks before the election the dicks couldn't see anything to raid. How could these innocent customers tell that reform was going to start the minute the ballots were counted?

"Monday night Cicero put on a swell rally for the Deneen-Cermak bunch. Mayor Joe Klenha presided. The better element of Cicero turned out. The high grade bootleggers and runners were there. So were some of our most fashionable moonshiners. Here and there in the audience were distinguished citizens who had been indicted but not convicted in liquor cases, and had seen the light.

"It was an inspiring meeting; no shootings, no machine guns. Everybody left his bulletproof vest at home. On Tuesday converted Cicero, which had been anti-Deneen, gives a big Deneen-Cermak majority at the polls. And on Wednesday Swanson, a Deneen guy, knocks over one of the best establishments in the village. The suckers aren't all in the stock market. Looks like in this new deal they talk about somebody slipped a jack off the bottom."

Day After Is Different.

"O, well," says a north side iconoclast, "the day after election is always different from the day before. Yesterday I could shake hands with seventeen sitting Superior judges and get a kind word. But if I stuck out my mitt today I'd be in danger of frostbite."

"Anyway," says I, "it was a great campaign. Cermak and Brundage did all the talking, and the judges did all the running. Any ticket with the seventeen judges on it would have won, it seems to me. The judges preferred the Democratic label because it was less in bad with the public than the Republican. Now the lads are holding the post-mortem.

"A bulletin was broadcast from the county building a minute ago that in honor of the victory somebody had started a boom for Tony Cermak for mayor or for governor, or president of the league of nations, or something. If he hadn't been born in Bohemia they'd be starting him for President of the U. S. A. It's always that way after a triumph.

"Crab at Deneen's Men."

"Tony and his followers are crabbing that the Deneen bunch didn't do much vote delivering on Tuesday. They say the Deneen push spent more time organising for the senatorship fight in April than for the judicial election, and that the Democrats did the work and got the results. Some of the Democrats, too, didn't break their backs delivering.

"In the other camps the lads are sweeping up cold crumbs of comfort. Mayor Thompson's gang is said to be laughing at the showing made by the Republican ticket under Snow-Barrett leadership. The mayor's home ward gave pluralities to the Republicans; so did Snow's and Barrett's wards. The Snow-Barrett crowd says the Deneen group got so small a vote that it will be pushed over in the primaries in Cook county in April, when Cermak will be busy in the Democratic party.

Balance of Power, They Say.

"The Brundage camp says it will keep up the fight for the rebirth of the local Republican party. The Brundage lads say that without any sitting judges on the ticket, with no war chest, and only three weeks for organization, they won a moral victory although they won no judgeships. They say they are a balance of power between Deneen and Snow-Barrett.

"Brundage has been urged to run for senator, making it a triangular battle with Cousin Charlie and Ruth Hanna McCormick, who are already in the field. The general says he will not commit himself either way for a time. Meanwhile, however, in three weeks he got together a partial organization and with no dough and no judges on his ticket, rolled up sixty to a hundred thousand votes for his candidates.

"Something to Think About."

"It gives him something to show Gov. Emmerson on the question of how the Lincoln park patronage is to be distributed. Brundage plus Lincoln park might give the city hall Republicans something to think of in April in the fight for party control and for county nominations.

"Gov. Lou is still his Egyptian sphinx-like self. I gave Springfield a jingle, but the governor was mum on appointments.

"Meanwhile, Homer K. Galpin, who has been living the wild life in a coonskin cap with "Old Trusty," his rifle, in Wisconsin for a year, is the talk of Republican city hall-Snow-Galpin headquarters. The lads have been saying if Homer were on the job as chairman, the coalition muddle would have been averted. As an absentee landlord Homer carried his ward Tuesday. Now he is projecting a trip to Europe, which has led them to prepare a telegram: 'Homeless Homer, please come home for April'."

REBUKES 'CHURCH' POLITICS

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Dr. John Garland Pollard, governor elect, who led the Democratic party to a decisive triumph in the state election yesterday, in a statement today interpreted his victory as a "warning to those who may hereafter seek for partisan purposes to revive religious strife."

In the same category he included "those who were so ungenerous as to discredit the sincerity and to demand the punishment of those Democratic leaders who, in the press campaign of last fall, supported the nominee of their party.

"The verdict of the people of Virginia was neither approval or disapproval of Smith or Raskob," the statement continued. "No national issues were involved.

"To the press of the country I desire to say that comment of out of state newspapers concerning my nomination in the August primary shows widespread misapprehension of the significance of this period. My victory has no bearing on the coming elections in other states. I take the results to mean that the overwhelming majority of the people approve Democratic administration in Virginia."

FAHERTY SEEKS NEW VOTE FOR DEFEATED BONDS

Wants $18,876,000 to Pay Property Owners.

Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, announced yesterday that he would ask for a special election at which the three city bond issues totaling $18,876,000, and which were defeated in Tuesday's balloting, would be voted upon. He attributed the defeat of these proposals part to the presence of other money raising propositions on the ballot which brought the total to $50,196,500.

The city bond issues were intended to compensate property owners along Ashland and Western avenues and La Salle street for land taken in the widening of those streets. The property owners have obtained judgments in court against the city on which 5 per cent interest accrues while they remain unpaid.

"Forced to Close Stores."

"Many of these property owners have not been able to improve their property pending receipt of their money from the city and have been forced to close their stores," Faherty said yesterday. "Others have been unable to obtain tenants.

"So I believe that the city is in serious danger of being sued for damages by these property owners. I think that they could show the court a tangible damage resulting from the city's failure to pay them for the property already taken in loss of rents and inability to improve their property. The cost of a special election, approximately $250,000, would be saved five times over if we eliminate the chance of damage suits."

Faherty Blames Labor.

Organized labor was criticized by Faherty also for the defeat of the bond issues. He had informed labor leaders before the election that the bond issues would provide $40,000,000 worth of employment to the labor men now out of work. Despite the prospect for unemployment relief, Faherty believes that the rank and file of labor was not sufficiently interested to cast votes for the bonds.

Tuesday's defeat was the third for these bond issues, all during Faherty's term of office. He promised to continue to place them on the ballot until the city pays its debts. Until then, he said, new improvements should be abandoned.

ONE LONE G. O. P. WINNER IN ALL NEW YORK CITY

Democrats Victorious All Along Line.

New York, Nov. 6.—[Special.]—George Upton Harvey, borough president of Queens, stood out today in all boroughs as the only Republican to withstand the Democratic landslide in yesterday's municipal election. The landslide reelected Mayor James J. Walker by a plurality of 497,165 over Fiorello H. La Guardia, Republican-Fusion candidate.

Not only was Harvey reelected borough president for the next four years, but he also achieved the handsome majority of 28,325 votes in a borough that gave Walker a plurality of 89,974.

Every Democrat except Harvey's opponent was successful. The Democrats swept through the county with speed and precision, electing every one from sheriff, surrogate, register, district attorney, down to assemblymen and aldermen, as well as the judiciary.

Politicians agreed today that Harvey's showing was one of the most remarkable ever seen in a local election and that he must be considered as a Republican-Fusion candidate for mayor four years from now.

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, hailed the 174,931 votes given him as a warning to Tammany Hall and the Republican organization of the advance of his party.

Indiana Politician Shot from Ambush Near Home

Martinsville, Ind., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—An assassin shot S. C. Kivett, widely known attorney and political leader, it became known today. He was shot twice by a man hidden in shrubbery north of his garage, who used a .16 gauge shotgun. Twenty-eight shot struck Kivett, six in the right arm below the elbow and twenty-two in the right side.

Police with bloodhounds tracked two or more men from the Kivetts' home to the rear of the high school building, a block away where they had entered an automobile and driven south.

VOTE TRUE BILLS AGAINST COP FOR STAYING JUSTICE

Policeman Vincent Qualey of the Summerdale station thought he had been vindicated yesterday morning when he was discharged by Judge Francis Borrelli in the felony court for malfeasance in office, but the grand jury before the day was over had voted true bills against him for conspiracy to obstruct justice.

The charges are the outgrowth of the attempt to stop the prosecution of Joseph Frank, north side plumber, who is alleged to have taken liberties with two young girls, one of whom is a niece of the policeman. The girl did not appear to prosecute and it was then charged that the policeman had told the father of the second girl that "there is a lot of money in this case and we might as well get some of it."

FIRE WRECKS SAUSAGE FACTORY.

Fire starting in the first floor of the factory of the Kosher-Star Sausage Manufacturing company at 1008 Maxwell street last night wrecked the building with damage estimated at $5,000.

DAWES CONFERS WITH HOOVER ON NAVY PLANS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Charles G. Dawes, American ambassador to Great Britain, discussed various phases of the naval reduction situation today with President Hoover. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, Undersecretary of State Joseph P. Cotton and other state department officials. The ambassador breakfasted at the White House with the President, lunched with Col. Stimson at the latter's home, and dined informally in the evening with the Hoover family.

During the White House conversations, Mr. Dawes was given a detailed account of the discussions between the President and Ramsay MacDonald, the British premier, during the latter's visit to Washington in October. It is understood that some of the matters discussed then will be the subject of diplomatic discussions when the ambassador returns to London.

JAPAN REVEALS HUGE RED PLOT TO SEIZE EMPIRE

825 Jailed; Ringleaders Flee to Moscow.

BY ST. CLAIR McKELWAY.

Copyright, 1929; By The Chicago Tribune.]

TOKIO, Nov. 6.—At the height of the sessions of the Institute of Pacific Relations and the World Engineering conference, when hundreds of delegates, mostly Americans, are gathered in Kyoto and Tokio, the Japanese government today made public the long suppressed details of a huge communist plot, the purpose of which, it is officially stated, was to overthrow the Japanese empire.

Involved in the plot are 825 Japanese subjects, including many university students and younger members of first class families.

Of the many hundreds who were arrested beginning in March, 1928, and ending some months ago, 825 have been indicted and face penalties ranging from death to ten years in prison. More than 125 of these are graduates or students of Japan's two imperial universities. Seventeen are women, two of them daughters of imperial judges, and others are members of influential families.

Secret Nearly Two Years.

Sensational as are the details themselves in this empire, where subjects may be jailed on suspicion of possessing "dangerous thoughts" and without proof of dangerous action, even greater interest has been aroused among the foreign element here concerning the reasons why the revelations were made at this time. The government has kept a strict ban on the details of the plot since March, 1928, when the first raids were begun, and then selected the present moment, when more representatives of foreign powers are here than perhaps ever before in the history of the country, to make them public.

The Japan Times, an English language daily, but Japanese owned, which has been known in the past to be government subsidized, gave only a reasonable amount of space to the story yesterday. Today, however, it carries four full columns and gives special prominence to a report that the plot was supported by a "certain foreign country" and that the soviet trade commissioner here is suspected of having used official privileges to be liaison officer between the native radicals and the third international at Moscow.

May Protest to Ambassador.

The Rengo news agency, owned by Japanese newspapers, further reports that the cabinet last Tuesday considered the question of lodging a formal protest with the soviet ambassador, calling attention to the Russo-Japanese treaty of 1925 concerning propaganda activities.

Coincident with these facts is the constantly increasing gravity of the Manchurian situation, as far as Japan is concerned—not so much because of the present border battles between Russian and Chinese troops, but because of the developing wealth of the Japanese interest there. This is combined with the slightly inflamed sentiments concerning Manchuria growing out of the Pacific Relations conference now meeting at Kyoto.

Geisha Girls Involved.

Whatever the significance may be of the government's choice of this date for lifting the ban on details of the alleged plot, they are most sensational.

It has been revealed that a great number of women who have been arrested and not yet indicted are geisha girls, the majority of whom are superior in intelligence to the average Japanese woman, and who entered the communist plot and greatly aided it through intimacies with government officials who frequented their houses.

It is believed that many such officials were duped by the geisha girls and unwittingly aided the cause themselves by carrying secret messages and billing of the government's doings.

Ringleader Is Seized.

Several ringleaders of the plot, it is admitted, have escaped the country to Moscow, but the government announces that the communist activities have been entirely wiped out within the empire for the time being.

The raids, which furnished much thrilling melodrama for the police over a long period, came to a climax successfully by the arrest of Katsumi Kikuchi, the ringleader, who innocently walked into a neighborhood surrounded by police searching for a robber.

The government apparently considers that one of the most serious aspects of this case is the evidence that a great number of young intellectuals are implicated.

AUTO LEAPS CURB TO CRUSH BOY ON SECOND BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellerman, 1239 North Taylor street, Oak Park, celebrated the 2d birthday of their son, Charles Jr., yesterday. Both watched from the porch of their home while the little boy played on the grass in the parkway in front of the house. They were watching when an automobile, driven by a woman, crashed over the curb and ran over the child, injuring him probably fatally.

Mrs. Mary Kocher, 1713 Sarre avenue, driver of the automobile, said she could not control the steering wheel when turning a corner. She was held by police. The injured boy was given little chance for recovery in the West Suburban hospital.

Two deaths yesterday raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to 822. The victims:

Albert Zwidena, 75 years old, 623 West Madison street, died at the county hospital of injuries received Oct. 16 in an automobile accident at Halsted and Madison streets.

Charles Blakeley, 56 years old, 3133 Maypole avenue, died in the Washington Boulevard hospital of internal injuries inflicted on Nov. 2, when he was struck by an automobile at Warren boulevard and Albany avenue. Walter Kritlow, 104 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park, was driver of the car.

H. ROY BERRY ASKS DIVORCE ON BOOZING CHARGE

H. Roy Berry, well known real estate subdivider and head of the company bearing his name at 77 West Washington street, filed suit for divorce yesterday against Mrs. Frances Mary Berry. He accused her of habitual drinking in spite of an abstinence pledge which he declared she had signed.

The bill also charges that Mrs. Berry, while on a trip to Havana with her husband, went alone to "Sloppy Joe's" saloon and that Berry had to drag her away when he found her there. She fought with another woman in the Lake Shore Athletic club last New Year's eve, her husband alleges.

The Berry home is at 200 East Chestnut street. The suit charges that on one occasion when he took friends there she created such a disturbance that he had to jump through a window to safety.

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY CARS.

Michael Wolf, 49 years old, 5310 South Wells street, an employe of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, was crushed to death between two freight cars last night in the railway yards at West 51st street and Lowe avenue.

EDDIE GUERIN, ONCE STAR CROOK, JAILED FOR PETTY THEFT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Eddie Guerin, famous Chicago crook, who once escaped from the French penal colony on Devil's island, today was sentenced to 12 months in jail for stealing a suitcase in Victoria station. He appeared under the name of Edwin Edwards during the trial, lest the knowledge of his identity be prejudicial to him.

EDDIE GUERIN.

The 70 year old internationally known bandit, who has again fallen foul of the law for a much lower level of criminality than that for which he became notorious, complained bitterly. He said that he had been made a thief by cruel treatment and claimed that he was now a married man with three children. He said that his wife did not know of his previous trouble.

In the '90's Guerin was active in Chicago, his home town. On April 6, 1901, in company with the notorious "Chicago May," whom he had met in London a few weeks before, he robbed the American Express office in Paris. He was caught and sentenced to Guiana, from where he escaped in a canoe after only serving four years of his sentence. He managed to reach London. The British government refused France's request to extradite him. Eddie saw the inside of many American jails and was twice imprisoned in England. He is the author of a book in which he recounts his life and bewails his life of crime.

P.]—A radio message received here tonight said the McAlpine party of eight scientists recently found in the igloo of an Eskimo near the Arctic circle is being returned to civilization by a squadron of rescue airplanes. Capt. G. S. Blanchet Shiel, in charge of the rescue squadron, radioed: "Picked up party at Cambridge bay and brought them back to Bathurst inlet." Bathurst inlet is about 1,000 miles north of Edmonton, Alta. The party will continue their journey southward tomorrow.

BROOKHART NOW TELLS JURY HIS RUM PARTY STORY

Police Find New Capital Liquor Cache.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Senator Smith W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.] went before a District of Columbia grand jury today and retold his story of the Wall street "booze party" attended by financial kings and United States senators at the Willard hotel here in 1926. He was subpoenaed after he "exposed" the dinner on the floor of the senate.

The Iowa senator was in the jury room only sixteen minutes. It was understood that he related the same facts which he gave to the senate yesterday in a fiery address attacking "leaks" in prohibition enforcement. Asked by reporters for comment as he emerged, he said:

"Grand jury proceedings are secret and if you boys don't let us alone we will have you all in jail for contempt of court."

But He Talked to Senate.

In his speech to the senate Brookhart said that among those present at the party were Senators Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah] and Walter E. Edge, [Rep., N. J.], former Senator Frank B. Gooding [Rep., Idaho], now dead, Senator Elect William Vare of Pennsylvania, E. E. Loomis, president of the Lehigh Valley railroad, represented J. P. Morgan & Co., and Otto Kahn of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

Today Senator Brookhart added the name of W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Silver hip flasks were made available to the guests, the senate was told, and Brookhart said he saw Mr. Loomis "pour some strong alcoholic stuff" out of one and drink it.

Whether further action will be taken by the grand jury as a result of Senator Brookhart's testimony remained in doubt tonight, although there were reports that the other senators and Messrs. Loomis, Kahn and Atterbury might be summoned.

Senator Brookhart has not, as yet, explained why he kept his information to himself during the three years since the dinner occurred. Regardless of any legal action that may be taken against the dinner guests, the Brookhart speech remains in the record as one of the sharpest attacks made upon dry law enforcement machinery by a dry senator. Brookhart declared the Volstead law was catching only "little men"—that rum running along the border is unchecked, and that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon should be removed by the President.

Find New Liquor Cache.

While Senator Brookhart was testifying, Washington police squads, ranging in the vicinity of the capitol, came upon an alleged bootleg warehouse, where they confiscated one of the biggest liquor caches ever taken in the district. The police said they found 1,500 quarts of liquor and alcohol in addition to a complete mixing and bottling plant containing hundreds of labels and empty bottles. The raided house is located at 208 E street, northwest, six blocks from the senate office building.

Talkative Policeman Suspended.

Still another chapter was written today into Washington's continued story of liquor and crime scandals with the trial and conviction of former Policeman Robert J. Allen before the police trial board on charges of insubordination. Allen became famous on the police force when he upset the theory of his superiors that Mrs. Virginia McPherson strangled herself with a pajama cord. Allen called it a murder, and as a result Robert McPherson, the dead woman's husband, is under indictment. Subsequently the audacious patrolman did other things that nettled his chiefs and he was suspended.

A subcommittee of the senate headed by Senator Frederic Sackett [Rep., Ky.] has before it a resolution calling for a sweeping investigation into Washington's police administration and is expected to get under way with the inquiry late this week.

PRESIDENT HOOVER ISSUES THANKSGIVING DAY PROCLAMATION

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—(AP)—The American people were asked to give thanks for blessings bestowed upon them during the last year in a Thanksgiving proclamation issued today by President Hoover. The proclamation follows:

"At this season of the year, when the harvest has been gathered in, the thoughts of our forefathers turned toward God with thanksgiving for the blessings of plenty and provision against the needs of winter. They came by custom to look to the chief magistrate to set apart a day of prayer and praise, whereon their thanks as a united people might be given with one voice in unison. God has greatly blessed up as a nation in the year now drawing to a close. The earth has yielded an abundant harvest in most parts of our country. The fruits of industry have been of unexampled quantity and value. Both capital and labor have enjoyed an exceptional prosperity.

"Assurances of peace, at home and abroad, have been strengthened and enlarged. Progress has been made in provision against preventable disasters from flood and pestilence. Enlightenment has grown apace in new revelations of scientific truth and in diffusion of knowledge. Educational opportunities have steadily enlarged. Enduring advances have been gained in the protection of the public health. Childhood is measurably more secure. New experience and new knowledge in many fields have been recorded, from which a deeper wisdom may grow. We should accept these blessings with resolution to devote them to service of Almighty God.

"Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, do appoint and set aside Thursday, the 28th day of November, as a day of national thanksgiving, and do recommend that all our people on that day rest from their daily work, that they should extend to others less fortunately placed a share in their abundance, and that they gather at their accustomed places of worship, there to render up thanks to Almighty God for his many blessings upon them, for his forbearance and goodness.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the United States.

"Done at the city of Washington this fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and fifty-fourth.

"HERBERT HOOVER."

HIGH BRITISH JUDGE DEFINES WORD 'DRUNK'; IT MEANS—'DRUNK'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 6.—"Drunk means drunk." This definition by the lord chief justice of England was quoted before the royal commission on the licensing law today by O. F. Dawson, legal adviser for the home office, who was asked the definition of drunkenness. He replied that no lawyer knew and quoted the lord chief justice's statement as the nearest satisfactory definition.

He also told the commission that it is no offense to be drunk in England. A man must also be incapable to warrant his arrest, and if he is arrested for mere drunkenness he could sue the policeman for illegal detention.

Of course, there are statutory offenses in connection with drunkenness, such as driving a car or carrying a dangerous weapon while drunk. But it all comes back to the question, "When is a man drunk?"

HOOVER REGRETS JOHNSON DIDN'T GET INVITATION

President Distressed by Social Oversight.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—Dispatch early today of an apology from the White House to Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.] halted the gossip aroused in political and social circles by President Hoover's failure to include the California senator among the list of guests invited to the Dawes dinner of last night.

Immediately after Mr. Hoover read the morning newspaper accounts of the apparent slight to the Californian, a note was dispatched from the White House to the senator's office. In this communication the President said the omission of the senator's name from the invitation list was an inadvertence. Mr. Hoover expressed himself as distressed and deeply pained over what he termed an "accident" with its "apparent lack of courtesy."

President "Distressed."

"I am greatly distressed to learn from the press last night that you did not receive an invitation to the dinner given at the White House for Ambassadors Dawes and Guggenheim, to which the members of the foreign relations committee who were in the city or available were invited," the President wrote.

"Directions to send out the invitations were given on Monday, and in the hurried telephoning to senators and settlement of other details an inadvertence occurred somewhere.

"I am most deeply pained that such an accident should have happened, with such an apparent lack of courtesy, and I hope you will accept my assurance that it was due entirely to a mistake which is most deeply regretted by all of us."

Little Comment to Make.

Senator Johnson, the only available member of the senate foreign relations committee not invited to the White House dinner in honor of Gen. Charles G. Dawes, the American ambassador to London, had little comment to make today. After receipt of the Hoover letter he said:

"Under no circumstances would I have commented upon or discussed the incident. In the present situation, of course, it is wholly ended."

Discussion of the absence of Mr. Johnson at the dinner continued with speculation divided as to what the outcome would be.

CHAUFFEUR SHOT BY TWO GUNMEN ON GOLD COAST

John Solley, 38 years old, 621 Western avenue, Joliet, a chauffeur, was shot through the right arm last night by one of two men who attacked him as he was sitting in his employer's automobile in front of 999 Lake Shore drive. He was taken to the Passavant hospital.

Solley had driven his employer, Theodore R. Gerlach, president of the Gerlach-Barklow company of Joliet, Mrs. Gerlach and Mr. and Mrs. J. McKeever of Joliet to the Lake Shore drive address, where they were dining with Dr. J. C. Flowers, secretary of the company. While Solley was waiting for them, the two men threw open the door of the car and started to pull him out, he said.

"What are you doing here?" one of them asked, and before Solley could answer the gunman fired.

The police believed that Solley's assailants had mistaken him for some one else. He has been employed by Mr. Gerlach for 13 years.

Sim J. Stevenson Found Dead of Automobile Gas

Sim J. Stevenson, 56 years old, 706 Park avenue, River Forest, general agent for the Thomas C. Wiley company, chemists, was found asphyxiated by automobile fumes yesterday in the garage at the rear of his home. Mr. Stevens was a candidate for president of River Forest five years ago.

BOY, 16, SELLS HIS "PENNY" COW FOR $2,100; RECORD

Waukesha, Wis., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—A boy of 13 and his championship Guernsey cow took the spotlight at the state Guernsey sale today when Betsey of Rose Lawn was sold for $2,100, the highest price ever paid for a cow at a state Guernsey sale.

Her young owner, Dean Stewart of Clear Lake, Wis., groomed the animal since it was a calf of six months.

Dean's Betsey went to R. F. Locke of River Forest, Ill., after only a few minutes of spirited bidding. "That's more than I expected she would bring," Dean said after the sale had been completed. He bought the calf from pennies he saved.

GIRL AND MAN SHOT BUT FLEE WITH JEWELS

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 6.—(AP)—A girl bandit and her man companion were wounded today in a pistol duel with a pawnbroker. Both escaped in an automobile, taking with them a tray of jewels valued at several thousand dollars.

The man entered the store of Max Kantrowitz and while the girl covered the proprietor with a pistol her companion took a tray of jewelry.

A passerby witnessed the holdup through the window and notified Herman Cheiffetz, a pawnbroker next door. Cheiffetz fired at the pair as they escaped to their car.

11TH ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION TO BE CITY-WIDE

Parade to Precede Fete at Soldiers' Field.

Chicago's schools and churches, her civic, patriotic, and other organizations organizations this year will join in tions this year will join in an Armistice day celebration which will last four days, starting tomorrow afternoon and ending next Monday evening.

The celebrations in the schools will be held tomorrow afternoon and thousands of the city's school children will take part in these. One of the principal school observances will be in the Clarke school at 1310 South Ashland avenue, where special emphasis will be given to "womanhood's contribution in the winning of the war."

Parade to Soldiers' Field.

While most of the churches will hold their memorial Armistice services on Sunday, the principal city celebration will be held Monday at Soldiers' field under the auspices of the Elks. This observance will be city-wide and will be preceded by a parade of Elk members, veterans, police, firemen and soldiers from Michigan avenue and Monroe street, to the field.

Vice President Charles Curtis will be the guest of honor and one of the speakers of the day at the celebration. The principal address will probably be given by Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom. Gov. Louis L. Emmerson will be on the reviewing stand.

Judge Michael Feinberg, exalted ruler of the Elks, points out that this year's celebration will be the first—and the last—to combine under a sequence of four "elevens"; it will be the eleventh hour, eleventh day, eleventh month and eleventh year since the war ended.

60 Legion Posts to Assist.

More than sixty American Legion posts will assist in the observance with drum and bugle corps, drill teams, military bands and other units. Army and navy corps from Fort Sheridan and Great Lakes and the 122d field artillery will fire the presidential salute upon the arrival of the Vice President.

An infantry regiment from the 33d division, the R. O. T. C. corps under Maj. F. L. Beals, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the United Spanish War Veterans, Disabled Veterans of America, G. A. R. posts of the city and a score of other organizations will be represented in the line of march or on the field.

The parade will start at 9:30 a. m. from Monroe street, in Grant park, and march down the west drive to the stadium. There the units will form divisions, bugles will sound attention at 10:58 a. m., and all will face to the east.

Taps to Sound at 11 A. M.

Buglers from Board of Trade post of the Legion will sound taps at exactly 11 a. m., and then all will stand at ease for the speeches.

Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin will be the grand marshal of the parade.

At noon, Monday, there will be a mass meeting in the Chicago temple, at which Judge Florence E. Allen of the Ohio Supreme court will be the speaker. The Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, chairman of the World Friendship commission of the Chicago Church federation, will preside at this meeting.

An Armistice day dinner and dance for the benefit of veterans in need will be given in the Morrison hotel, Monday evening by the Cook county council of Lions' clubs. These funds will be turned over to the American Legion for distribution where they are needed.

The City club of Chicago will give a program at 1 p. m., Monday, which will include the reading of the names of members killed in the war. Gold star parents have been invited to exercises of the Chicago Historical society, at 632 North Dearborn street, where the photographs of thousands of Chicago soldiers who died in the war are exhibited on large swinging frames.

CRAGIN PLANT IS REOPENED TO MAKE ALCOHOL

The Cragin Products company plant, 1833 North Laramie avenue, which gained an unsavory reputation and was closed after the O'Ranion-Weiss alcohol scandals, has been reopened and is now being operated by the American Solvents and Chemical company, manufacturers of industrial alcohol. This was confirmed yesterday by Prohibition Administrator Yellowley.

The plant has been reopened for about three months, following the issuance of a permit by Dr. James M. Doran, prohibition commissioner at Washington. Dr. Doran said last night that the American Solvents and Chemical company was a thoroughly reputable concern.

The plant is equipped to manufacture alcohol from corn.

Body Taken from Canal at Lemont; Seek Identity

The police of Lemont last night were seeking to identify the body of a well dressed man which was taken from the drainage canal near there yesterday. Cards of the Lafayette hotel and a restaurant at 624 West Madison street were found in pockets of the man's coat.

Built in 1908

The question of the adequacy of passenger boats on Lake Michigan — whether those now in use were obsolescent—how long is the natural life term of a vessel—was brought to notice in recent storm periods on the lake with some disasters to shipping.

To get light for the public on this question, THE TRIBUNE has inquired into the sort of vessels used elsewhere in similar service, to learn whether the Lake Michigan passenger fleets are getting out of date.

The Commonwealth [21 years old] is the flagship and largest of the Fall River line boats of the New England Steamship company, which operates passenger steamers between New York and nearby cities. Especial attention has been paid to safety measures in the construction of the boats of which the Commonwealth is an example. This ship is engaged in traffic which is comparable with that of great lakes passenger boats.

The Commonwealth is a side wheel steamer, a type of vessel which is considered by the compny to be of advantage on the Fall River line, because the broad beam "insures steadiness in a seaway and the ability to deaden headway quickly." Because of this broad beam, boats of the Fall River line roll little in a heavy sea, it is stated. This tendency to roll was blamed by sailors for at least two of the disasters on Lake Michigan. These were not passenger boats.

The Commonwealth is built of steel. Seven bulkheads extend to the main deck, and they contain no doors which might be left open carelessly. The boat has a double hull and the space between the bottoms is divided into watertight compartments. There are also collision bulkheads at each side of the steamer at the guards and a bulkhead athwartship. The collision bulkheads make a disaster similar to that in which the steamer Senator sank after ramming another boat virtually impossible.

The Commonwealth carries a life saving crew and more life preservers, life rafts and buoys than are required by the United States government inspectors, besides the usual auxiliary steam pumps. Thermostats and a watchman's clock system afford additional protection against fire.

Its length over all is 456 feet; width over hull, moulded, 55 feet; width over guards, 96 feet; depth of hull, 22 feet. There are sleeping accommodations for 2,000 persons.

ACTOR'S EXPERT ON INCOME TAX FOUND GUILTY

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—A federal jury convicted Marjorie Berger of arranging fraudulent income tax returns for movie stars after ten minutes of deliberation today. Two counts on which she stands convicted involved Miss Berger's part in counseling tax deductions for Dorothy Mackaill, who acted as principal witness against her former friend. Miss Berger now faces a maximum of ten years' imprisonment and $20,000 fine from Judge Edward Henning Monday.

In prosecuting on the Mackaill case the government waived charges of falsified returns by King Vidor, Eleanor Boardman, Hill Haines, and Dorothy Sebastian, all of whom testified their tax returns were false, but blamed Miss Berger. William Beirne, Miss Berger's attorney, asserted that a motion picture executive of political prestige had gone to Washington and arranged to get the actresses and actors off without federal prosecution if they would swear in court that Miss Berger alone was responsible.

Similar prosecution against Tom Mix and other movie stars and against Edward Hayden, a second Hollywood income tax expert, begins in federal court shortly.

U. S. ENGINEER CALLS CITY PLAN UNFAIR TO TUGS

Opposes Fixed Datum for Bridge Clearance.

It would be unfair to the navigation companies operating tugs in the Chicago river if the city datum were fixed as the level from which clearance for crafts passing under the river bridges is measured. This is the opinion given by Maj. H. J. Wild, government engineer in charge of the second Chicago district, relative to the proposed city council amendment to the bridge ordinance now being considered in Washington.

City datum is the official lake level as fixed for drainage surveys 75 years ago. The actual lake level swings above and below the official datum. The bridges must now open for tugs at any time, even in closed hours, as the water is now so high that there is less than the prescribed clearance of 16 feet for tugs. The opening of the bridges has caused considerable tying up of down town traffic.

"Hardship for Owners.".

Fixing the city datum, instead of the actual surface of the water, as the measuring point would cut about two feet from the clearance, Maj. Wild said, and would make it virtually impossible for tugs to clear the bridges during closed hours. Since the ordinance specifically designates a sixteen foot clearance and since the tug companies built their craft to conform with it, it would be working a hardship on the owners, he declared.

"I believe that the introduction of any ordinance tending to prevent the passage of craft requiring a clearance of less than sixteen feet above the water level would not meet with the approval of the war department," Maj. Wild said.

Altered to Meet Rules.

"The navigation interests have at a large expense in the past altered their tugs and light craft so as to be able to go under bridges giving these clearances, and the city council, by provision of the bridge ordinance, has recognized that fact.

"From my examination in connection with this proposal, I have come to the conclusion that some of the movements of tugs during the closed hours are unnecessary, and can be avoided if the navigation interests attempt it. They have this fully in mind and have taken steps to see what can be accomplished in this direction.

"It must be remembered that it is of no benefit to a tug to have to wait until a bridge is raised for it during high water stages. It must whistle for the opening and, if the traffic is slow in leaving the span, the tug must stop and thus lose headway."

Wild Put in Command.

Maj. Wild came into command of the district by virtue of a recent order of the war department which divided this region into two parts, Lieut. Col. W. C. Weeks, formerly in charge, being given control of the Illinois waterway development and the river and harbor improvements, including the drainage canal, the Illinois river and its tributaries, while Maj. Wild is in charge of the improvements of the Chicago river and harbor, and the Waukegan, the Calumet and Michigan City harbors.

Before this division was made, Col. Weeks stated that he favored basing the clearance on the fixed datum as proposed in the council amendment.

RECLUSE MURDERED, JURY HOLDS.

A verdict of murder by "a person or persons unknown" was returned by a coroner's jury at the inquest yesterday into the death of Judson Williams, 75 year old recluse, who was beaten to death on Monday in his apartment at 3511 South Wells street.

LOCKOUT OF LATHERS ENDED; UNION MEETS EMPLOYERS' DEMANDS

Fifteen hundred journeymen lathers who were locked out on Monday by the Employing Plasterers' association of Chicago, handicapping nearly $50,000,000 worth of construction work in Cook, Lake and Du Page counties, will return to work today. The differences between the Lathers' International union and the employers were settled at a conference at the employers' headquarters in the Crilley building, Monroe and Dearborn streets, yesterday afternoon. The union met all the association's demands.

The lockout was called when the union insisted on the privilege of naming the foremen on plastering jobs and brought about the dismissal of Fred Jackson, foreman for Harold L. Sutton, plastering contractor. The employers declared the union demand was an invasion of their rights and demanded that the lathers rescind the action against Jackson and concede the right of the employers to name their own foremen from among union members.

At yesterday's conference, at which George Moore represented the union and Percy World, secretary of the association, represented the employers, the union agreed to the demand.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

CLEANERS WILL REOPEN MONDAY AS OPEN SHOPS

Hope to Avoid Clashes with Union.

Members of the Chicago Master Cleaners and Dyers' association met yesterday in their headquarters at 1614 South Wabash avenue and made arrangements to reopen their 110 cleaning plants in the city which have been closed since Monday by a lockout of 2,500 union employes.

Arbitration was discussed and it was agreed there would be no mediation of the controversy until Ben Alberts, alias Abrama, resigns as head of the Cleaners and Pressers' union and orders construction stopped on the new cleaning plant he is building at Diversey and Tripps avenues.

Many Men Quit Union.

Spokesmen for the master cleaners said many of the members of the union have signed up to resume work next Monday morning as open shop workers. It was said that any shortage of workers necessary to man the plants next Monday will be overcome by employment of out of town help.

Representatives of the association yesterday conferred with State's Attorney Swanson about the general situation of the lockout. Later they met with Commissioner of Police Russell and plans for police protection were discussed. It is expected that difficulties may develop when the plants resume operation with open shop help.

"We have no fight with organized labor," said Jack Friedman, the president of the Master Cleaners' association.

Alberts Should Go.

"We enjoy tranquil relations with the Laundry Drivers' union and with other branches of organized labor. When the Pressers' union purges itself of Alberts, alias Abrams, and his type of racketeers then we will extend an invitation to the American Federation of Labor to cooperate with us.

"Alberts, alias Abrams, and his type have no place or should have no place in the ranks of organized labor and those labor officers favoring his retention constitute a menace to the organized labor movement of the country.

Plans South Side Plant.

"Alberts has threatened to open or build another cleaning plant on the south side to compete with the master cleaners. For several months he has been paying $1,000 a month on an option on a vacant ice cream plant on the south side which he intends remodeling into a cleaning plant."

"Most of the money used for construction of the north side plant was donated by the master cleaners to a fund which was intended to be used to support cleaners and pressers in times of unemployment."

Union headquarters late yesterday stated there are ten cleaning plants now open in the city and hiring union help.

RECUPERATING

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Nov. 6.—[U. P.]—Ignace Jan Paderewski, acknowledged as the world's greatest pianist, celebrated his 69th birthday here today, recuperating from an illness.

According to all reports, the musician, who has also been a soldier and statesman, is making a miraculous recovery from an operation for appendicitis followed by phlebitis in the leg.

Paderewski was born in Podolia, Poland, and rose to fame in his own country not so much as a musician but as an army leader and premier. It was he who fostered Poland's freedom from Russia and the establishment of the republic. Today, disagreeing with Poland's present leaders, he is almost an exile from his native land.

ACQUIT JUDGE IN SLAYING OF HIS SON-IN-LAW

Jurors Announce Verdict While Hamilton Asleep.

Weatherford, Tex., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Judge R. H. Hamilton tonight was acquitted of murder for slaying his 21 year old son-in-law, Tom Walton Jr., in Hamilton's Amarillo law office last May 4.

The jury returned to the courtroom one hour and 49 minutes after leaving and the verdict was read one hour and 46 minutes after consideration of the case was begun.

Three Ballots Taken.

The verdict was reached on the third ballot, the first being eight to four for acquittal; the second eleven to one. J. E. Whitsett, the only juror not a farmer, was the foreman.

Hamilton was not in the courtroom when the verdict was read. Less than two score persons were present.

Dexter Hamilton, the defendant's brother, replied, when the judge asked for the defendant so he could hear the verdict: "Judge Hamilton is in his room asleep."

Conscience Is Clear.

At the hotel, Hamilton dressed and came down to the lobby to talk with friends. A newspaper man asked: "That gives you a clear conscience?"

"Certainly it does, certainly it does," Hamilton replied. "My conscience was clear."

He added: "I'm going home tomorrow."

Theresa, whose husband her father killed in self-defense, met her father in the hotel lobby.

"O, daddy," she cried, throwing her arms around his neck. She did not cry, but blinked her eyes rapidly, and then backed away and watched while friends continued to congratulate him.

TESTIFIES DRYS SLEW BOY WHILE HE WAS FLEEING

Shot in the Back, Says Alabama Witness.

Rockford, Ala., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Testimony that two officers lay in ambush for more than thirty minutes watching a gallon clay jug, prior to the slaying of Clarence Bailey, 18 year old Ashland (Ala.) high school boy, was offered by the state today as the trial of Cecil Guthrie, Clay county deputy sheriff, opened here.

Guthrie is charged with murder in the first degree in connection with the death of Bailey, who was shot and killed near Ashland in September.

The gallon clay jug, the defense claims, was later found. According to the testimony of Frank Mack, Bailey's companion, the boys reached the field by automobile and had proceeded on foot a short distance into the field when they were challenged by Guthrie and W. Z. Alexander, Ashland chief of police, who emerged from a clump of trees.

Mack testified that he and Bailey turned and fled and that Guthrie opened fire on them. Bailey fell at the third shot, the witness said, and died instantly. Bailey was shot through the back of the head, with the bullet coming out between his eyes.

Mack testified that from four to six shots were fired after Bailey fell to the ground. This testimony could not be shaken on cross-examination.

After examining seven witnesses the state rested its case, and the defense produced several character witnesses for Guthrie before court adjourned for the day. Guthrie is expected to take the stand in his own defense tomorrow, when the case is scheduled to go to the jury.

Guthrie is being tried in Coosa county, after winning a change of venue two weeks ago at Ashland, on a plea that he could not obtain a fair and impartial trial in Clay county.

Interest in the case is high in this section. Bailey was the son of a well to do cotton planter and a member of the Ashland High school football team.

The entire estate of $300,000 was left to the widow, Mrs. Dorothy Cole Berger, 1255 North State street. Mr. Berger left three minor children, Marie, 15 years old; Marjorie, 13 years old, and Harriet, 5 years old.

OWNER ACCUSES HIS BROTHER OF BOMBING STORE

Alphonse Serritella, 1549 Taylor street, was being held by the Maxwell street police last night after his brother, Michael Serritella, 934 South Ashland avenue, had accused him of bombing Michael's drug store at 945 Taylor street.

Michael said his brother ran the store for him while he was ill and that upon his return, he accused Alphonse of putting the money into his pocket instead of the cash register. Following this quarrel Michael obtained a court order evicting Alphonse from an apartment behind the store, which he had occupied for several years without paying rent.

Michael said that after the eviction Alphonse threatened to kill him and bomb his store. The store was only slightly damaged by the bomb, which exploded in the front doorway yesterday morning.

JUDGE GRANTS IRENE BORDONI AN ANNULMENT

Irene Bordoni, an actress, now playing in Chicago, was granted an annulment yesterday of her marriage to E. Ray Goetz, New York play producer. The decree was signed by Judge Charles A. Williams on the allegation that Miss Bordoni had never been legally married.

Goetz' first wife divorced him in 1918. He married the actress shortly thereafter, although the law at that time forbade remarriage following a divorce within a year. In 1923, a law was passed permitting remarriage immediately after a divorce. The new law contains a clause that invalid marriages could be made legal by remarriage before the passage of the act.

Miss Bordoni was represented by an attorney who argued that her marriage was not legal because she was never remarried in the specified period. His ruling was the first of its kind and may affect a number of marriages.

JUDGE GIVES HIS IDEAS IN DEBATE ON CUNEO PERMIT

Drama Marks Arguments of Rival Attorneys.

THE COURT—If the amendment under which the (Cuneo) tower is to be built is subject for serious controversy, then as a law it is vicious. The very power itself which is given to the zoning board to exercise even the faintest judgment is dangerous, as we all know.

MR. LEVINSON—You cannot score up the impossible, the highly imaginary.

MR. FLEMING—The ambiguity of the amendment coupled with the ingenuity of man would conjure up scores of buildings to blot out light and air and menace public welfare.

(Excerpts from yesterday's record in the trial of the Cuneo suit.)

Arguments veered about the proposed John F. Cuneo tower at Michigan avenue and Randolph street yesterday in the courtroom of Circuit Judge Thomas Taylor. Attorneys Joseph B. Fleming and Clay Judson led an assault on behalf of neighboring property owners, challenging the legality of the zoning law amendment which gave the right to erect the 60 story skyscraper. They contended that the project would encourage the building of a towering bulwark of structures along Michigan avenue and Wacker drive which would shut off the loop.

For four hours Attorney David Levinson, representing Mr. Cuneo, hammered against this line of argument. The closing of the opening statements, which have taken two days, was not without drama. Attorneys for the property owners volleyed arguments in rapid succession. Levinson warded off each assault and sent back counter attacks.

Denies Ambiguity Charge.

In replying to the charge that the amendment is ambiguous, Mr. Levinson said that it gave Mr. Cuneo the right to build up 440 feet without a setback because of his good fortune in owning property adjacent to a public park. The previous limit was 264 feet.

The amendment reads: "A public park, a public playground, public waterways, or a cemetery," providing that the property in question is situated on a street more than 100 feet wide. Mr. Levinson declared that there could be no question as to the meaning of the language.

Judge Makes Comment.

"Well, I don't know about that," Judge Taylor interpolated. "I take it there are a great many hundreds of areas, all of varying sizes, that might come under the definition of a public place. If the court should ever hold that any area was sufficient, owners of ground are invited to donate to the city, then, small parcels of ground in order to bring themselves within the requirements of this amendment and get advantage of the amendment. I just express what is in my mind so that you may know what I am thinking about.

"Man's selfishness is ingenious, and I, somehow or other, knowing the ingenuity of our engineers and architects, believe that it is not too fanciful to think that something of the kind might be attempted. If I had been drawing that ordinance and desired to have it revised for such a building, I think, if I had been in the council, I would not have passed it without having it known what parks are.

States His Impressions.

"To leave a thing like that so the zoning board may say this is a public park, a public place, and this is not, is wrong; and as Judge Dunn says, if that is true, if it leads to any controversy in the minds of the board of zoning appeals, then it becomes zoning legislation. It cannot be done. It must be something that the mind automatically, almost without reasoning knows comes within the law, but I don't know whether that is so here or not. I am just giving you what I am thinking of.

"It follows that the council should be very explicit what open spaces justify the user in that amendment. Offhand it should be said that the council did not intend that such a magnificent opportunity was intended as a gift to some piece of property across from a park. See? That is the bargain for the gift, a public park."

Mr. Levinson said that ordinary definitions would suffice, otherwise the ordinance would be a mass of definitions on definitions. He held that the building commissioner and the zoning board of appeals would not be exercising any judicial or legislative function in determining what a park is.

Some Possibilities Cited.

"Suppose over there again in that area the Illinois Central should obtain the right to bring some kind of a sluice in there from the lake," Judge Taylor continued. "What kind of waterway might it be? We don't know.

"Parks may be there in the future that are not there now. When the council undertakes to instruct its administrative officer, the building commissioner and the zoning board, it ought to be done very, very clearly. There is no question about that. I am not saying that this has not been done. I am just discussing it with you.

"I am inclined to think that for a law of the city to be good in such a classification where it seems to give, for the sake of argument, large advantages, it would have to be shown very clearly that it was for the public welfare."

Cuneo's Attorney Replies.

Attorney Levinson replied that the expense involved in the possibility of persons donating small plots or creating waterways to obtain the advantages of the amendment, would be so great as to mitigate the benefits. He pointed out that such persons would have to grant sufficiently wide streets also and obtain council acceptance of the grants.

Peter C. Hoey, secretary to Building Commissioner Paschen, was the first witness called. He produced the plans of the tower, the application for the building permit, and a copy of the permit. He was followed by Harry T. Frost, architect, a member of the firm of Bennett, Parsons, and Frost, who aided in the drafting of the zoning laws.

Mr. Frost said that he was formerly technical adviser for the zoning board for two years after the passage of the zoning laws in 1921. Judge Taylor sustained Attorney Levinson's objection to the witness' testimony on the history of the drafting of the laws and adjourned the hearing until this morning.

FIRST COME, FIRST TO PARK, RULE TODAY ON WACKER DRIVE

Parking in the lower level of Wacker drive becomes this morning a privilege for the first comers. A council ordinance abolishing the special parking privileges granted to officials became a law at the end of yesterday's council meeting.

Ald. Thomas J. Bowler (41st), chairman of the council committee on traffic regulations and public safety, who obtained passage of the ordinance, lost no time in notifying the police of the changed status of the lower level area. He informed Capt. Frank Matchett of the traffic division that no discrimination is to be exercised between motorists and that the signs and chain barriers are to be abolished.

"The first ones to arrive will be the first ones to park their cars," said Ald. Bowler. "Officials have no more right to a preference on public property than other citizens. I'll see that this ordinance is enforced so that the ordinary motorist can exercise his rights."

CALLS PULLMAN COMPANY BIGGEST HOTEL KEEPER

With 35,000,000 guests a year, the Pullman company is by way of being the most extensive hotel keeper in the world, it was declared yesterday by James Keeley, assistant to the president of the Pullman company, speaking before the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Hotel La Salle.

From a modest and precarious beginning sixty or more years ago, under the supervision of George M. Pullman, the Pullman company now handles more than 100,000 travelers a day, Mr. Keeley asserted. This, he brought out, is a yearly total equaling nearly one-third of the country's total population, the company's passengers traveling in a year a total of 13,600,000,000 miles.

"The enormity of sleeping car business in the United States may be attributed in part to the relatively low fares charged for berths in comparison to prices charged in Europe," he said. "The American traveler enjoys the utmost of luxury and satisfaction at very low cost. The rate on lower berths has remained practically unchanged during the last fifty years, while upper berths have been reduced in price."

Mr. Keeley said the Pullman company is obliged to carry in stock about 9,000,000 articles of household supplies.

3 SMALL CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH IN MICHIGAN FARM HOUSE

Thompsonville, Mich., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The three small children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eddy, residing west of Thompsonville, Benzie county, were burned to death this morning when fire of unknown origin destroyed the Eddy home, from which both of the parents were absent at the time.

The children were Lulu, 4; Lenna, 3; and Melvin, 1.

Mr. Eddy, a shell shocked world war veteran, had been all morning working about the farm out of sight of the house, while Mrs. Eddy had been away for an hour at the home of a neighbor.

The blaze was discovered by two passing traveling men on the Thompsonville-Beulah road.

The three children were completely cremated, only a few scattered bones with small bits of burned flesh attached, being found.

The tragedy was the second of such nature visited upon Mrs. Eddy's family. Two years ago the three children of her uncle, George Peters, residing a mile and a half south of Thompsonville, were burned to death in a fire under similar circumstances.

TO TRY M'MANUS AS ROTHSTEIN'S SLAYER NOV. 12

New York, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—District Attorney Joab H. Banton announced today that he would begin the trial next Tuesday of George McManus for the murder of Arnold Rothstein. A blue ribbon panel of 150 talesmen has been summoned.

The trial will last at least three weeks, the prosecutor said, as the state will call more than 100 witnesses.

McManus is at liberty on $50,000 bail, having been released despite the opposition of the district attorney. Rothstein was shot Nov. 4, 1928, and died the following day—a year ago yesterday.

SOVIET WORKERS FRIGID AS RED BIRTHDAY STARTS

Hot Speeches and Brass Bands Greeted Coldly.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 6.—Brass bands playing the International failed tonight to arouse the enthusiasm of Moscow workers, who were summoned to attend a mass meeting at the Bolshoye theater welcoming foreign communist delegations who have arrived in Moscow to attend the twelfth anniversary celebration of the bolshevik revolution.

Weak applause greeted the speakers, who brought "flaming proletarian greetings to the soviet workers." The meeting was broadcast over the communist International's radio station in Moscow.

The leader of the American delegation informed the meeting that the American delegates were wonderfully impressed by the things they had seen in Moscow and promised to return to America and do their utmost to organize a successful revolution and establish an American soviet government.

"U. S. Ready for Revolt."

"A revolution in the United States now is hopeless, you may think," he said. "American workers are developing a real revolutionary rage against the speeding up of industry and are becoming more militant, learning to use guns, as recent strikes show."

The German, British and Lettish delegations also pledged allegiance to the communist International. The audience was respectfully silent when listening to the visitors' oratory, but when the speeches were translated into Russian they heckled and laughed at the translators.

Dressed in their new winter uniforms, the Moscow garrison will parade the Red square tomorrow and a number of meetings have been arranged, to which foreign comrades are invited.

Workers Given Potatoes.

Friday will not be celebrated as it has in previous years. The government has ordered workers to report at the freight yards, where each will receive a 100 pound sack of potatoes as part of the food ration. This unusual order, reports the Pravda, has been occasioned by the sudden arrival at Moscow of 4,000 carloads of potatoes for which the food commissariat is unable to provide suitable storage.

The Moscow Economic Life today advanced a new project proposed to help alleviate famine conditions in soviet cities. Another plan advocated by this paper some months ago for intensive breeding of rabbits to solve the meat shortage died a sudden death.

The new plan includes the establishment of monster incubators capable of handling 10,000 to 20,000 eggs to furnish tender young pullets to the workers. The "emancipated hen," continues the Economic Life, "released from duties of brooding, will have a chance to lay more eggs, permitting the government to increase the egg rations of workers, which is ten per month now.

WALES TO PLAY BEING REAL KING AS ENVOY'S HOST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The prince of Wales will for the first time act really as king, instead of merely deputizing, when he receives Ambassador Skirmont of Poland, who presents his credentials on his elevation from minister to ambassador at Buckingham palace on Nov. 19.

It was explained that on former occasions when the prince conferred honors he was simply acting as deputy, but this time he will be really in the place of the king. The reason for this is that while the king is fully restored to health, it is thought unwise to subject him to the fatigue of the long ceremony involving much standing which is necessary at the reception of an ambassador.

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 6.—It has been officially confirmed that the prince of Wales will visit South Africa in January to finish the hunting trip that was interrupted by the illness of the king. He is to go to Cape Town and Johannesburg and from there to Bulawayo into Nyasaland. After the expedition he will embark from Dar-es-Salam to return to England.

U. S. REJECTS LEAGUE TRADE PROTECTION PACT

Says Business Is Under State Jurisdiction.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 6.—George Gordon, first secretary of the American embassy in Paris and unofficial American observer at the league of nations conference on the treatment of foreigners, in session here, informed the delegates today that the United States could not be a party to any international convention which might be drawn up.

"My government is greatly interested in the work of the conference," Mr. Gordon said. "But most of the questions, such as the treatment of foreigners, and especially foreign business concerns, are matters which come under the jurisdiction of our separate states and not the federal government, and for this reason my government is unable to enter into any convention which might be reached here.",

Mr. Gordon then explained to the surprised delegates the division of powers between the federal government and the individual states.

Some consternation was thrown into the conference today when the representatives of China and Egypt also rejected any proposed treaty.

"You talk about giving foreigners the same personal and commercial privileges enjoyed by the nationals," snapped Kai Lou, Chinese delegate. "What do you intend to do in the case of China, where the foreigners are accorded privileges which the nationals are not allowed?"

"She's a Septic!"

Many women want to be, deserve to be, and could be far more popular than is their lot. Doctors know why. So do nurses. They call such cases septics.

To remedy obnoxious body odors and bad breath, you must recognize their cause. The trouble is deep-seated. Frankly in the colon. Semi-constipation makes millions of systems septic. There may be a daily movement, but all the waste is not eliminated. The matter that remains poisons the blood, permeates the perspiration. It taints the breath. Nature is signaling her need of a tiny Calcium Wafer.

Calcium wafers work wonders in one's appearance, too. With the inner system sweet and clean, the complexion clears most marvelously. Eyes brighten. Teeth whiten. The tongue is no longer coated, even on arising. And you never need take another harsh cathartic.

Perhaps you are a septic, and don't know it. Try a tiny wafer of calcium, and see! It may make all the difference in the world. Leave harsh, habit-forming cathartics alone. You never need them if you take an occasional calcium wafer.

TRY THIS THOROUGH TEST

A five day test will prove to you very conclusively the system's need for Stuart's Calcium Wafers, and the benefit from these little wafers. Your druggist has them for 10c. Or the family size, 60c. Start this test today!

INDIANA VOTERS TURN ON KLAN AND DRY LEAGUE

Hooded Knights' Power Believed Broken.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—The Ku Klux Klan has been definitely dethroned in Indiana by yesterday's elections, it was asserted here tonight.

Not only in Indianapolis, where the Democratic ticket, opposed to the old Klan lineup, won its first victory since 1913 and by a smashing two to one landslide, but in many other important Indiana centers the old Klan organizations were routed.

The Klan wormed its way into Republican circles when it first gained a foothold in Indiana seven years ago and many of the local Republican leaders are reputed to have Klan affiliations. What Indiana voters did Tuesday was to begin cleaning out the old Klan oligarchy.

Get Setback in Indianapolis.

The Anti-Saloon forces also suffered a setback in Indianapolis, where Frank Wright, author of the Indiana super bone dry law and league bloc leader in the Indiana legislature, declared for Alfred M. Glossbrenner, Republican mayoralty nominee.

Glossbrenner was defeated by Reginald D. Sullivan, son of a former mayor, by a two to one vote and 33,000 plurality, the largest in the city's history.

George Coffin, veteran Republican boss here, who was indicted along with Ed Jackson, Klan supported governor, for attempting to bribe Jackson's predecessor to control the prosecutor's office here, was so badly defeated that he announced today he will resign.

At Muncie, George Dale, militant foe of the league, was elected mayor.

Other Cities Desert G. O. P.

Republicans were ousted from former strongholds at Terre Haute, South Bend, Newcastle, Anderson, Columbus, Marion, Frankfort, and Portland, the Klan centers of Evansville and Noblesville, and at Rushville, home of James E. Watson, Indiana's senior United States senator and Republican senate leader. The Richmond and Vincennes elections may be contested.

At Decatur, Mrs. Ada Martin was elected treasurer on the Democratic ticket by the largest majority ever given a candidate in a city election. Mrs. Alice Christen was elected city clerk on the Democratic ticket.

At Columbia City the vote for city treasurer resulted in a tie, Cassel Bridge, Republican, and Roscoe Brumbaugh, Democrat, having 884 votes each.

The excitement of the Knox election was too much for John Osborn, Republican precinct judge, who fell dead of heart disease while ballot boxes were being sealed.

Quits After Defeat

SCARFACE AL'S LAWYERS FILE NEW PETITION

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Counsel for Alphonse [Scarface] Capone and his bodyguard, Frank Cline, now serving a year in the penitentiary here for carrying concealed weapons, today filed a petition in the state Supreme court asking leave to take an appeal from the decision of the Superior court refusing their petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Capone and Cline petitioned the Superior court on the ground that they had been sentenced illegally. The Superior court based its refusal on the ground that the pair had withdrawn their appeal on which the questions involved could have been determined only a few days before filing their petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Counsel for Capone and Cline contend they should have been given an indeterminate sentence instead of a flat sentence of one year. Had they been given an indeterminate sentence, they would have the right to ask for parole at the end of six months, or half the maximum sentence of one year. They were arrested here May 17 and began serving their sentences the following day.

The petition for an appeal from the Superior court decision is in the hands of Chief Justice von Moschzisker of the Supreme court.

NEW AIR GIANT TO HAVE CABINS INSIDE WINGS

Novel Monoplane Tested in Germany.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—The world's largest passenger airplane made its first successful flight today at Dessau. Spurred on by Dornier's success with the seaplane DO-X, Junkers has been working hard on a giant passenger land monoplane, which has roughly the same radius of action as the DO-X, but holds slightly fewer passengers.

The passenger quarters are for the first time in the history of aviation, contained in the huge hollow wings. The plane is equipped with two outer motors of 400 horsepower each, and two central ones of 700 horsepower each. The wings are of an unusual arrow shape with a span of 148 feet. The plane is 75 feet long and 16½ feet high, which is half again as big as the previous largest German land machine.

Circles Town Twice.

The G-38, the new plane, after a preliminary low run over the airdrome, suddenly rose to 1,600 feet and maneuvering in perfect style, circled twice around the town of Dessau. The G-38 was at first fitted out with new crude oil motors on which Junkers have been working unceasingly for the last two years, but motor trials apparently proved that the new departure was not yet sufficiently perfected, so they were replaced by ordinary Junkers motors.

Speaking before the Berlin congress of aviation constructors today, Prof. Gasterstaedt, who is Prof. Junkers' right hand engineer, gave an optimistic account of the crude oil motor which, he claimed, will shortly enable Germany to revolutionize economic conditions in aviation. It only consumes 80 grams of oil per hour per horsepower.

Represents Huge Saving.

This means that on long runs there will be a tremendous saving in fuel costs, and that the running costs will also be reduced as the load will be increased 50 per cent. With this motor it is estimated that fuel will only account for 28 per cent of the total running costs instead of 72 per cent at present.

Prof. Gasterstaedt also announced that the Junkers works have succeeded in building a 1,000 horsepower crude oil motor with six cylinders known as the FO-4.

LOSES RACE TO SAVE SON FROM PTOMAINE DEATH

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 6.—[U. P.]—A mother lost an all night race with death when her 6 year old son succumbed in the arms of his two unconscious brothers in the rear seat of an automobile, all stricken with ptomaine poisoning.

The mother, Mrs. W. D. Horrell, also was taken ill, as she drove from San Jose, to the family home at Torrance, forcing the car to the limit.

A few blocks from home Mrs. Horrell stopped at a service station for gasoline. There the attendant pinched the cheek of Raymond, 6. With a gasp of horror, he recoiled, and the mother collapsed.

The boy had been dead several hours. Emergency treatment nullified the poisonous effects suffered by Mrs. Horrell and the two other sons. The woman did not remember where they had eaten last night.

383 PEASANTS, STARVED BY REDS, HUDDLE IN KIEL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KIEL, Germany, Nov. 6.—A group of 383 men, women and children, vanguard of 6,000 Mennonites, whose ancestors migrated from Germany to Russia 150 years ago, are in Kiel tonight, begging for shelter and food. They hope for a Canadian permit to join Mennonite settlers there, but thus far the official Canadian permits have not arrived.

They charge that Moscow collected money for passage to America from the Mennonites, but do not know what was done with it. The emigrants are in the agony of fear that the Russians will deport their brethren to Siberia. They are encamped near Moscow.

These religious farmers feel that modern Russia is no place for them. They paid Russia $100 each to leave the country but due to the delay of the arrival of the Canadian visas, soviet authorities have threatened to deport the remaining Mennonites to Siberia.

TARDIEU CABINET OF FRANCE FACES FIRST TEST TODAY

Asks Chamber's O. K.; Defeat Likely.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 6.—Badgered by vicious attacks from both the left and extreme right, Andre Tardieu's new concentration government will present itself to the chamber of deputies for approval tomorrow.

Optimistic supporters of the new cabinet predict a majority for M. Tardieu of about 20 votes. In other circles, however, there is not so much optimism and no one would be surprised if the government is overthrown at the very first vote, provoking thereby a new crisis which will put in jeopardy the success of the Young plan and its contingent Rhineland evacuation, besides threatening to undermine the healthy condition of the nation's finances.

Holds First Meeting.

The new cabinet met for the first time today and decided to plunge into the discussion of both foreign and domestic policies immediately.

It is understood that Foreign Minister Briand will seize the occasion of the success of German Nationalist demand for a plebiscite on the Young plan to issue a solemn warning that France may have to adopt a sterner attitude regarding the Rhineland evacuation. He hopes in this way to appease his own rabid Nationalists, who went to stay on the Rhine until 1935, and at the same time not commit himself to a definite course until after the German plebiscite is held.

The Communists, Socialists, and radical Socialists decided today to vote against the new government to a man. If they enlist the aid of 50 right wingers they will be able to overturn the government.

Open Welland Ship Canal; Tug First Boat Through

PORT WELLER, Ont., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Canadian history was made today when the first craft was locked through lock 1 of the new Welland ship canal to the level above, the operation being carried out without a hitch. The lock took 22 minutes to fill and 9 seconds later the first tug to which the honor fell was under steam in the level above with flags flying, whistle blowing and the siren on the bridge shrieking.

WINS IN DETROIT

CHARLES BOWLES.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—In the closest contest for the mayoralty in many years, Charles Bowles was elected mayor of Detroit yesterday by a majority of 2,595 votes over John W. Smith, former mayor.

The vote was Smith, 122,438; Bowles, 120,030.

It was Bowles' third attempt for the mayoralty and his third contest against Smith.

Remnants of the Ku Klux Klan undoubtedly added many votes to Bowles' majority. In the annexed northwestern section of the city, where the klan once was very strong, Bowles reaped his greatest harvest.

Bowles never was directly connected with the klan, but in his first contest he was chosen as candidate of the klan.

Bowles is 46 years old. He came to Detroit 20 years ago, after having taken a course in the Ferris institute at Big Rapids. He worked here as a street car conductor until he had earned money enough to put himself through the law school in the University of Michigan.

$50,000 in Jewels Taken by Trio in Store Holdup

Anderson, Ind., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—The Roos jewelry store was robbed of diamonds and other jewels valued at more than $50,000 near the closing hour tonight. Three bandits entered, held up Leo Roos, proprietor, and his clerks and compelled them to turn over all diamonds.

NO GIFTS FOR ME! BUT FOR FASCISM, YES! DUCE SAYS

Orders All Presents to Self Sent Back.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 6.—Premier Mussolini from now on will accept no gifts and any sent to him will be unceremoniously returned to their donors. This follows the lead of Crown Prince Humbert, who recently announced that he and Princess Marie José of Belgium would be happier if money destined for wedding presents would be donated to charity.

Il Duce says that in the past he has not wanted to refuse, but that now he feels he must, and has given orders that all gifts should be returned. The only exceptions are cases where money is sent with the understanding that it be turned over to some public use.

Sections Abroad to Benefit.

The branch of Fascist activity to benefit from such donations is the service groups abroad, in the development of which Mussolini is keenly interested.

Two of these departments, Italians abroad and schools abroad, today were merged by the council of ministers under a single director with full powers, in the person of Piero Parini. The secretariat of Fascist groups abroad has been abolished in favor of two inspectors, who will travel incessantly to direct the development of the Fascist ideal outside of the borders of Italy.

In this connection, the government today announced the creation of new ramifications of the Fascist organization, "Society of Friends of Fascism," which costs nothing to join.

All you have to do is send in two pictures, complete data of your status in your community, and an expression of sympathy for Fascist ideals. Italian consuls abroad have authority to pass on the aspirants. When in Italy, the members will be permitted to sport the Fascist badge just as a body of foreigners known in Paris as "Friends of France" get the red ribbon of the Legion or Honor.

With the appointment of the inspectors, a new and more strict control of Fascist groups abroad has been provided. Fascists leaving Italy to reside abroad must report immediately to the so-called Fascist society at their new homes or they face expulsion from the party.

6,000 U. S. War Mothers to Visit Graves in France

PARIS, Nov. 6.—Arrangements were completed here today for the visit of 6,000 American war mothers to the American military cemeteries in France next summer. The first group of 300 will arrive in May and the last in October. Congress has appropriated the necessary funds to pay the expenses of each mother. Maj. Gen. B. F. Cheatham, quartermaster general of the United States army, has just worked out the details of the tour.

PRINCE SUFFERS BURNS AS 6 DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Other Survivor Jumps to Save Self.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Prince Eugene von Schaumberg-Lippe, co-pilot aboard the big German air liner which crashed into a hillside in England early today, killing six, is in a serious condition at a hospital near London tonight. He, with Lieutenant Commander Glen-Kidston, English racing driver, were the only two in the plane to escape death.

The six victims, three passengers and three of the crew, died only a few minutes after the three engined Junkers all metal plane left Croydon airport at 9:45 a. m. for Amsterdam and Berlin. After the crash the plane burst into flames.

Prince Severely Burned.

The passenger victims of the crash were D. L. Jones, London business man; H. S. Gaspar and G. P. G. Milne, the former of London and the latter of Calcutta, both connected with George Henderson & Sons, Anglo-Indian jute merchants. The crew victims were Bruno Schinka, chief pilot, a German war ace who had flown 430,000 miles without an accident; Willy Ulrich, mechanic, and Heinrich Niklas, radio operator.

Prince von Schaumberg-Lippe opened the window and struggled from the blazing mass of wreckage in a state of collapse, with his face badly burned and his clothing burned away fom his arms and legs.

Lieutenant Commander Kidston jumped as the plane crashed and received only slight injuries. He twice previously had escaped death, including a rescue, when his speed boat split in two, while roaring along the Solent at a speed of 45 miles per hour and a plane crash in the Tombe channel on the White Nile in Africa.

Takes Air After Crash.

True to airmen's tradition, Lieutenant Commander Kidston telephoned Croyden and ordered a plane to take him up immediately so as to prevent the accident from affecting his nerve.

The plane left Croyden in a thick mist and drizzling rain. Apparently the visibility was so bad that the pilot decided to return to the airdrome, but made a miscalculation in turning and crashed into the tree tops at Foster down, White hill, one of the Surrey hills, between Godstone and Caterham.

With a roar the plane burst into flames and fell to the ground a mass of blazing wreckage. The heat was so terrific that rescuers were unable to approach the plane and it was only after a fire brigade arrived and extinguished the blaze that it was possible to remove the six charred bodies from the white hot metal.

Aviation Notes

Dr. Claude Dornier, designer and builder of the giant DO-X flying boat, yesterday explained to a scientific body meeting in Berlin how the big plane can be lifted from the water in a few seconds even with a heavy ballast. He said that the crankshafts of the DO-X were vibrationless and that all twelve motors could be started in from four to five minutes. Dr. Dornier said that while the ballast carried by the DO-X was 22 tons, he was confident that this could be increased to 100 tons within a decade.

Maj. Ralph Royce, Cook county's first air policeman, will terminate his three months' service here on Saturday and return to Selfridge field, Mich., to resume command of the First Pursuit group. He came to Chicago on a three months' leave of absence from his command there. Before giving up his post he will submit to President Cermak a list of recommendations for the improvement of aviation regulation in Chicago and Cook county.

A Travelair cabin plane equipped with a "flying laboratory" is due to arrive at the Municipal airport today. The plane is on a 7,500 mile tour of the country for the Conoco Oil company of Denver, Colo.

REALTY OWNER FINED FOR HAVING SLOT MACHINES

Samuel H. Mided, 7829 Yates avenue, wealthy south side property owner, was fined $100 and costs yesterday by Judge William Helander in the Jury court when he was found guilty of possession of slot machines. Forty-five slot machines seized in his garage on June 18 by police under the direction of Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayers were ordered destroyed.

Attorney Harold Levy, for Mided, accused Ayers of "persecuting small fry" and allowing the higher-ups in the real gambling machine business to go unmolested.

Prosecutor Ayers said that the higher-ups will be prosecuted within a week, when the trial of six police captains, Dr. William H. Reid, Thompson politicians, and others starts before Judge McGoorty.

Harry Dabby of Kansas City, Kas., will attend the Army-Illinois football game at Champaign.

HANDS OF STEEL PILOT AIRPLANE ON TEST FLIGHT

Flying Robot Perfected, Says War Department.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Perfection of a "mechanical pilot" which automatically guides an airplane for long distances without the aid of human hands was announced by the war department today.

With this device, designed for long distance flights, the human pilot takes the plane off the ground, then turns it over to the automatic robot until the time comes for landing the machine.

According to war department officials, who characterized the new device as "one of the outstanding achievements in aviation since the close of the world war," the mechanical pilot will hold the plane straight and level, regardless of fog, rain and darkness. It was explained, however, that the purpose of the automatic pilot in its present stage of development is just to control an airplane in straight and level flight.

Relief for Pilots.

"The automatic pilot gives promise of being a most useful instrument in the handling of large airplanes, relieving the pilot of much of the strain of the straight and level flying and giving him more time to devote to navigation, watching out for other planes and noting the action of his instruments," the war department announced.

"Perhaps the new pilot will find its greatest service in flying an airplane through regions of poor visibility—through dark nights or foggy areas where the experienced pilot is loath to rely upon his personal feelings. In military aeronautics, the automatic pilot would be of considerable advantage for use in long range bombing expeditions. It is quite possible many of the army's large ships will be equipped with this device in the near future."

Robot Makes Good.

Washington had its first view of the robot when a tri-motored army transport plane flew into Bolling field this afternoon from Dayton, O. From the time the plane left Wright field until it arrived over Leesburg, Va., a few miles out of the capital, no human hands touched the control of the big ship, which was held on its course and at the proper altitude by the robot. At Leesburg, the electrical current for the mechanism failed when a wind driven generator automatic control snapped. Maj. A. H. Gilkeson, chief of the equipment branch at Wright field, then took over the controls and piloted it to a safe landing in Washington.

The Sperry company has been working on the new automatic device for eighteen years. In 1912 the first model, known at that time as the Sperry gyroscopic stabilizer, was installed in a Curtis flying boat and flown by Lawrence Sperry. The new model is said to weigh but fifty pounds.

Its operation actuates the three major controls of an airplane, namely, the rudder for direction, the elevator for upward and downward movement, and the aileron for maintaining lateral balance (keeping the airplane on an even keel). One vertically mounted gyroscope and one horizontally mounted gyroscope, the armatures of which are electrically driven at 15,000 revolutions per minute, are used.

Council Scans 3 Bids for City Property Transfers

Three bids for the purchase or lease of city property were opened yesterday at the meeting of the city council and referred to the council finance committee for action. Two of the bids were for the purchase of city property at 119 North Franklin street, now occupied by the fire department. The Illinois Bell Telephone company offered $144,000, and W. J. Greenebaum offered $146,000. For the property at Madison street and the river Edward M. Bertha, the only bidder, offered to lease at a rental of $20,000 for the first five years and increasing to $65,000 for the last 84 years of the proposed 99 year lease.

POLICE FLYER FALLS TO DEATH BEFORE MOTHER

New York, Nov. 6.—[Special.]—While his mother watched from the ground, Henry Forgeitz, Hudson county, New Jersey, policeman and student aviator, plunged from an airplane flying 500 feet above the Teterboro airport field at Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., today and was killed.

Witnesses declared they saw the young man emerge from his cockpit, balance on one of the plane's wings for a moment, and then drop to earth.

Lieut. G. W. West, a New Standard Flying service official, who was piloting the ship, said, however, that Forgeitz was thrown from the cockpit when the plane struck bumpy air as it swooped toward a landing.

West and Forgeitz had been aloft about a quarter of an hour, circling slowly above the field in a Curtiss swallow plane. West was bringing the ship down, so that Forgeitz might take it up again on his first solo flight, when the accident occurred.

SCHOOL BOARD TO ACT ON SALE OF AUSTIN LAND

The buildings and grounds committee will draw up a resolution Tuesday agreeing to the sale, with protective reservations, of parcels of the school board's Austin land tract. If adopted the city council finance committee will be informed of the school board's attitude, providing the city council signifies how and by whom parts of the tract be sold.

This was announced yesterday by Theophilus Schmid, committee chairman, following an open discussion where west side civic and business groups urged the sale of the land. Representatives of the Greater Austin Property Owners and Business Men's association, the West End chamber of commerce, the Garfield Park club, the Chicago Association of Commerce, and the county real estate board argued for the disposition of much of the land, claiming that its vacancy has retarded the district's growth.

SECRETARY GOOD URGES DECISION ON ARMY TANKS

Ten Years Pass Without Making Choice.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Secretary of War James W. Good has directed army officials to conclude their latest series of tests of armored fighting tanks as soon as possible and endeavor to reach an early decision as to just what model should be adopted for use by the American army.

The war secretary acted to expedite the development of a light tank after inquiry had disclosed that the army had been experimenting for the last ten years with tanks developed by the ordnance department and Walter Christie, veteran inventor and engineer, without reaching a decision as to which should be adopted as the basis for the army's mechanization program.

Early Actoon Expected.

As a result of Mr. Good's intervention, it now appears probable that by late December or early next year, Maj. Gen. Stephen O. Fuqua, chief of infantry, will be prepared to submit a recommendation urging the purchase of a number of either the Christie or the ordnance developed combat machines for final field tests. Officers of the cavalry unit already have reached agreement to urge the purchase of at least two of the Christie light tanks and armored cars for further tests and probable adoption.

Once the war department has agreed upon a combat tank which can be purchased in quantity in case of emergency, a great stride will have been taken in the movement for modernization and mechanization of the army. Failure to develop a tank and agree upon its adoption has retarded the army modernization movement. At present the army is testing two tanks, the Christie combined wheel and track laying vehicle and the ordnance light tank.

Two Models Tested.

The Christie machine and the ordnance tank now are fighting it out on the army's testing fields for the approval of army officials. Maj. Gen. Fuqua, the man most vitally interested in tank development, has just received a complete report from the infantry tank board on the Christie machine. This report is very favorable and urges its adoption.

In order to make possible an early decision on the question, Maj. Gen. Fuqua has directed the tank board to complete its tests of the ordnance tank and submit a report by Dec. 20. Once all reports are in, Maj. Gen. Fuqua will submit a report to Gen. Charles P. Summerall, army chief of staff. It is considered probable he will recommend purchase of four of the Christie machines and recommend dropping the ordnance tank for the present.

Comparison of the ordnance and Christie machines shows that the Christie is faster than the ordnance developed tank and easier to transport. The ordnance tank, known as Tie 2, is thus far proved more durable as a track laying vehicle.

SOVETSKY NEARLY FACES JURY, BUT WINS A DELAY

John Sovetsky, wealthy fence in whose warehouses police repeatedly have found stolen property, was to have faced a jury yesterday in the first of six criminal trials in prospect for him, but a continuance was granted because his lawyers were engaged in another court. A recent renewal of an effort by the state of Wisconsin to have Sovetsky sent there for trial caused the reinstatement of three old cases against him and assurance was given by the state's attorney's office to the Chicago crime commission that Sovetsky would be tried on all six indictments, regardless of the verdicts in any.

Sovetsky was indicted in Green Bay, Wis., when three burglars were caught there and confessed they were acting on Sovetsky's orders. Because Sovetsky was not in Wisconsin at the time of the burglary, even though he had sent the burglars on their mission, a ruling was given that he could not be extradited.

WED HARDINGE BEFORE DIVORCE, WIFE TESTIFIES

Mrs. Franklin S. Hardinge, second wife of the millionaire oil burner manufacturer, was married to him before she obtained a divorce from her first husband, according to her testimony yesterday at Knoxville, Tenn., in her suit for the custody of her two sons by a former marriage.

Mrs. Hardinge said that she was married to Hardinge last year and then remarried five months later after a Nashville court had granted her divorce from Troy Weems. Hardinge's marriage to the former Mrs. Weems was brought up in Ann Livingston's suit for breach of promise against the manufacturer in which she won a $25,000 verdict. Hardinge testified at that time that they had gone through a second ceremony to make it legal.

$500,000 La Salle Bridge to Be Dedicated Today

Buckbee of the 12th district, and Frank Sheets, state highway superintendent, will speak.

CANAL DISTRICT'S REALTY BUREAU SHOWS A PROFIT

Revenues from rentals and leases of sanitary district land during the first nine months of this year have doubled the income over any previous year and for the first time the district's real estate department has operated on a profitable basis. Real estate revenues as of Oct. 1 are $103,509, leaving a net income of $79,424 after deducting operating expenses of $24,085. These figures are contained in the quarterly report of A. W. Komarek, manager of the district's real estate department, to President Elmore. The 1928 and 1927 deficits of this department amounted to $205,395 and $112,645, respectively.

The injured firemen are Frank Takares, 4733 South Troop street; Frank Strejt, 5248 South Talman avenue; Fred Ahlgrin, 2957 West 39th street, and Frank Sullivan, 3208 South Ada avenue. The damage was $50,000.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

SHEARER MAY COST 3 FIRMS CRUISER JOBS

Hoover Reported Out to Punish Employers.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—President Hoover is seriously considering refusing to grant future contracts for construction of American warships to any or the three shipbuilding companies in whose interests William B. Shearer of New Rochell, N. Y., big navy propagandist and self styled naval expert, was active at the abortive three power naval conference at Geneva in 1927.

This information was obtained from an authoritative source today. The three companies represented by Mr. Shearer at Geneva, although he did not disclose that he was in their pay or that he was appearing in their behalf, were the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation, the American Brown Boveri Electric corporation, which owns the New York Shipbuilding company of Camden, N. J., and the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock company.

The President is not contemplating any action for the cancellation of the present warship contracts upon which these three concerns are now engaged. Of five 10,000 ton cruisers for which congress has made appropriations, contracts for one vessel have been let to the Newport News company, and one to the Bethlehem company.

The three others were to have been laid down in government yards, but work on them has been suspended by order of the President in connection with his efforts toward further reduction of naval armaments by international agreement.

If the President determines not to grant contracts to any of the three shipbuilding corporations which employed Shearer, his action will apply to those of the remaining ten vessels of the 15 cruiser program which would be built in private yards.

BIGGEST STRIP MINE WILL BE OPENED BY FORMAL CEREMONIES

Duquoin, Ill., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—The monster new strip mine of the United Electric Coal company west of Duquoin, the largest property of the kind in the world, will be formally placed in operation tomorrow with impressive ceremonies. The operating company has issued 3,000 invitations to coal dealers, financiers and stockholders and arrangements are being made by Superintendent E. H. Schooley to entertain them. Special trains from St. Louis and Chicago will arrive at the mine shortly before noon.

J. L. Downs, president of the Illinois Central railroad; L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific lines, and other men of prominence will be in the party. Members of the Vanderbilt family and their friends are expected to arrive from Chicago tomorrow morning in their private car. Representatives of moving picture companies will be on hand.

The mine is in the middle of a tract of 20,000 acres of strip coal land which the company acquired near Duquoin. Four large units are in operation and the investment runs into the millions of dollars.

BAR STUDENTS AT RUM RING HALL AT MICHIGAN U.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Fletcher hall, men's dormitory at the University of Michigan, which was uncovered several days ago as the seat of an alleged student bootlegging ring, will be closed to student occupancy after next Monday night, it was announced by Fred B. Wahr, assistant dean of students at the university. The closure is effective for the rest of the semester.

Fletcher hall, which was opened about six years ago, was built by a private enterprise and was not under university jurisdiction. The dormitory houses about 75 male students.

The closing of Fletcher hall is understood not to be caused wholly by the booze raid.

Drug Selling Confectioner Defies Officials of Zion

Defying city officials of Zion, William J. Bickett, proprietor of a confectionery shop in the First State Bank building at Zion, announced yesterday that he would continue to sell drugs and patent medicines and chewing gums despite the notice served upon him on Tuesday ordering him to stop such sales. The notice warned Bickett, his partners, Lyle Bickett and Homer G. Ingram, and the First State bank that they are violating the law and the spirit of the restrictions under which the city of Zion was founded.

New beauty for YOU in 10 days with "miracle cream" nurses discovered

Unsolicited Powder Base
Protect skin—acknowledge power—refuse this imitation.

"TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE," you say. But it has come true already for 4,000,000 women! Joyfully they have seen skin faults vanish. Delightedly they have watched their complexions grow healthier, clearer, smoother, lovelier—just as yours will!

Used as Healing Cream
Quickly heals skin eruptions—restores youthful beauty.

Used as Night Massage
Softens—refreshes—corrects dullness or dryness. Brings new glowing loveliness.

Beauty experts agree that most complexions would be lovely except for seven common skin faults. Noxzema Skin Cream brings new beauty quickly by correcting these tiny flaws that hide the real beauty of your skin. Marvelously soothing and healing, it was first prescribed by doctors for eczema, burns, chapping and other skin troubles.

Then nurses discovered what a wonderful beauty cream it is. They found that its soothing antiseptic oils softened and healed their skin—that its mild astringent properties refined large pores—that its tonic ingredients toned the skin to new glowing loveliness. Largely through their enthusiastic praise the fame of Noxzema spread till now over 4,000,000 women are delighted users of this "miracle cream."

Noxzema is dainty, snow-white, greaseless. Use it as a protective powder base during the day, a massage cream at night, so that your skin gets the full benefit of its healing, soothing medication 24 hours of the day.

Do this for 10 days—and note the difference in the texture and beauty of your skin. See how much softer and finer it is—how much clearer and more youthful.

WILL ROGERS, Famous Humorist:
"Dear Literary Digest. I read you constantly because you and Woolworth can handle more things for 10 cents than anybody in the world."

Can Atheists Be Believed Under Oath?

If she had lied and avowed a belief in Heaven and Hell, the testimony of Mrs. Edith Saunders Miller, it is pointed out, might have been accepted in behalf of her husband, who, with six codefendants, was tried and convicted at Charlotte, North Carolina, for the murder of Chief of Police Aderholt of Gastonia.

Judge N. V. Barnhill, presiding, held that Mrs. Miller's views were pertinent evidence as to her credibility and were proper material for her impeachment as a witness. "If I believed that life ends with death and that there is no punishment after death," the dispatches quote him as saying, "I would be less apt to tell the truth." And for that Judge Barnhill is put on trial before the bar of public opinion.

But in another part of the State, in Concord, Judge A. M. Stack, presiding in another case, held exactly the opposite opinion. He declared from the bench, we read in the press reports of the trial, that "a man's character is made up of acts and his conduct, and you cannot impeach him for what he believes."

Here we have a conflict in law which has captured the attention of the entire country and brought down on the head of Judge Barnhill and on the ancient Tarheel statute an overwhelming torrent of editorial maledictions.

In "The Literary Digest" this week, November 9th issue, the entire subject is reviewed and editorial comment is presented which shows the tense feeling that the controversy has aroused everywhere. Other striking news features in this number are:

COUNCIL ORDERS COMPILATION OF TRANSIT REPORTS

Will Compare All in Files Since 1915.

Transit experts, their reports and the compensation received by them from the city again came under the scrutiny of Ald. Arthur F. Albert [6th] yesterday. He obtained the adoption of a resolution in the council calling for a compilation of the various reports on Chicago's transit settlement since 1915.

New transit reports, said Albert, are being prepared continuously and these should be compared by the council and its local transportation committee with the documents of other years. Variations in the reports, if any, and a comparison of the production costs will be of interest to the council, he concluded.

Schmidt to Make Report.

The resolution calls upon Controller Schmidt to make the report at the earliest possible date. In it is to be included "the names of persons who have acted as special counsel, expert witnesses, real estate experts and other experts for the city or the city council and its committees in connection with local transportation matters."

Albert's action recalled to the council his resolution last June 14 in which he called attention to the subway plan prepared in 1926 by a commission headed by Gordon Strong and Russell Tyson. That resolution asked the aldermen to read the report with the view of settling the transit problem without "payments of expert fees in large amounts, which has been an expensive practice of the city."

Reports Pile Up.

Even before that the council was aware, according to Ald Albert, that subway reports and comprehensive plans for a unified transportation system are mounting high throughout the years. Those made since 1900 at a cost of approximately $1,500,000 stand six feet high when placed one on top of another and weigh more than 200 pounds.

REPORT IS ASKED

Ald E. I. Frankhauser [49th], whose election Tuesday to the Superior court bench brings to a close his activities as the chairman of a council subcommittee intrusted with the work of drafting a transit ordinance, was asked yesterday by James Simpson, chairman of the citizens' transit settlement committee, to report on the work that the subcommittee has done.

"The drafting work which has now been done embraces the greater portion in volume of the ordinance and there seems to be no reason why these provisions of the ordinance should not be reported immediately by your subcommittee to the main committee for its public discussion and consideration," wrote Mr. Simpson to the alderman. "On the contrary, valuable progress will be made and the way will be cleared for the consideration of the financial provisions as soon as they can be presented.

POISON LIQUOR KILLS BOY, 15; ANOTHER DYING

St. Clairsville, O., Nov. 6.—(AP)—One boy was dead, another reported dying and two others ill today from drinking poison liquor last night near their homes in Stewartsville, according to county officials.

Mike Stribak, 15 years old, was found dead on a hillside, while Harry Angus, his friend, was found in a serious condition nearby. Joseph Brice, 14, and Cosmo Chelsea were able to go to their homes, where they were treated by physicians.

Sheriff Fred Moore is holding James Molton, 50 years old, Negro, pending investigation of the death. The sheriff claims Molton owned the liquor which was poisoned.

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinary waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

VIRGINIA REJECTS BISHOP CANNON.

In the Virginia state elections Dr. John Garland Pollard was elected governor, defeating William Mosely Brown. Pollard was the Democratic candidate. Brown was the candidate of Bishop James Cannon Jr., chairman of the board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Church, South. He ran as a Republican to turn to further account the advantages which the bishop was confident he had acquired in the presidential election, when Virginia was carried against Smith and for Hoover.

The effort was to attach Virginia to the Republican party upon the condition that the Republican administration recognize the worst elements in the state, conform to their demands, and adopt their policies. The Democrats, under Gov. Byrd and Senators Glass and Swanson, had opened the way for the advance of such a man as Cannon by abandoning some of the old principles of their party. They had gone more than half way with precisely such doctrines of intolerance and bigotry as those with which Cannon and his political clergymen endeavored to run them out of control.

With the consequences of this desertion of principles confronting them, they were fortunate to be able to attack Bishop Cannon upon his own assumptions of superior morality, revealing that he had been rebuked as a food hoarder during the war and that he was involved in the operations of a bucket shop in New York. The pretensions of the dry leader were deflated. The bishop departed for Brazil after an ineffectual attempt to prove himself "unspotted of the world."

The success of his candidate, Brown, would have brought him back again with a character bath and unquestionably he would have endeavored to consolidate his Virginia control with bigot supremacy elsewhere in the south. The probable consequences were even more threatening to the Republican party and administration than they were to the Democratic. The latter would have been rid of its undesirable elements, and thereafter if it had been traitor to its own doctrines it would have been by choice. The Republican party was threatened with a control which it could not survive if it submitted to having it clamped upon it.

Cannon has been beaten and that spells the beginning of the end of political clergymen unworthy of the ministry.

UP-TO-DATE TRANSPORTATION.

The street car company is preparing to place a number of buses of unusual design in service on the northwest side. The buses will operate electrically, drawing their power, like the present trolley cars, from overhead wires, but no tracks will be laid for the new cars to run on. They will have the rubber tires and steering wheel of the ordinary motor bus, but the power plant of the street car. Many advantages are claimed for them, but the new cars will operate only as extensions of existing lines. Should the cars prove to be all and more than their builders claim, it would still be difficult, if not impossible, under present franchise arrangements, to tear up the rails, junk street cars now in service, and replace them with the newer type for many years to come. Under the 1907 ordinance the street car company is encouraged to keep its existing property in good repair, but inadequate provision is made to assure a continual modernization of the equipment.

The 1907 ordinance ran for only twenty years; the new ordinance, in all probability, will grant a perpetual use of the streets. The need for assuring the car riders that they will not be forced to use obsolete modes of transportation increases with the increase in the term of the franchise. The new equipment to be bought after the reorganization will not be the last word in the art of transportation; progress is certain in the future. There is vast room for improvement in speed, comfort, and reduction of noise, and the new franchise ought to make it easy and profitable for the company to adopt these improvements as they come upon the market.

With this idea in mind, some observers have suggested that the new company be required to set up an obsolescence reserve in addition to the usual depreciation reserve, such as was incorporated in the 1907 ordinance. The setting up of the reserve would, of course, add another item to the company's costs which might be reflected in slightly higher fares, but the difference might be worth all it cost the car riders. It would assure them that in 1945 they would not be forced to ride in the equipment of 1930 if meanwhile improvements had been invented.

It may well be that the same result can be obtained in other and better ways, though none has been suggested. The subject should be thoroughly explored by the council committee and the representatives of the companies. Certainly no traction settlement which does not provide some means of keeping the equipment up to date can be considered wholly satisfactory.

IS THE REASSESSMENT IN DANGER?

George Fairweather, who has done yeoman service in defense of the first honest assessment of Cook county real estate within memory, fears that politics will destroy the good work thus far accomplished. At the order of William H. Malone, as chairman of the state tax commission, the reassessment was undertaken. The work of appraisal was directed by competent men, who laid down a formula for determining value that in principle and in practice has met with well-nigh universal satisfaction among property owners. The board of assessors has accepted the honest valuations and passed them on to the board of review, which is now considering them.

The orders of the state tax commission required the board of review, among other matters, to act upon requests for tax reductions as a board, instead of individually, as had been the practice, and whenever a reduction was made to state in writing precisely why it was made. This order was intended to prevent the use of its great discretionary powers by the board of review for personal or political advantage. The board of review, after a good deal of squirming, has now come to accept it. To the extent that the review has proceeded the order has served to minimize, if not to eliminate altogether, the vicious favoritism which was characteristic of previous assessments and reviews.

It is Mr. Fairweather's considered opinion that political influences seeking to change the basis of the reassessment have ceased their open resistance only to work beneath the surface for the same end. It would be astonishing indeed if that effort were to succeed in the face of the fact that there is virtually no responsible objection to the manner in which the assessment and review are being conducted under the orders of the state commission.

SPENDING CHICAGO REVENUE IN THE EAST.

An agreement with the city of Baltimore now permits the Pennsylvania railroad to extend its electrification program in the east. Instead of terminating at Wilmington, Del., as originally contemplated, the Pennsylvania will electrify its property from New York to Washington. Completion of the improvement on this larger scale will give the Pennsylvania system a total of 799 miles of line and 2,759 miles of track electrically operated.

Meanwhile the Pennsylvania locomotives in the Chicago terminal burn coal and the administration promises us nothing better even in the distant future. Chicago has suffered grave injustice at the hands of the railroads, an injustice which is emphasized by the decision of the Pennsylvania to invest more heavily in the modernization of its eastern property. The directors and the executives of the railroad knew the criticism which their $100,000,000 electrification program from New York to Wilmington provoked from Chicago. They knew Chicago's resentment at this apparent discrimination and they did not justify the discrimination, except by the evasive statement that conditions in Chicago differed from those in New York and the east.

In spite of Chicago's protest the Pennsylvania has continued its policy of spending the money which its terminal here produces for the improvement of its service in the east. The Pennsylvania is not the only railroad which has offended Chicago nor has its favoritism for the east at the expense of Chicago been the most pronounced, for the Pennsylvania has at least constructed a new terminal here, while its rival, the New York Central, continues to obstruct the development of the city by postponing the construction of its new station. The railroads which are discriminating against Chicago are following a shortsighted policy. They are inviting coercion and restrictive regulation by the city and state and they are failing to take advantage of the increased revenues which would result, as they have with the Illinois Central, from a modernization of equipment here.

COMPLEXIONS ACROSS THE SEA.

The London papers seem to have made a good deal of a certain Miss Elizabeth Kelly "of Texas," who is traveling around the world with a group of American students. Miss Kelly was quoted in the London press as follows: "Why don't girls in England use cosmetics? Every one does at home, and men turn to watch girls go down the street, but here no one notices them."

The item, needless to say, was calculated to raise the United States in the opinion of the British. It served to emphasize the ties of blood and language, of custom and tradition, which have persisted despite our separate national existences. The broadcasting of Miss Kelly's musings will convince Englishmen that American civilization is adult and worthy of respect. There can be no doubt that the editors who printed Miss Kelly's observations are concerned only for the creation among their readers of good-will toward the United States.

Editorial of the Day

THE CORN BORER IN OHIO.

[Columbus Dispatch.]

The autumn checkup on the activities of the corn borer in Ohio reveals that the tide of the battle against the pest has been a wavering one, with victories won by both sides. But it remains quite apparent that the fight is far from over. It might be said to have scarcely begun.

An unfavorable season has hit the borer rather hard, we are told by M. P. Park, entomologist with the agricultural bureau at Ohio State university. However, traces of the pest have been found in 105 additional townships in the great lakes area, indicating a spread over considerable new territory. Dr. W. H. Lattimer of the United States bureau of entomology reported losses in yield in a few fields were estimated at from 10 to 30 per cent, with only traces of injury in others.

An interesting feature of the survey is that in the northeastern and central parts of the state, where farmers are cooperating with the experts by cutting their corn short and making the stalks into ensilage, which process kills the eggs or larvae, the problem of combating the pest is becoming simpler and prospects of control much brighter.

On the other hand, the entomologists reported that in the northwestern portion, where corn is pulled from the stalks and the stalks allowed to stay in the ground all winter, the problem is especially acute. This is taken as convincing evidence that in the hearty cooperation of the farmer lies the greatest hope for victory over the pest.

A DENICOTINIZED CIGARET.

MRS. D. W. R. writes: My husband has been smoking an expensive cigaret advertised as having "the bulk of nicotine removed." Is it possible to so remove the greater part of nicotine from tobacco?

REPLY: It is possible to remove a considerable part of the nicotine from tobacco without causing any marked change in its taste or flavor, whatever one chooses to call it, just as, in the case of coffee, caffein can be removed without disturbing the resins and bitters, and the resins can be removed without disturbing the caffein. I presume, if it were desired a way would be found to remove any ingredient of tobacco without disturbing others.

On the market there are tobaccos from which most of the nicotine has been removed. However, there is some nicotine left in every one of the brands. The information is available. The Connecticut agricultural experiment station has analyzed a great many samples of tobacco of different kinds and has issued two bulletins on the subject. These bulletins are intended for the people of Connecticut, but a moderate number of copies will be distributed elsewhere.

It is probable that any public library or school library, writing the experiment station at Storrs, Conn., asking for a copy and promising to keep it properly, would have the request honored. Perhaps other state food and drug laboratories and experiment stations would make similar analyses and publish similar bulletins. The Connecticut report is on various brands and gives the trade names. Starting with cigarets, they give the nicotine content of a number of advertised brands and follow with the nicotine content of many advertised, denicotinized brands. Then follow reports on various brands of cigars, ordinary and denicotinized. Then come pipe tobaccos reported on in the same order. Chewing tobaccos and snuffs would complete the list, though I know of no brands of chewing tobacco or snuff which claim to be denicotinized. The report shows that tobaccos vary greatly in their nicotine content. Some of the denicotinized brands are low in nicotine but, on the other hand, some carry more than do certain brands of tobacco.

SEE AN EYE SPECIALIST.

Mrs. B. I. P. writes:

1. In the sunlight and in certain other degrees of light I see a black spot in front of my eye, which travels with the direction of the eye. I am very near sighted. Has this anything to do with the weakness of the eye, or, as I have heard, is it some form of intestinal poison?
2. I am perfectly healthy, as several physical examinations indicate. Is there any way I can eliminate this spot? It is very disturbing to my peace of mind.

REPLY.

1. In more than 90 per cent of people floating spot or spots before the eyes is of no consequence and calls for no treatment. In rare cases it is a symptom of some consequence. Have an eye specialist examine the eye and see if your spot has any significance and, if so, tell you what to do.
2. If nothing is wrong it is up to you to treat yourself for absence of "peace of mind."

A 300 POUND BOY.

C. E. A. writes:

1. How much should a boy 15 years of age and 5 feet 8½ inches in height weigh?
2. I weigh 200. How can I reduce?
3. Is milk fattening?
4. Does lemon or lemonade help to reduce?

REPLY.

1. About 136 pounds.
2. Your obesity is probably pathologic and your physician should reduce you.
3. Yes, if the quantity used is great.
4. No.

INTEREST FOR VEXATIOUS DELAY.

Berwyn, Ill., Nov. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I bought a car from a finance company for $750. The agent told me the first payment down was $375, the balance at 6 per cent and no carrying charge was to be paid in twelve monthly payments. The papers I had to sign or forfeit the money I had already paid down call for $47 a month for twelve months, which includes $8 for insurance. Is it lawful for the company to charge more than $80 for that balance of $475? M. M.

The interest rate allowed by statute in case of unreasonable and vexatious delay is 5 per cent per annum. The maximum that can be stipulated for by contract is 7 per cent per annum in ordinary cases. Pawnbrokers can charge 3 per cent per month. Corporations organized under the small loans act can charge 3½ per cent per month.

SHRUBS OBSTRUCT DRIVER'S VIEW.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—[Friend of the People.]—Cannot something be done toward the removal of shrubbery grown on parking at corners? The condition on Barry avenue at both Keating and Kilpatrick avenues and in many other places in the city is a real menace to both pedestrians and motorists, completely obstructing the view as one enters upon the crossing. M. E. L.

Report is made that notice has been served on householders on Barry avenue at the intersection of Keeting and Kilpatrick avenues to keep shrubbery trimmed to a height which will not interfere with the view of either motorists or pedestrians, or, if not, to remove same. JOSEPH J. BUTLER, Deputy Superintendent of Streets.

LIGHTS NOT REQUIRED BY LAW.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—The light in our back courtway is out on an average of two and three nights a week. Is there a law compelling owner or agents to burn lights? S. P.

In 283 Ill. 271, 275, the Supreme court held an ordinance requiring light invalid on the ground that the city has only delegated powers which do not include this subject matter. It is the general rule, that in absence of such an ordinance or statute the landlord is under no legal obligation to furnish light. [36 C. J. 36 and 214.]

SANDBURG IN OMAHOG.

He came out here with his hat pulled down over his eyes and sang to the gals of Nebraska;
He strummed his guitar with nails not manicured and sang his deathless songs to the schoolmams of the prairies:
He is beautiful as Lincoln was beautiful;
His songs are musical as the songs of Whitman are musical:
He sang above the squeal of stabbed pigs
in odoriferous Omaha;
Above the moanin' of the sad bovine whether in the stockyards or the Orpheum:
Then I lunched with him and he refused to eat the pork of Omahog:—
believe it or not, he ordered an omelette.
"I like eggs begotten by a rooster," he said.
Escaping odorous Omaha and the death bleat of the little lambs of Jesus,
I took him over the river to my town,— to the site of the Ocean Wave saloon, now a Methodist salvation center;
to the site of the Mormon Log Tabernacle, now a Christian Science Synagogue; to the old Outfitter's station where the covered wagons halted for leather, tallow and whisky; to the granite shaft on a great hill where Lincoln stood and saw runaway rivers;
And then Carl returned to Omaha to take the cars for Chicago where stabbed pigs squeal louder than in any other slaughter pen in the world.
Amen!

Or Drop Your Wrist Watch on Your Big Toe and See if We Care.

Arvilen demands we describe the cover for the impending Linebook. "Oh, they've been wonderful, those covers," sighs Arvilen. "'The Hunchback of Notre Dame,' Jawn McCutcheon's 'Troubadour,' 'The Home Girl,' 'The Unpreferred Brunette,' 'Weird Personage in Green Pants Keeping a Date with a Hot Mamma'! Each one was more exciting and delightful than the one before it! What, oh, what will the next one be?". We have to say, Arvilen, that as we were the so-called "Hunchback of Notre Dame" and also the "Weird Personage in the Green Pants," etc., etc., we should be perfectly delighted if you would walk east on Chicago avenue until your hat floats.

SENATOR BROOKHART, after telling the senate about the party he went to in Washington, where every guest was handed a flask of hip likker, spent yesterday telling it to the grand jury. Here's to the guy that gets a drink and goes and tells another; May he live in the shade and drink lemonade and never get another. The Timid Little Man Who Married the Wonderful Strong Lady.

RHL: Once there was a timid little man and he was so sad he didnt know what to do . . . well, it aint exactly a fairy story but thats the idea—I gotta get a start. . . . Now, nobody knew why this little man was so timid and sad because tha neighbors were awfully busy with the new folks who just moved in across tha street. Their name was Hinkle and this was the second wife and—but thats another story, dontcha see. Well, this timid little man was married to such a big, jolly sort of a fairy. She could do tha washin and bakin and dustin all in the same Tuesday an never bat an eyebrow with fatigue. She was a whale but that aint a good simile in a fairy story. . . . But what a wonderful strong lady she was—and him so morose and sad and timid. One day he walked down the avenue with a round cardboard box under his arm. In the box was Dianas new hat but I think her real name was Missus Heffenhoffer. It was a very grand plume, was tha hat—one of the most becoming creations she had ever ordered her sad husband to pack home from the milliners. Well sir, as tha little man started to cross the street what should loom up in the offing but a taxicab to knock him for a row of paving blocks. The hat was ruined but the timid little man only suffered a few slight bruises, thank goodness. The taxi driver was very solicitous. Shall I take you home or to tha hospital? says he. Take me straight to tha hospital, whispered the sad and timid man as he gazed at the remains of Diana Heffenhoffers new bonnet,—it'll save me a whole lot of time, and my wife a whole lot of trouble. WE KNEW it would happen. Every time we opened the mail we expected the blow would fall. We thought we were prepared—and yet—and yet—when it came we turned pale, and, burying our face in our typewriter, wept like a child. At last—oh gosh—and what with falling stocks and steamer tickets and hotel bills—oh gosh, oh gosh!

AND NOW, with the election over, the stock market quieting down ("down is right," growled Hank; "good-by, sucker!") and no football games until Saturday, we were just turning over and getting to sleep when Mr. Hoover declines to invite Senator Johnson to the Charley Dawes party at the White House, and everything is in commotion again. Washington is running around in circles and it is darkly rumored that California may go out of the Union. Well, if it isn't one darned thing it's another. Heigh ho, wot a life!

BUT LATE YESTERDAY afternoon Mr. Hoover told Mr. Johnson it was all an accident and that such things will happen; they just will. So we hope that Hiram won't feel peevish and that California will stay in the Union and that Washington will draw a breath of relief and the marines march back to Quantico.

AN UNRELIABLE DOCTOR

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 7, 1864.

THE NEWS.—There is no change in the general military situation. All is quiet before Richmond. Matters are unchanged at Atlanta. Our gunboats have achieved a neat little victory on the North Carolina coast in the capture of Plymouth. Forrest's raid on the Tennessee river is assuming its threatened proportions, and several transports and three mosquito gunboats have been destroyed by him. Our forces are amply able to attend to him.

CHICAGO.—A dispatch from Bloomington states that another batch of eighty "butternut guerrillas" arrived there en route for Chicago. They are expected here this morning. They have no baggage except revolvers. What is their business? Every man of this and the former gangs is a member of the "American Order of Knights," sworn to help the rebel cause. Steps should be taken instantly to protect the city and guard the polls.

NEW YORK.—It is unofficially announced that Gen. Butler is in command of the Department of the East. Over 10,000 troops have arrived here in the last two days to report to him. Officials claim to possess information that a plan for a riot on election day was fully matured.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—The following is an extract from a letter received by the editor of the Express from Dunnville, C. W.: "Look out for a raid on Buffalo from Toronto and Hamilton on Nov. 8. The advance guard is at Fort Erie and Suspension Bridge, or will be on the 7th."

SUSPENSION BRIDGE.—Excitement exists on the American side at the anticipated raid. Citizens are arming and goods and valuables are being removed. A special train, with troops, is expected.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 7, 1899.

LOUISVILLE.—On the eve of the election a regiment of soldiers has been ordered under arms in Louisville before the polls open tomorrow; the purpose of the Goebel men to swear in 1,000 extra men has been announced and 100 Republican election officers have been disqualified by Goebelite adherents. Gov. Bradley declared that a fair election and a square count will be secured.

ESTCOURT, Natal.—It is reported that the Boers lost 800 in killed and wounded and captured in the battle at Tatham's farm, near Ladysmith. The British drove the Boers back to their camp. The fighting was resumed yesterday and the Boers were again driven back.

PARIS.—It is rumored that Russia has made a most important move in the eastern situation by asking Turkey for a right of way for Russian warships through the Dardanelles.

CHICAGO.—Gov. Tanner appointed three new commissioners to the Lincoln park board. They are George B. Byron, to succeed William Penn Nixon; F. H. Gansbergen and Herman B. Wickersham, to succeed Otto C. Schneider and P. M. Woodworth, respectively.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 7, 1919.

WASHINGTON.—Still hopeful that Indianapolis court developments might point the way to an early ending of the soft coal strike, the government agencies nevertheless put forth renewed efforts to protect the public against distress. The supplying of coal to foreign owned ships in American ports was ordered stopped.

CHICAGO.—"Col." James T. Dougine, soldier of fortune, miner, inventor, politician and loop character, died on Nov. 5 at his home, 3143 Polk street. He was 80 years old. He helped to start Chicago's first cable grip car from in front of the Palmer house.

WASHINGTON.—Notice was served on Germany by the allied and associated powers that the treaty of peace would not go into force until Germany executes obligations assumed under the armistice convention and additional agreements.

OMSK.—Owing to the menacing advance of the bolshevist forces, Admiral Kolchak has ordered a preliminary evacuation of Omsk by the American hospital and such government departments as are not directly necessary.

FROM PROF. BURGESS.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Because of the vital importance of efficient parole administration for the public welfare, I wish to offer the following statement bearing upon the editorial in THE TRIBUNE of this morning.

The recommendation for placing parole upon a nonpolitical, scientific basis was the result of a comprehensive study requested by Mr. Hinton G. Clabaugh, the former chairman of the parole board, and made by Judge Andrew A. Bruce, president of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology; Dean A. J. Harno of the University of Illinois Law school; John Landesco, an expert in vocational guidance and criminology, and myself.

The proposal for a parole board composed of experts and other outstanding citizens was to insure public confidence in the nonpolitical and competent administration of parole.

The subject of my address before the Illinois conference of public welfare was, however, not the composition of the parole board, but the detailed description of a scientific method for predicting whether a man released on parole would or would not observe his parole agreement. By an intensive examination of twenty-one facts about the personality and record of 3,000 men paroled over a period of three years from the state penitentiaries at Joliet and Menard and from the state reformatory at Pontiac it was possible to classify prison inmates into nine different groups with reference to the statistical probabilities of violating parole: Class A with only 1.5 per cent violators; class B with 4.2 per cent violators; class C, 8.8 per cent violators; class D, 15.1 per cent violators; class E, 22.7 per cent violators; class F, 34.1 per cent violators; class G, 43.9 per cent violators; class H, 67.1 per cent violators, and class I, 76 per cent violators.

This method gives expectancy rates similar to those in the field of life insurance and makes it feasible to introduce scientific and actuarial methods in parole administration. The use of this method would enable a parole board to determine what men should or should not be paroled and the degree of supervision each one should have while upon parole. ERNEST W. BURGESS.

CHICAGO'S CIVIC OPERA.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—It was a fine thing for THE TRIBUNE, in its editorial, "Chicago's Grand Opera," to have acknowledged Chicago's indebtedness to Mr. Samuel Insull for the erection of our new civic opera palace. Looking back over THE TRIBUNE'S files and behold a very uncomplimentary cartoon concerning the above mentioned distinguished patron of the arts, and then viewing the very fitting cartoon of Monday, Nov. 4, I must hasten to congratulate THE TRIBUNE for its aid, though somewhat tardy, to this most excellent civic institution. The program which the management has adopted for the bringing to the front and training of worthy talent in this community commends itself to all public spirited citizens. It is a righteous thing when the war songs of strife give way to the reverie of cooperation.

Let the magnificent Gothic tower of North Michigan avenue and the sublime art shrine of 20 Wacker drive continue to oscillate in unison, to the tune of Onward Chicago. JAMES A. MUNCY.

PROFESSORS AND JANITORS.

Winnetka, Ill., Oct. 30.—"Continue to pay janitors' salaries to college professors and you must be prepared to expect your children to receive teaching upon a level which will fit them to be janitors." So says President Hutchins of the University of Chicago. In other words, a janitor is an illiterate person who is not capable of earning a decent wage. Being a janitor, I most certainly resent this sort of a picture.

If these underpaid professors haven't any more backbone than to stay in a position that does not pay them a living wage they should not be pitied.

This idea of holding up a janitor for ridicule is getting to be obnoxious. We are skilled men and most of us have a little education, even though it is practical. JOHN F. SULLIVAN.

ESCAPED BERGER'S FATE.

Winnetka, Ill., Nov. 4.—The recent tragic death of Sanitary District Trustee Henry Berger caused by a stone falling from the One La Salle Street building, now under construction, moves me to tell of a recent experience I had which I might not now be writing were it not for my extreme good fortune.

I was walking north with a friend on the east side of La Salle street when just before reaching Madison street I suddenly heard a sharp crack and felt a pang in my shin. I looked down to find a red hot rivet some three inches in length and almost an inch thick, which had evidently fallen with bullet-like speed from the upper stories of the One La Salle Street building, and striking just in front of me, had bounced up, bruising me slightly.

Let us hope that those having the authority will render conditions more safe for the passersby. DONALD CRAWFORD.

DEAF MAY LEARN TO READ STREAKS ON TALKIE FILMS

'Speech Pictures' Shown Electrical Society.

New York, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Pictures of spoken words were shown to the New York Electrical society tonight and discussed as a new kind of possibility for enabling the deaf to hear conversation.

These speech pictures were thrown on a canvass screen, where they literally talked, by turning themselves back into speech. The pictures were the sound track of a movie film, magnified with a stereopticon until the row of jagged shadows which represented spoken words was as big as a line of icicles. As this row moved across the canvas the alternating lights and shadow penetrated a slit in the cloth and fell upon a mirror, thence they reflected to a photo-electric cell and were turned into words.

Speed Too Great for Eye.

As the speech translation was instantaneous the audience could see the shape of shadows that made the sounds. The demonstrator of the picture, John Bellamy Taylor of the General Electric company, believes that a possibility of relief for the deaf lies in reading of the shadows. He warned, however, that there is no early likelihood of this relief.

Tonight, for example, when he wished to show the shape of speech he had to stop the picture, turning it into a "silent still." Even so, only the simplest vowel sounds could be exhibited. Nevertheless, Mr. Taylor said it is conceivable that methods can be devised of turning the moving shadows into a series of stills which the eye can see while speech goes on. Ordinarily the shadows move so fast that they are a blur. He said that although he knows of no one now able to read the words in these sound tracks the key to shadow translation may be discovered.

Speaking Is Reversed.

Mr. Taylor made the talking canvas do astonishing tricks. By changing the speed of the shadows the speaker's voice became that of a seemingly different person. A sentence spoken by a man ranged all the way from a startling imitation of a pig's grunt up through intelligible speech in higher and higher key as the speed increased, until it became an unintelligible high toned warble.

Then the screen spoke the words backward, and demonstrated that reversing the order of spelling and reproducing the sound backward are quite different. The name Taylor when reversed sounds as if spelled Oriate. This is because the voice pronounces whole sound instead of letters.

"Estay eye sauce lo keert kalty kawye oon," said Mr. Taylor. He put the picture of this sound on the canvas, reversed the direction, and the canvas said:

"New York electric society," that was what Mr. Taylor had said backward.

British Ship Builders Lock Out 10,000 Workers

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The Shipbuilding Employers' federation tonight declared a national lockout affecting between 10,000 and 15,000 joiners in federated shipyards and ship repairing establishments in Great Britain. It was announced that union members had refused to accept wage proposals. The lockout, which will be effective Nov. 21, if continued, may involve other trades.

200 GALLON STILL RAIDED.

Marion, Ill., Nov. 6.—(U. P.)—A 200 gallon still and forty barrels of alleged mash were confiscated when authorities raided a barn near here. Two Negroes—Winifred Allen and Loran Sheppard—were arrested.

QUARREL OVER RING COST LIVES OF TWO, OFFICERS BELIEVE

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Delving into what was first believed a double murder, Dr. R. L. Moberly, Johnson county, Kas., coroner, today said investigation indicated that Jesse J. Barnwell, 55, shot Mrs. Minnie Hare, 45, during a quarrel over a $385 engagement ring and then took his own life after a two day vigil over the body.

Announcement by the coroner followed an inquest which Dr. Moberly said determined that Mrs. Hare died from 24 to 48 hours previous to the man. The woman had been dead about four days when the tragedy was discovered late yesterday by a mail carrier who called at the Hare home in Merriam, Kas., a suburb, to deliver a special delivery letter.

TRIBUNE OF 1876 FOUND IN BOX IN CORNERSTONE

Letters, family portraits, and a copy of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE of Sept. 27, 1876, all yellowed with age, represented the contents of the leaden box stored away in the cornerstone of "Ulmenheim," former home of Edward W. Blatchford, pioneer Chicago business man, at 1111 North La Salle street, yesterday when wreckers began demolishing the old mansion. The site is to be used for a unit of the $6,000,000 home of the Diagnostic center, an organization of the Physicians and Surgeons Institution of Chicago.

Charles L. Blatchford, grandson of the original Blatchford, who is credited with founding the kindergarten idea in Chicago, took charge of the cornerstone box, which was lifted from its casing of 53 years by Mr. Blatchford's son, Thomas, 8 years old, a great-grandson of E. W. Blatchford.

BANK OF WORLD SLAMS DOOR ON DELIVERIES PLAN

Refuses to Boss German Payment in Goods.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BADEN-BADEN, Germany, Nov. 6.—After five weeks of negotiations the Young plan's projected international bank for reparation payments is nearing realization. Practically all the mechanical and technical work has been completed, but the chief outstanding question as to its general political character is not yet solved.

Because of a smoke screen of secrecy shrouding the conference it is difficult to obtain clear cut knowledge of what the fourteen delegates from Germany, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Belgium, and the United States have accomplished, and to learn their various positions on issues under discussion.

Lips of Delegates Sealed.

This difficulty is increased by the fact that the lips of all delegates are sealed by pledges made at the behest of the American chairman, Jackson E. Reynolds, who has vested all public information in a committee of three, consisting of W. T. Layton of Great Britain, M. Quesnay of France, and Dr. Vocke of Germany.

Since the departure of Mr. Layton last Thursday M. Quesnay has been spokesman.

It is an anomalous situation when the American public must learn about the bank through British and French eyes, and this situation is heightened by the fact that, of the seven newspaper correspondents here, four are Americans, two are local German correspondents, and one German from Frankfort.

Through the decision of Chairman Reynolds, the American public, whose money is handled by American banks, and who will eventually, either directly or indirectly, finance the major proportion of the bank's resources, cannot learn of any of the developments or get even an inkling of matters under discussion, only according to the interpretation the British, French and German committee cares to give.

Politics Delays Negotiations.

Owen D. Young, J. P. Morgan and Thomas W. Lamont, when the international bank was first suggested, stressed the fact that it is to be purely a financial institution, primarily for handling reparations and secondly for facilitating international financial transactions, with absolutely no political obligations or affiliations. But now it can be safely said that the effort to introduce political issues and ties into the bank's character is what has been chiefly delaying negotiations.

Efforts of American, British and German delegations to bar political considerations scored a partial victory tonight, when the conference decided that the institution would not assume control or supervise deliveries in kind and impose sanctions or other penalties over broken or unfilled contracts.

Bank delegates are facing another difficulty, which concerns the distribution of the series of annuities Germany pays to the reluctant "sacrificing powers." These powers agreed, at The Hague and on Britain's demand, to reduce their shares of the reparations to the Spa percentages. Now the job is to get the "sacrificing powers" to accept the revised lowered annual payments in black and white.

Melvin A. Traylor of Chicago, American member, tried hard to settle the wrangle. Finally, a compromise solution was reached by the subcommittee. It is before a plenary conference, with the various nations yet to be heard from, as to whether they will formally accept the reductions agreed to at The Hague.

BRITISH COAL OWNERS REJECT GOVERNMENT PLAN TO CUT HOURS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 6.—An acute situation has arisen in the coal industry following the refusal tonight by the coal owners to take part in the tri-party conference for discussion of the government's proposals regarding the future of the industry.

The government's intention was to hold a conference in London to be attended by representatives of the government, the miners' association—national body of coal owners—and the miners' federation. The owners' refusal to attend the parley came as a surprise and has created an acute difficulty for the government.

Evans Williams, president of the mining association, tonight warned the government of the consequences should any attempt be made to enforce its proposals regarding wages and working hours. The owners contend that a reduction in hours must disastrously affect the whole industry and declare themselves unalterably opposed to such proposals.

CURTIUS MAY GET FOREIGN POST IN GERMANY TODAY

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Dr. Julius Curtius, who has been acting foreign minister since the death of Dr. Gustav Stresemann, probably will be officially appointed to the foreign ministry portfolio tomorrow.

It is generally believed that the ministry of economics, over which Dr. Curtius is chief, will be taken over by Dr. Helmuth Albrecht, member of the reichstag in the People's party group and director general of a German potash concern.

D. Curtius was extremely close to the late foreign minister, Stresemann, and was well versed in Dr. Stresemann's foreign policies. He has been a member of the reichstag representing the German People's party since 1920 and has held several cabinet posts.

YOUTH FOUND DEAD ON TRACK.

From now on no more colds to interrupt life and ravage health. At the first sniffle, sneeze or ache take Hill's. It stops cold gently but surely—3 ways at once... 1: Checks fever... 2: Opens bowels, no griping... 3: Tones system, restores energy. Hill's is always in more than a million homes that don't know what a bad cold is.

Youth Has Found The Way!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has cultivated the fertile field of opportunity and invites everyone to roam in search of desired pursuits. Nothing remains of that ancient prejudice which bound the apprentice, without choice, to his career.*

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

TUNE IN—The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, every Saturday night, over a coast-to-coast network of the N.B.C.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

REVISION SHOWS 1929 CHRISTMAS SAVINGS LARGER

Increase of $1,075,000 Over Last Year.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Additional and corrected returns indicate that Christmas savings in Chicago and suburbs this year will be a trifle larger than last year, instead of the decrease of more than $1,000,000 indicated in THE TRIBUNE last Tuesday.

The Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company made available their Christmas savings yesterday. This institution has about 15,000 accounts and $1,015,000 in savings. The Northwestern Trust and Savings bank were ready yesterday, with figures of 5,800 accounts and $290,000 in savings.

First Figures Minus Cipher.

In addition the First Union Trust and Savings bank in the tabulation of last Tuesday was credited with 1,600 accounts and $80,000 in savings. These figures were minus a cipher. This bank has 16,000 accounts and $800,000 in Christmas savings. A like error was made with reference to the Woodlawn Trust and Savings bank. It has approximately 2,500 accounts and $175,000 in Christmas savings. Also the First Englewood State bank has 1,125 accounts, with $87,000 savings.

The revised totals show returns from 213 city and 89 suburban banks—a total of 302. In last year's tabulation 200 city banks and 81 suburban—total 281—were accounted for.

Savings 4.3 Per Cent Larger.

The revised figures show a 4.3 per cent larger comparison between the savings this year than last year, and compare the number of Christmas savers for the two years together with a comparison of their savings:

NUMBER OF CHRISTMAS SAVERS.
Year.	Chicago.	Suburbs.	Totals.
1929	*425,944	59,506	485,549
1928	424,698	58,369	482,971
Increase	*668	1,227	569

AMOUNT OF CHRISTMAS SAVINGS.
Year.	Chicago.	Suburbs.	Totals.
1929	$23,268,491	$3,454,570	$26,623,361
1928	21,972,982	3,774,684	24,747,946
Incr. $	380,929 $	680,186 $	1,875,415

*Decrease.

The average amount per account was larger this year than in any year since THE TRIBUNE has been collecting this information. The 1929 average is $53.63, as compared with $51.34 last year, $52.97 in 1927, $50.66 in 1926 and $53.80 in 1925.

TRIAL OF 9 FOR GRANADY DEATH TO OPEN TODAY

The trial of Lieut. Phillip Carroll, detective bureau squad leader, four of his squad members, and four alleged 20th ward hoodlums, for the murder of Octavius C. Granady, who was the opponent of Morris Eller for ward committeeman at the 1928 primary, will begin this morning before Judge Joseph B. David in the Criminal court. The prosecution, which is being carried on by the special staff of Frank J. Loesch, announced ready yesterday.

"The prosecution wants a speedy trial and so do we," W. W. Smith, defense attorney, said yesterday. "We are ready to proceed without delay and will so announce in the morning."

Judge David indicated that he, too, is ready to go on with the trial. The only chance of delay would be for Louis Clemente, Thomas Somnerio, James Belcastro, or John Armondo, co-defendants with the policeman, to ask for a change of venue or a continuance.

BOMBAY, India, Nov. 6.—[U. P.]—The body of Narottam Norarji, millionaire chairman of the Scindia Steam Navigation company, was found today in Tiger's Leap ravine near Lonavla. Relatives cremated it within a few hours of the discovery. Norarji left Poona today by automobile for Calcutta. When he failed to appear foul play was feared. Scindia shares dropped three points on the stock exchange.

PLEAS FOR BRICK PAVING HEARD BY STATE OFFICIALS

Careful Consideration of Arguments Promised.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Gov. Emmerson today told the brick manufacturers of Illinois that the state highway department will give "careful consideration" to their arguments for paving with brick.

His statement came at the conclusion of a session with the brick manufacturers, representatives of other industries, and labor, sitting in with the executive was Frank T. Sheets, chief highway engineer. Members of the "Buy Illinois Products" commission also were present. Henry A. Converse of Springfield presided.

James Francis Burke, general counsel of the National Paving Brick Manufacturers' association, summing up the oral and statistical arguments presented by the brick men, declared the testimony offered by W. G. Bierd of Chicago and A. D. MacKie, general manager of the Illinois Power company, was convincing.

Experience Is Stressed.

"What these men have said here today weighs immeasurably," Burke said. "These men have had years of experience in the building of paving. They have practical knowledge of every type of paving. They are using brick."

Mr. Bierd advocated construction of roads with a concrete base and a brick surface, held with curbing. If he were to build the roads, he said, he would lay concrete with a view to immediate or future surfacing with brick. This plan, he declared, would insure paving with a life of no less than thirty years. Mr. MacKie said that after years of experience, his company insists on brick for surfacing between and along street car tracks.

The speeches were brief, owing to the number of representative men present. Among those introduced were Walter A. Bonitz, president of the National Paving Brick Manufacturers' association, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; George F. Schlesinger, chief engineer of the national organization; Paul E. Green, consulting engineer, and Truman L. Flatt, superintendent of highways of Sangamon county and spokesmen for local organizations interested in the brick industry.

Labor Leaders Heard.

John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and Robert E. Woodmansee and Daniel McGill of Springfield spoke in behalf of union labor. Walker suggested that at least 25 per cent of the Illinois roads be constructed of brick. W. A. Brewerton of Chicago and Edward A. Wieck of East St. Louis testified for the coal operators. Bankers were represented by J. E. McCann of Buffalo.

George S. Eaton, national secretary of the Face Brick Manufacturers' association; W. F. Schlake of Chicago, and B. H. Richards of Edwardsville spoke as representatives of manufacturers of common brick. They explained that stagnation in the paving brick industry injuriously affects all brick manufacturers because paving brick plants are thrown into competition with the other plants.

ATTEMPT TODAY TO SAVE HAUKE FROM GALLOWS

CRIMINAL COURT.

John Johnson, attempted rape, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge John J. Sullivan.

William Henry Hauke, world war veteran, will have his last chance to save himself from hanging today when his attorneys will try to convince a jury in Judge Stanley Klarkowski's Criminal court that he has become insane. An insanity petition filed on the eve of the scheduled execution saved Hauke a few weeks ago, after Gov. Emmerson and the parole board refused to intercede in his behalf.

Hauke is under sentence for the murder of Mrs. Isobelle Sheckley, 1415 West Marquette road. Because the crime was committed prior to the enactment of the electrocution law Hauke's execution will be the last hanging in the state, unless the jury should find him insane and send him to an asylum.

Judge Klarkowski ordered a special venire of 100 men to appear in his court this morning for jury service in this case. Among the alienists who will appear in the trial, it was announced yesterday, are Dr. Henry Gahagen, Dr. William Forkin of the U. S. Veterans' bureau, Dr. Albert Yudelson and Dr. Ernest Gunderson. Hauke has refused to allow alienists for the state to examine him.

VAN SWERINGENS NOT TO APPEAR AT RAIL HEARING

Time Is Asked to Study Terminal Problem.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Neither Oris P. Van Sweringen nor his brother, Mantis J., will appear before the council committee on railway terminals this afternoon. The Van Sweringens, who live in Cleveland, control the Erie, Pere Marquette, Nickel Plate and Chesapeake and Ohio railways.

The attitude of the Van Sweringens was sought on a south side terminal. Chairman Edward J. Kaindl invited them by telegraph to appear before the committee this afternoon. No direct reply has been received from either of the brothers. Instead, Ald. Kaindl received a telegram yesterday from J. J. Bernet, president of the Van Sweringens' Pere Marquette and Chesapeake and Ohio railroads. Mr. Bernet says Kaindl's telegram has been referred to him "for a study of your problem and a later conference with your committee."

Will Arrange Meeting.

It continues: "Because of other engagements it is doubtful if a meeting can be arranged before the week of Nov. 18. Will write you further on the subject within the next few days."

"That certainly is a queer message," commented Kaindl. "I think the committee was entitled to a reply from either of the Van Sweringens, to whom the invitation was addressed. They probably tossed my invitation over to Mr. Bernet with: 'Sooth the Chicago aldermen, we're busy.'

"Then Bernet admits that he and the Van Sweringens know so little about the Chicago terminal situation that they decline to discuss the subject at present. Bernet asks time to make a study, while it has been represented to us that one of the Van Sweringen roads knows all about the terminal matter.

One Road Ready to Act.

"We have been told in writing that the western Indiana group of roads, of which the Erie—a Van Sweringen road—is one fifth owner, is ready to decide what they will do. Now the Van Sweringens ask for time to permit Bernet, president of two other Van Sweringen roads, to 'study' the matter. It looks like a stall on the part of the Van Sweringens. When Mr. Bernet gets through studying, we have no assurances from the Van Sweringens that he is authorized to speak for them.

"Another evidence of the Van Sweringens' attitude is the fact that Bernet's telegram calls the construction of adequate terminal facilities by the railroads on the south side as 'your problem.' I will put it up to the committee to decide tomorrow what action shall be taken. There ought to be some way to put the brakes on railroad stalling."

BANK HELD UP; LOSES $4,000.

Eden, S. D., Nov. 6.—(AP)—The First National bank here was held up and robbed at noon today by two men who fled from town in an automobile. The loot was placed by officials at $4,000.

REPORT ON CHICAGO'S FAIR FUND WILL BE GIVEN HOOVER TODAY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Rufus C. Dawes will arrive in Washington tomorrow to inform President Hoover that the $5,000,000 fund on which federal government approval of the Chicago centennial celebration in 1933 is conditioned has been subscribed and is now available.

Later in the day, the White House probably will announce the issuance of invitations to the nations of the world to participate in a world's fair portraying the progress of industry, agriculture, art, drama and sport during the 100 years since Chicago was incorporated a city.

Under a resolution passed by congress last January, tentative approval of the celebration was given. In addition to authorizing the President to invite foreign nations, the measure provided for free entry into the country of foreign exhibits.

Bandits Bind Women in Flat, Steal $7,900 Gems

Posing as building agents, two bandits gained entrance to the apartment of Albert W. Cohen, a real estate dealer, at 444 Belmont avenue, yesterday, and after binding Mrs. Cohen and Lela Brown, a maid, then stole jewelry valued at $7,900. After an hour, the maid freed herself and called the police.

BOY'S KIDNAPER SENTENCED.

Salem, Ill., Nov. 6.—(AP)—William McKinley, colored, was sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary here yesterday, after he was found guilty in the Marion county Circuit court of kidnaping Robert Carmen, 11 year old Central City, Ill., boy last August.

SENATE REDUCES DUTY ON PIG IRON TO 75 CENTS TON

U. S. Tariff Commission Is Ignored.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—Ignoring recommendations of the tariff commission the coalition of Democrats and radicals today forced a reduction by the senate in the duty on pig iron to 75 cents per ton. The action meant the rejection of the house bill rate of $1.12½ per ton, to which the 75 cent rate of the Fordney-McCumber act was increased under the flexible tariff, as well as the $1.50 rate recommended by the senate finance committee.

An amendment proposed by Senator A. W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.] fixing the duty at 75 cents per ton was adopted by a vote of 48 to 30. Voting for the amendment were 19 Republicans and 29 Democrats, while against it were 26 Republicans and four Democrats.

Reed Is Incensed.

Approval of the amendment so incensed Senator Reed [Rep., Pa.] that he asserted it was useless for the Republican protectionists to waste further time in presenting their arguments.

"The vote on the pig iron amendment shows that further talk from those of us who believe in protection is useless," said Senator Reed. "It also shows that all the Democratic talk in the campaign of a competitive tariff was political eye wash. The senate today has canceled the action of the President based on years of investigation by the tariff commission."

During the debate on the pig iron amendment Senator Reed said that the tariff commission, in reporting its findings to the President, held that the difference in costs of production in this country and in India is in excess of $7 per ton. The President, he said, was limited by law to a 50 per cent increase, or otherwise he would have boosted the duty considerably above $1.12½.

Says Companies Lose.

"You talk about distress among the farmers," said Senator Reed. "The distress among the farmers anywhere in the country is not comparable to that among the workers in the merchant blast furnaces along the Atlantic seaboard. Thirty-two companies showed a net loss of $1,241,000, or 15 per cent on invested capital, last year."

After the pig iron amendment was disposed of the fight over the duty on manganese, transferred to the free list by the finance committee, was commenced.

Senator T. L. Oddie [Rep., Nev.] offered an amendment increasing the duty above the present rate.

The senate completed action on amendments to the earths, earthenware, and glassware schedule. The coalition forced elimination of a clause which would have imposed a higher duty on cylinder, crown, and sheet glass when used for certain purposes. It also obtained a reduction in the duty on globes and shades of glass for use in connection with artificial illumination from 85 per cent, as recommended by the finance committee, to 70 per cent, the house bill rate being 65 per cent.

"Where can we get CLOSING PRICES?"

Thursday, October 24th ... Stock Market values crashing ... record breaking sales ... tickers four hours late ... one of the great crises in financial history ...

"When can we get closing prices?" the cry went up. From brokers with thousands of margin calls to get out; from Trust Companies and Bankers with collateral loans to check; from the man in the street anxious to know where the avalanche had stopped.

The tape recorded the last sale at 7:08 P. M. At 7:28 P. M. The Evening Bulletin was on the street with complete closing prices. More than two and one-half hours earlier than any other Philadelphia newspaper.

The tension was such that financial institutions had their runners at The Bulletin office awaiting the first copies off the press.

On October 28th, with its nine million share total, when a cable at Bound Brook "blew out" silencing every Philadelphia ticker—The Bulletin secured a special wire, and at 7:42 P.M., closing prices were on the street—again ahead of any other Philadelphia newspaper.

And on Tuesday, the record day (16,410,000 shares traded), and again on Wednesday and Thursday, The Bulletin delivered the closing prices first in Philadelphia.

As in the past, when the crisis came, Philadelphia depended on The Bulletin. It is such emergencies that prove the worth of a newspaper to its community.

These are instances of the day-by-day performance which has been the basis of The Bulletin's growth ... from a few thousand readers in 1895, to more than half a million today.

Among 572,000 homes, The Bulletin has a daily circulation of 548,573. A copy to nearly every home. More than double the circulation of any Philadelphia evening newspaper; nearly as large as all the morning papers combined.

Your advertising message to Philadelphia business men and financial interests, thoroughly reaches your market in this newspaper ... and gains in force and effectiveness by reason of the reader's confidence in The Evening Bulletin.

Philadelphia Financial Institutions commend The Evening Bulletin...

Charles S. Calwell, President, Corn Exchange National Bank and Trust Company, writes: "All the people in the financial district were much interested in the issue of The Bulletin which contained the closing prices of the exchanges. It appeared so quickly after the ticker stopped that it rendered a distinct service. I congratulate The Evening Bulletin on its achievement of October 24."

Albert A. Jackson, President, Girard Trust Company writes: "Knowing of the diligence of your paper, we sent one of our men to your office to get closing quotations at as early a moment as possible. I am quite sure that every Institution lending money with collateral of stock exchange securities must be appreciative of what you have done."

Louis E. Pequignot, President, the Beneficial Saving Fund Society: "Please accept my congratulations on the wonderful achievement of The Evening Bulletin in publishing the final quotations in so short a time after the ticker closed business for the day in one of the biggest days in the history of the stock market."

Melville G. Baker, President, Penn National Bank: "This issue was of great value to all, inasmuch as it gave the public and those interested an alphabetical list, with net changes for the day. We extend to you our congratulations."

Joseph Wayne, Jr., President, Philadelphia National Bank: "We congratulate you on keeping readers in touch with closing prices on New York Exchanges. Your late edition was the only means we had to get closing prices during the recent unusual conditions."

Arthur May, G. & A. Seligmann: "We thoroughly appreciate the service which The Evening Bulletin rendered to brokers on Thursday evening, and might add that the prompt issuance of your special closing price edition relieved our entire organization of a further unpleasant strain after a most trying day."

"We received a copy of the late edition of The Bulletin and were very much impressed with your enterprise and the correctness of the reports," writes Charles H. Bean, of Charles H. Bean and Company. "The market conditions were unusually well handled and reported and were not only very interesting to us in every way, but of considerable assistance. We congratulate you on same."

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Off Again

PRINCE MAX, WHO AIDED EX-KAISER TO FLEE, IS DEAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—Prince Max of Baden, the last chancellor of the German empire and the man who forced the former kaiser to abdicate and flee to Holland, died today in a hospital in Constance at the age of 62.

His death took place just three days before the eleventh anniversary of Nov. 9, the memorable day when he forced the former kaiser, his imperial cousin, to resign in his own name and in that of his son, in order to save Germany from Bolshevism.

Since then a bitter feud has raged between the former kaiser and Prince Max. The latter was a staunch defender of democratic principles even in the days before the republic was proclaimed. The prince spent the last years of his life in completing his memoirs of the fateful days of the armistice and the negotiations for the former kaiser's abdication. He has also occupied himself with the supervision of a school for boys and girls which he started in his castle at Salem, to bring up the young generation to new and more modern principles than those ruling most of the German schools.

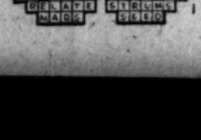
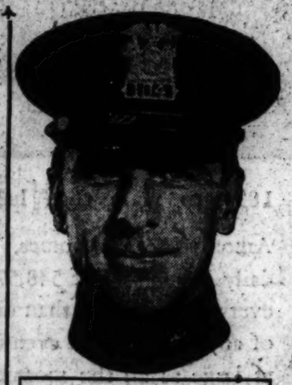
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



Traffic cop gets summons

Even he can't get away with it



Nature's law O.K.

"DON'T try to put anything over on Nature," is the way a cop would express it. "Sooner or later she'll get you. Give you a ticket and lay you up in a place where you'd rather not be.

"Even cops can't get away with it. Like everyone else, if they don't pay attention to the warnings they get a summons that lands them in the doctor's office.

"What the doctor advises is Nujol. Says Nujol will regulate you just like you regulate traffic. Keep things from getting in a jam. Help them move along easy and regular.

"The doctor is right. Just ask the healthiest men on the Force. If they need Nujol—with all the exercise they get—what about all the fellows that roll by in their cars?

"Just take a tip from me. You may have the best intentions in the world. But everybody gets tied up at times. Nature can't always take care of things without help.

"That's where Nujol comes to your rescue. Just as it does, regularly, for thousands of other people.

"Our Medical Chief tells me that Nujol isn't a medicine. It contains absolutely nothing in the way of medicine or drugs. It's simply a pure natural substance (perfected by the Nujol Laboratories, 2 Park Avenue, New York), that keeps things functioning at all times as Nature intends them to. Normally. Easily. Regularly. Without any extra effort and strain on your part.

"It not only keeps an excess of body poisons from forming (we all have them), but aids in their removal.

"It's these poisons that play havoc with you. Give you that dull feeling. Drag you down. Make you about half on your job."

Start Nujol today. Keep it up for the next three months. It won't cost you much—not more than the price of some smokes.

Worth a try, isn't it? Nujol can't possibly disagree with you or upset you. It is so pure and harmless that doctors recommend it for little babies, very old folks, invalids, and others who are easily upset by more drastic methods.

You'll find Nujol at all drugstores. Sold only in sealed packages. Get some on your way home today.

GASTONIA QUIZ TOLD HOW GANG KILLED WOMAN

Witness Points Out One of Alleged Slayers.

Gastonia, N. C., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Witnesses testifying in the inquiry into the death of Mrs. Ella May Wiggins, textile union member, today presented testimony implicating Horace Wheeler, Loray mill worker, in the shooting.

Julius Fowler, who was riding on the truck which was carrying the union members from Gastonia, where they had attempted to attend a communist meeting, testified he saw Wheeler fire just before the truck was in collision with an automobile parked on the highway.

Wheeler at the time was standing at one side of the highway, the witness said.

Other occupants of the truck told Judge P. A. McElroy, who is conducting the inquiry at the instance of Gov. O. Max Gardner, that they saw Wheeler and others of the sixteen men under bond in connection with the shooting immediately after Mrs. Wiggins was hit.

One of these, Wes Williams, said Wheeler went up to the truck after it had been wrecked and "pretended" to be investigating, asking who was the driver. Williams could not identify the men who fled after Mrs. Wiggins fell wounded and he could not identify the three men he said he saw shooting at occupants of the truck who were running away.

Roosevelt Starts Economy Campaign in Porto Rico

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Nov. 6.—Government economy was ordered by Gov. Theodore Roosevelt in his first administrative order since taking oath a month ago. Not only must the appropriations not be exceeded, but officials who save, rather than spend all of the amount of the budgets will reflect credit on themselves for efficiency, for "Every dollar must do a dollar's worth of necessary work," says the order.

HAIR TRIGGER SHERIFF WHO KILLED PRISONER HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Clay City, Ill., Nov. 6.—(AP)—A coroner's jury here last night returned a verdict that E. S. Shenk, who was shot and killed by Sheriff J. D. Marshall of Effingham county in Bible Grove, Ill., yesterday "came to his death from gunshot wounds inflicted with a gun fired by Marshall, without justification or right," and recommended that the sheriff be held to await action of the grand jury.

According to testimony given at the inquest, Marshall and a deputy went to collect a payment on an automobile purchased by Shenk. They met Shenk, arrested him for resisting an officer, and took him to his home.

Shenk, it was said, picked up a spade in a threatening manner, and Sheriff Marshall shot him three times.

The sheriff is being held under $25,000 bond. A hearing will be held on Nov. 15.

ALDERMEN VIEW DEVICES TO GUARD LIVES FROM GAS

Sixteen aldermen, all members of the city council health committee, yesterday went to the Chicago avenue pumping station and watched Health Commissioner Kegel demonstrate the efficacy of two devices designed to safeguard the lives of persons when poisonous gas escapes from mechanical refrigerators.

These devices, it was stated, meet the specifications in an ordinance drawn up by Dr. Kegel which he is asking the health committee to approve and send to the council for passage.

One of the devices has a hornlike attachment which blows a warning when the gas starts leaking and which will stop all the leakage of the gas after 1¼ pounds has escaped in any apartment. The other mechanism is a vent which forces all escaping gas into the outer air through the chimney of a building.

MINE OFFICIALS IN WORDY FIGHT OVER FUND'S USE

International Officers File Answer.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Charges and countercharges of fraud and theft were hurled in the latest barrage of the Illinois miners' war here today when international officers filed an answer to the injunction proceedings brought in the Sangamon county Circuit court to prevent the ousting of state officers.

In the injunction answer International President John L. Lewis made ten charges of insubordination against the state officers and definitely charged State President Harry Fishwick with illegal use of $28,202.10 of union funds.

False, Says Fishwick.

Answering Lewis' attack this afternoon, the state president declared that the charge that he misappropriated $28,202.10 or any other sum of money belonging to the Illinois miners was a falsehood. He countered by charging that the checks upon which Lewis based his accusations were stolen from the offices of the union here on Sept. 4.

"Harry Fishwick, either with the connivance or through the indifference and neglect of the other officers of said district 12 was able to take and did cause to be taken out of the treasury of said district large sums of money without making any proper accounting of same, but for the purpose of misappropriating the same," the answer filed by Lewis this morning charged.

Checks Cashed, Is Claim.

"The said Harry Fishwick from the 19th day of April, 1928, to the 31st day of July, 1929, withdrew the sum of $28,202.10, which was accomplished by certain checks, all of which were cashed at the Ridgley Farmers' National bank of Springfield, Ill., and the currency and money were taken out of the bank at the time the checks were cashed, and said checks were not deposited to any account, nor did the quarterly financial statements and audits of disbursements of the district disclose the issuance of any of said checks to Harry Fishwick."

In his reply to this attack, Fishwick declared that he had called in Springfield police to help him ascertain how Lewis knew about canceled checks which he said were stolen from his files in September. The robbery was reported to police at the time, but the facts were not made public.

Charges Are Denied.

"The charge that I stole or misappropriated $28,202.10 or any other sum of money belonging to the Illinois Miners' union is an absolute and unqualified lie," Fishwick answered. "Two separate audits of the books covering the period involved have been made and every penny has been found to have been handled in a regular and honest manner."

Fishwick said that the money involved was used in the strike in the northern mining field and in fighting the communist controlled National Miners' union.

LATH that will not streak or stain plaster

Red Top Rocklath prevents plaster from becoming stained or streaked. Moreover, streaks due to dust accumulation do not appear on Rocklath ceilings. Rocklath lengthens the life of decoration and makes possible wall and ceiling finishes that age gracefully.

In hundreds of thousands of homes, over a period of thirty years, gypsum lath has been satisfactorily used as a base for plaster.

Lath that never lets go of plaster

Red Top Rocklath is a rigid sheet of gypsum encased in a tough, fibrous covering. Gypsum plaster bonds most tightly to Rocklath. Red Top Rocklath and plaster combine to form a wall or ceiling finish with double the strength of ordinary lath and plaster finishes.

Fireproof—gives fire protection

Rocklath is made from gypsum rock. It will not burn or support combustion, but adds fire protection wherever it is used. It does not warp, swell, buckle or shrink. It will not deteriorate with age.

A special feature is Rocklath's patented folded edges. These provide exceptional strength.

Uniform bundles protect lath surfaces

YOST HELPS DRILL MICHIGAN FOR HARVARD

BUSH TELLS HIS PLANS FOR SOX; SHIRES AT FIRST

Selects San Antonio as Camp.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Donie Bush isn't kidding himself about the great things the White Sox are going to accomplish under his guidance next season. He made this plain yesterday when he came to town for his first talk with his new boss, Charles A. Comiskey, and with the boys who will be writing pieces about him the coming season.

ART SHIRES.

Mr. Bush, who is the kind that acts peppy under a strain and fretful after the strain is over, admitted that everything depended on getting help. He hopes to get this by consummating trades he has in mind. And Mr. Bush not only hopes, but expects, to have as a first baseman the irrepressible Charles Arthur Shires, who became considerable of an annoyance last season because of his persistency in painting black eyes on Lena Blackburne. Bush feels certain he can induce Shires to abandon sign painting as a profession.

Pitching Will Stand.

The nature of the trades Bush desires wasn't revealed. He did say he wanted another outfielder, one good infielder, and a capable catcher, which wasn't new. He also mentioned in an offhand way that it looked as if Detroit and New York would be in the market for deals, so it is possible that these are the clubs with which he hopes to do business. Either could spare an infielder without being injured in the exchange.

Bush wouldn't refuse a hurler if a good one should be tossed in his lap, but is more concerned about the other departments. He feels the pitching as it stacks up at present would answer all purposes if supported by a bit of run getting ability, something which was lacking last season. He knows he has three pretty fair hurlers in Thomas, Lyons, and McKain, and that old man Faber may come up with another good year. He might get one or two others of workable standard from the corps of rookies, and that would fill the team's needs.

Will Train in San Antonio.

Bush intends to have a talk with Shires in the near future. So far they haven't formally met. Bush's ideas about the recalcitrant lad is that he is a player of more than average ability, and it is ball players he wants. On this basis Shires won't have anybody bothering him as long as his inclinations toward whoopee do not rob him of his potency on the diamond. Shires admits he's a great player. If Bush admits the same he will have the first sacker's undying devotion.

During the course of Bush's visit with the scribes Business Manager Harry Grabiner confirmed the fact that the Sox will train at San Antonio, regarded as the best conditioning spot in Texas. The getaway for camp may be as early as Feb. 20, and about 33 players will be included in the party.

60TH BIRTHDAY OF FOOTBALL IS CELEBRATED

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 6.—(U.P.)—America intercollegiate football's sixtieth birthday was celebrated here today.

On Nov. 6, 1869, Rutgers and Princeton met on what is now College field, at Brunswick, in the first collegiate football game ever played, Rutgers winning, 6 to 4. Each goal counted one point and it had been agreed to call the game as soon as one side had tallied six times. Twenty-five men represented each college, and only kicking and batting with the hands were allowed, running and throwing the ball being a later development.

Strong Offense No Longer Best Defense in Football

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Soon after the coming of the forward pass in 1906, when middle western coaches were the first to realize the possibilities of the new offensive weapon, many teachers of football figured their offense was their best defense.

They coached their teams to outscore opponents. This especially was true of some eastern coaches who adopted the forward pass a few years later. As time wore on, these coaches realized that something more than offensive tactics was needed to win football games. They found that when their best offensive plays failed to score touchdowns they were beaten.

Gradually the coaches began to stress defense. In fact, some coaches place more emphasis on defensive tactics, being governed by the belief that any eleven which can tackle and block will not be beaten badly. This is one reason scrimmage drills are held two and three times a week. Scouts are sent to study the attack of opponents and plays used by opposing elevens are given to the freshmen or scrub elevens, which are the practice opponents for the varsity teams.

The coaches thus develop a defense which is expected to check opponents. Coaches employ different styles of attack. Some use the running attack, others hard, smashing plays through the line or off the tackles, while many depend upon short and long forward passes. An eleven must be schooled in every branch of defense to meet these plays.

Must Outplay Army Forwards.

With many important struggles scheduled for Saturday, final defensive drills will be held this afternoon. After this practice, teams scheduled for games away from home will entrain. Northwestern, which has suffered only one defeat, and that by Minnesota, will leave tonight for Columbus, O., where Ohio State will be met Saturday. Before the squad departs it should know all angles of defensive play. The team will hold its final workout in the Ohio stadium tomorrow afternoon. Coach Willaman of the Buckeyes is also a stickler for defensive play, and the Scarlet and Gray is expected to play one of its best games of the year.

Drake will be here tomorrow to engage in its final workout for the game with Notre Dame on Soldiers' field Saturday. Coach Rockne always has been a believer in defensive play, and his elevens always have been noted for a strong defense. Drake is the champion of the Missouri Valley conference.

Illinois should be a better defensive eleven Saturday, than it was against Northwestern. The Orange and Blue line must improve to stop the Army backs at Champaign. The cadets have a good line and their ends smash hard. It will be up to the Orange and Blue line to outplay the Army forwards if any hope of victory is to be entertained.

Minnesota and Iowa will be represented by strong lines in their important struggle at Iowa City. This should be one of the best games in the country. Each has a powerful attack and both have been schooled in defensive tactics. In Capt. Glassgow Iowa has a player who commands the respect of the Gophers. He kicks, runs, passes, and is an excellent blocker and tackler. Coach Spears of Minnesota has been working on a defense to stop the Iowa star.

Michigan must have a defense for forward passes to win over Harvard at Ann Arbor. The Crimson will throw the ball to all parts of the field if its straight attack fails to gain. The Wolverines were weak in this department against Purdue, and a forward pass brought its defeat by Ohio State. Coaches of both elevens have spent considerable time on their defensive plans during the week.

Stagg Defensive Coach.

Chicago displayed a strong defense against Princeton last Saturday, and it should be even more effective when Wisconsin is met on Stagg field Saturday. Coach Stagg is considered one of the best defensive teachers in the country.

It will be interesting to note the styles of defense used by the various elevens. There will be the box and diamond styles; the six man line will be used, while a center or guard may be pulled back to play in roving positions. Players have had enough experience this season to adjust themselves to the attacks of opponents.

HAWKS CONQUER TULSA, 5 TO 1, IN FINAL PUCK GAME

Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—The Chicago Blackhawk ice hockey team tonight won its final exhibition game with the Tulsa Oilers, 5 to 1. The Chicago squad with Vic Ripley, Coture and Bobby Burns in the lineup and playing National league rules looked like a different club from that defeated two nights ago by the American Hockey association champions.

The final Hawk marker came in the last period with the puck shooting off Sommer's stick after a solo drive. Abel, Taylor and Wentworth romped off with the defense honors for the invaders, while Ingram, Ripley, Burns, Coture, Marsh and Gottselig stood out offensively.

WHEREIN SCUFFED NOSES DO, DON'T CAUSE ALARM

Army Grid Drill Shows the Difference.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 6.—About 75 football players of various classifications and degrees of proficiency scuffed up the turf on the plains at West Point for two hours this afternoon, rehearsing a defense against the sort of plays which they have reason to expect to encounter in their game with the University of Illinois at Champaign Saturday.

Christian K. Cagle's nose was slightly scuffed in the course of the scrimmage, and he was temporarily retired from the sham battle, being sent to the infirmary for such mending as the case might require. His hurt seemed to be no worse than a common nose bleed, but these things acquire gravity and dignity in proportion to the importance of the noses concerned.

Some moments earlier one of the gentlemen of the scrubs forgot to duck as the regular Army team rolled over him, and he came up with his nose in an advanced stage of dilapidation, but Mr. Frank Wandle, the lay surgeon who attends the team, pressed an iced towel to his features and this homely remedy seemed adequate.

Greater Urgency for Winning.

Half a dozen officers serving as coaches, assisting Capt. Biff Jones, began the instruction, each with a group of cadets drawn off in a separate sector of the field, for special coaching in the details of their responsibilities which seem quite serious. The Army athletes have played two so-called major games thus far, and they have yet to win one, so the urgency of winning at Champaign on Saturday is a little more pressing than it might otherwise be.

Harvard rolled the Army team under in the first half of their game at Boston, and the cadets had to return to primitive football to bang their way through and tie the score in the end. At Yale after Cagle and Johnny Murrell had scored a touchdown apiece, Albie Booth ran onto the field and disorganized them. I believe the Yale game is one of those things which the Army chaps would rather discuss anything else than.

With a substantial lead in the second quarter, they suddenly found themselves whirling and sprawling confusedly, and they never recovered their poise. One of the coaches today ran off a reel of war department movies of this game, made with a telescopic lens which brought the plays up into one's lap, so to speak, and as Albie Booth sifted through the Army line, he could only wag his head gloomily and remark that the tackling on the Army side certainly was verminous that day. He left an impression that their tackling was one of the matters that had been mentioned with great severity and stress ever since that afternoon.

Romance Creeps In; Athlete Goes Out.

Incidentally, that afternoon was momentous in the romantic annals of the United States Military academy, too for it now comes to your correspondent's notice that a cadet named Paul Capron of the yearling or sophomore class selected that p. m. to elope from New Haven to the crossroads town of Brewster, N. Y., about sixty miles away, with Miss Marguerite Gillespie, the daughter of a colonel serving on the West Point post as instructor in ordinance and gunnery.

Arriving back in time to enter the formation as the cadet corps marched out of the bowl, the young man returned to the academy in an ineligible state, there being a provision in the cadet regulations which stipulates that no member of the corps shall have any horse, dog, wife or moustache in the order named under pain of such discipline as the commandant in his discretion may decree. The pride returned to her home on the post, and the groom went to his barren quarters but that evening she mentioned the matter of the marriage to her parents and Cadet Capron was

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

BY DON MAXWELL.

RUMORS—

Leaders of the Big Ten are dissatisfied with Iowa's finding that Oran Pape is eligible for football. Certain moulders of Big Ten thought profess to have proof that Pape really did play professional football. They aren't sure that Iowa authorities tried very hard to uncover the truth.

Jack Dempsey is hoping that a charity boxing show will get the rich folks of the city interested in his Coliseum productions. He's anxious to form a select group of ringsiders, something on the order of Rickard's 100 millionaires.

University of Chicago and Northwestern athletic departments are planning to make sure when the next football schedules are drawn that there won't be so many conflicting games played here. Notre Dame's use of the stadium has hurt the gate receipts of the local Big Ten institutions.

GOSSIP—

Red Grange says he went to the Illini dressing room after the Northwestern game. Zuppke grinned and greeted him, "Hello, Red. That's what I get for having a line of all seniors. The backs never got a chance. What can a back field man do when he's tackled before he reaches the line of scrimmage?"

Grange reports that his shoulder, wrenched in the pro game with Bennie Friedman's Giants, is feeling better. Thinks he'll be O. K. for the Bears' battle with the Green Bay Packers. Red says he just found out the other day that his brother, Garland, can run faster than he can.

SUGGESTIONS—

If Purdue and Minnesota finish the season undefeated let them play for the title in Soldiers' field and turn the gate receipts over to charity.

If they can't lease the field for Saturday afternoon let them play at night.

(Note—The conference has a rule prohibiting post season games.)

If the two schools are willing, abrogate the rule. What difference would it made to the other universities, anyhow?

DO YOU SUPPOSE—

That if the stock market keeps crashing some of the alumni groups may find it hard to meet payments due their football protégés.

Savoldi and Carideo enjoy being called "Irish?"

Any one remembers now what the Carnegie report uncovered?

Illinois would rather have been found athletically pure or won the Northwestern game?

Van Nice will run 80 yards for a touchdown against Wisconsin?

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Yale's stars on the gridiron this fall have been youths with front monikers of Albie and Alfie. Northwestern has a sophomore half back of great promise yclept Oswald.

Marsters Cheerful; Sure Dartmouth Will Not Miss Him

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 5.—(AP)—The fractured vertebra which ended Al Marsters' college football career has not affected him. He was in a cheerful mood today as he assured the disappointed Dartmouth student body that the team "can get along without me against Brown, Cornell, and the Navy."

"It's just one of the breaks of the game," Marsters told callers who crowded about his hospital cot. Much of his cheerfulness was due to the fact that Dr. John Gile, his physician, had told him he probably would be strong enough to journey to Philadelphia and watch his teammates battle the Navy Nov. 30.

Marsters told his friends he was not certain just how he received the injury in last Saturday's Yale game and said that his back did not pain him until he reached Hanover Sunday night, after driving 150 miles from his home in Arlington, Mass. He said he did not know who he was blocking on that fatal play, but thought it was Frank Marting, Yale tackle, a fraternity brother as well as a former Exeter teammate.

DRAKE DEPENDS ON AN ATOM TO UPSET N. DAME

King Small, but Mighty Irish Are Warned.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Drake university's all star team of press agents worked out in the loop yesterday, using Barnum and Bailey plays. While their aerial attack was reported successful in some instances, the literature bearers were tackled before they reached The Tribune Tower. Nor were they to be located in their palatial training quarters.

In the face of this catastrophe, however, we had the good fortune to run into an old grad who is keeping pretty busy singing Drake's praises on eve of the game with Notre Dame at Soldiers' field on Saturday. He had as many superlatives as any press agent that ever crashed a newspaper doorman, and we hope the stuff he's putting out is reasonably correct.

Nesbitt Whiz as Punter.

It seems there is a quarter back that everybody in the Missouri Valley conference calls the mighty atom, though his real name is Lynn King. He weighs only 149 pounds, but he is reputed to be the fourth highest scorer among collegiate ball players of these United States. Lynn hails from Villisca, Ia., where he made many records at ball toting, passing, and kicking during his high school career.

Most of the ball carrying for Drake is done by two men, King and Dick Nesbitt, the full back, a very earnest young man from Des Moines, who used to play at Kemper Military institute before he heard the call of dear old Drake. Dick is a whiz of a punter—honest, fellows, it's nothing unusual for him to kick 60 yards time after time.

Captain Used as Blocker.

Capt. Jack Barnes, also a Des Moines boy, used to be a whale of a ball carrier, but the system at Drake has held him down to the point where his principal function is blocking. He's a fine blocker and his work was a factor in Drake's winning the Missouri valley conference title this year and last.

Another youth scheduled to pester Notre Dame players at Soldiers' field is Charley Van Koten, a line plunger of exceptional talent.

Other Drake stars expected to start are Briley, Shearer, Wright, Don Carlos, Groustra, Faber and Wensel.

The Drake footballers will work out on Soldiers' Field tomorrow afternoon. Twenty-six of them will entrain from Des Moines tonight.

NOTRE DAME TEAMS BUSY

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—All footballers were out today as Notre Dame started the drive for Saturday's game with Drake at Soldiers' field.

The first and second varsity teams, fresh from two days' rest, were given a light work. The first club, after the backs had worked a while on pass defense, held a shadow offensive scrimmage against a freshman team, and the second team had dummy defense against frosh, using Drake formations.

Frank Leahy and Manfred Vezie, both of whom are nursing old injuries, worked with the second team at right tackle and right end, respectively. Dick Donoghue, who seems to have clinched the varsity right tackle post, and Tom Conley, were with the regulars in place of the two cripples.

Pinehurst Medalist Advances to Semi-Finals

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 6.—(AP)—David N. Tallman of Minneapolis, former western golf champion and medalist in the 36th annual autumn tournament of the Pinehurst Country club, today advanced to the semi-finals by defeating William Alexander of Glencoe, Ill., member of the Skokie Country club, by the score of 3 and 2 in the first round of match play.

DRAKE'S BEST

LYNN KING.

Stagg Tells His Team It's Not So Good

Coach Stagg is not letting his Chicago team labor under any delusions that it is a strong eleven. He found fault with everything last night, accusing his men of running signals poorly, giving away the plays by carelessness in taking positions after the huddle, and pointing out a multitude of details that give a team polish.

The Princeton victory gave the Maroons the impression they are a strong eleven and Stagg does not want them to go into the Wisconsin game Saturday with that idea.

On past performances the Maroons should be favored to beat the Badgers, as Thistlethwaite's team has not won a conference game, but the Wisconsin eleven is due for an uprising and may accomplish it on Stagg field.

Chicago was highly keyed for the Princeton encounter and Stagg will have difficulty working the boys up emotionally again this week. But the least he can do is eliminate overconfidence.

For the third time this week the Old Man devoted the entire session to forward passes, though the procedure was varied when the varsity was put on defense against Badger pass plays. The Maroons knocked down most of these efforts and had their own aerial offensive functioning.

LUSBY BACK IN UNIFORM

Madison, Wis., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Wisconsin went on the defensive against Chicago plays tonight, and found Stagg's style of overhead attack particularly bothersome. Several of the Badgers played well, however, among them Larry Shoemaker, tackle; Capt. John Parks, guard, and Lew Smith, end.

Shoemaker, the 205 pound Herrin, Ill., coal miner, is trying to keep Milo Lubratovich out of his left tackle berth and is succeeding. Lubratovich was still with the seconds tonight.

Ernie Lusby, Hyde Park half back, who practices kicking each summer along the Midway, donned his uniform for the first time this week and apparently has nearly recovered from his injuries in the Purdue game last Saturday.

The Maroons are Wisconsin's oldest rivals, the two schools having clashed first on the gridiron in 1894. In 22 battles since that time each team has won 14 contests, with four ties.

VARSITY HEARS 'HURRY UP' CRY OF OTHER DAYS

Kipke Plans Defense Tactics.

Old Grad to Help

ANN ARBOR, Mich. Nov. 6.—There's an added bit of color to the Michigan-Harvard game Saturday in that Charles Haff, '15, who was Michigan cheer leader when the Wolverines met the Crimson in 1914, will be on the field aiding Michigan's cause.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Under the eye of the veteran Hurry Up Yost, whose counsel has been sought by Coach Harry Kipke this week in the effort to break Michigan's losing streak at the expense of Harvard, Michigan's varsity took a thorough schooling in defense against Crimson plays this afternoon.

FIELDING YOST.

Clad in crimson jerseys, the freshman eleven went through Harvard running plays in a dummy scrimmage, with the varsity polishing up on defense. Prior to the regular drill Kipke had his Wolverines in the dressing rooms of Yost fieldhouse for a long chalk talk and blackboard drill.

Have Elaborate Defense.

When the Maise and Blue emerged for work tonight it was the first time in a week that they have shown any real spirit, and if Kipke only can convince them that they are a good bunch of players, Harvard may get more of a battle than is expected. Most of the chalk talk is suspected to have been taken up with instruction on defensive formations. From the appearance of the team on the field, Kipke has rigged up his most elaborate defensive plans of the year to stop Harvard.

At various times, depending on the plays used, Simrall, Dahlem, Gembis, Morrisson and Capt. Truskowski are used in the secondary. The Wolves now have almost as many defensive formations as they have offensive plays.

Yost was especially active tonight in giving the various linemen bits of individual instruction and tips on how to break up the Harvard running game, while Kipke dwelt on back field formations.

Yost Scouted Harvard.

Yost, who saw Harvard whip Florida, and Cappon, who also has scouted the Crimson, report plenty of power in the balanced Harvard back field. Putnam, Harper, Devans, and Wood are four whom Michigan expects to do most of the work. Although Kipke was unwilling to commit himself on his lineup, it is taken as a practical certainty that he will start Simrall, Dahlem, Gembis, and Morrison in the back field, Capt. Truskowski and Hewitt at ends, Hayden and Poorman at tackle, Steinke and Poe at guards, and Bovard at center.

NEVERS IS CARD WHICH DEFEATS PROVIDENCE, 16-0

Providence, R. I., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Ernie Nevers plunged, passed, and kicked the Chicago Cardinals to a 16 to 0 victory here tonight over Providence in the first night football game ever played in this city. It was one of the greatest individual exhibitions of football ever turned in by an individual player. Nevers threw a 46 yard pass to Kassel for the first touchdown, scored another by driving through the line and added three points on a 23 yard placement kick. He made one point after touchdown on another placement.

CARDS SIGN BAKER.

Bullet Baker, former University of Southern California star half back, has been signed to play with the Chicago Cardinals pro football team, according to Dr. David Jones, owner. Baker, a light, fast runner, and an excellent passer, will round out the back field and give the added threat needed to keep the opponents' attention from Ernie Nevers and his plunging possibilities inside the ten yard line.

Baker has several years' experience in pro football. He was with the New York Yankees and has played two years with the Green Bay Packers.

Wabash End Claims 1929 Football Record Run

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Wabash college is protesting because of the newspaper item about an Ohio Wesleyan man holds the season's record for a distance run. The Buckeye is chalked up for only 102 yards. Kenneth Wood, Wabash end, who lives in Chicago, ran 110 yards against Central Normal at Danville, Ind., last month. Wood had dropped back to kick, but when his line broke he ran for a touchdown.

summoned to the office of the commandant to explain.

His resignation ensued, but the routine of the war department deferred his release from the corps for two days during which time he continued to follow the routine of undergraduate life. Being then discharged without prejudice, the young man called for his bride and took her to Boston, where he is now employed on the staff of a newspaper, the city editor of which may now take him to task for being scooped on his own story.

Acquainted with Illini Plays.

The Army team seems fairly well acquainted with the plays which the Illinois athletes have undertaken in their public demonstrations thus far this season. Not only have the Army scouts been sitting in the press boxes with charts on which they recorded all they saw, but there are several cans of movie film in the football office which may or may not furnish such information as the scouts overlooked.

The football detachment for the journey to the middle west will consist of about 35 players and five other cadets for auxiliary duty, such as calling the plays to the fourth estate, counting the towels and sweaters and charging the pressure tank of the Army's rolling water bucket, a strange device with nozzles on it which squirts the athletes in the face, thus eliminating the familiar bucket and sponge.

The team will entrain at 5 p. m. tomorrow with the cadet corps massed at the station, emitting yelps and exhortations and will arrive at Danville, Ill., 25 miles from Champaign, Friday afternoon, to work out there and spend the night before the game.

ILLINI STOP ARMY PLAYS

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Otto Hills of Chicago replaced Burdick at right tackle in the Illinois line today as Zuppke sent the Illini through a snappy scrimmage against reserves and a freshman eleven. Hills is 6 feet 4, an inch under Burdick's stature and weighs 200 pounds.

Although the freshmen wore the colors of the Army and used the formations and plays of the cadets, none of them looked like Cagle or Murrel had been let loose. A few scattered gains of small yardage were made, but generally the Illini line withstood the attacks of the hard running freshmen backs.

The long passes, which were attempted in imitation of Cagle's custom, were not successful.

Robinson, a substitute from last year's squad, appeared as full back again and continued hitting the line with good results. Half backs who were used interchangeably were the old reliables, Timm, Walker, Mills and the newcomers, Yanuskus, Evans and Root. Yanuskus is one of the fastest men on the squad and twisted his way through the reserve forward wall for good gains. A relatively light scrimmage is on the program for tomorrow afternoon and at noon Friday the squad will be taken to the Champaign Country club.

34 Purple Gridders Named For Ohio Trip; Leave Tonight

Coach Dick Hanley will lead his aspiring Northwestern gridders out of Chicago tonight for Columbus where Saturday they will endeavor to hand Ohio State its first Western conference defeat of the year and at the same time keep the Purple within striking distance of the Big Ten title.

Thirty-four players have been assigned the task of upsetting the Scarlet and Gray. This squad together with coaches, trainers and other members of the Wildcat retinue will leave at 10:15 o'clock. They will arrive at the Ohio capital early tomorrow morning and will establish headquarters at the Columbus Athletic club.

The Wildcats were put through their final strenuous workout yesterday afternoon. In a long defensive scrimmage against the freshmen they looked fit and ready.

Bergherm Joins Squad.

The personnel making the trip includes: Half backs, Bill Griffin, Al Moore, Sid Burnstein, Oswald Baxter, Bob Hails, Dean Klarr and Jack Greenberg; quarter backs, Johnny Haas, Lee Hanley, Gil Johnson and Bert Riel; full backs, Rus Bergherm, Bill Calderwood and Harry Pritchard; ends, Larry Oliphant, Frank Baker, Ralph Eylar, John Singleton, Bob Gonya, Fred Witsell and Ted Egbert; centers, Mickey Erickson and Bob Clark; guards, Henry Anderson, Wade Woodworth, Jimmy Evans, John Spivey, Bill Davis, Ralph Sherberg and Bus Smith; tackles, Jack Riley, Dallis Marvil, Paul Engebritsen and Cliff Kinder.

Bergherm joined the squad yesterday for the first time this week and participated in the practice. He appeared ready for strenuous work and undoubtedly will be at full back Saturday.

Coach Hanley is expected to stand pat on the lineup that functioned so creditably against the Illini. The forward wall will remain intact. The back field, of course, will include Johnny Haas, veteran quarter back, and Moore and Burnstein, half backs.

Several other backs are almost certain to see action. Bill Calderwood, Lee Hanley and Bill Griffin and Oswald Baxter all are ready to play.

OHIO SHIFTS LINEUP

Columbus, O., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Discouraged by the action of his team, Coach Sam Willaman tonight revised Ohio State's grid personnel for the Northwestern game here Saturday. The suspension of Coffee was nothing compared to the shakeup today or the change to come, according to Willaman.

"You've got to get out there and fight," Willaman told his men today. "And you must work together. The first one I see putting on such actions as were seen in the last two weeks will be jerked from the field as quick as I can get a substitute out there," he said.

The revised lineup Willaman put on the field tonight showed changes at left end, right tackle, and right half back, Dill, Larkins, and Horn being the central figures on the shift. Dill looms as a certainty to supplant Fontaine at the post opposite Wesley Fesler. Larkins again is in shape to start at tackle in place of Bob Hauberich, and Horn will resume his place at half, since he's recovered enough to permit him to play. He will round out the back field composed of Holman, Holoomb, and McConnell.

LISTLESS PLAY BRINGS ORDER TO TURN IN UNIFORMS

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Accused by classmates of "laying down" and "throwing" a game to the East Side High school Oct. 19, eight members of the North Division High school football team have turned in their uniforms at the request of Coach Len Kampine.

While Coach Kampine and Principal E. A. Werner had no comment to make, they confirmed the action. Students stated the action was taken because of "insubordination," breaking training rules, and "laying down" in scheduled games.

Among those dismissed from the squad was Capt. Tom Dobbertin. He was replaced at an election yesterday by Harold Riedeckel. The players strongly resented the accusations.

According to one player, the tempest had its antecedents in a mixup last fall when the team was denied its annual "emblem day" program and as a consequence, refused to accept letters. The player said the principal demanded an apology from team members after stories of the affair were published in newspapers. There had been strife in the school since that time, he said.

2 SOPHOMORES TAKE LIMELIGHT AT MARQUETTE

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Two sophomore back field men on the Marquette university football squad have shown such promise in the hilltop scrimmage this week that Coach Frank J. Murray is considering starting them against the Creighton university Bluejays in Friday night's game here.

The pair of youngsters are Myles Graney, Oconto Falls, Wis., and Mel Brosseau, Chicago, both of whom reeled off sensational gains in floodlight drill. Brosseau also is an excellent forward passer and may solve the difficulties that have beset Marquette's aerial attack this fall.

Final floodlight drill of the week was held tonight, and the squad is to taper off for the game with a light workout tomorrow afternoon. Dummy scrimmage was the principal feature.

E. C. Delaporte, who recently resigned as director of physical education of the Chicago public schools to accept a position with the Chicago Athletic association, was the guest at a banquet last night at the Auditorium hotel. Four hundred of Delaporte's former associates in the physical education department and other friends attended.

Gen. John V. Clinnin and A. A. Stagg were speakers. Sam Lifschults of Crane high school was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Mickey Walker, world's middleweight boxing champion, was freed of charges of owning a bottle of liquor in Municipal court today. Prosecuting attorneys were unable to prove that the bottle belonged to Walker.

Second Place Teams Score More than Big 7 Leader

Benton, Ill., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Scoring achievements of the Big Seven grid teams have tied two squads in second place. West Frankfort and Carbondale have each surpassed the leading Harrisburg squad in the number of total points amassed in the same number of games. Harrisburg, with three victories in as many games played, has scored but 36 points, while Carbondale, in two victories and one defeat, has totaled 65 points, and West Frankfort has run up a total of 52 points.

16 Bicycle Teams Start Six Day Whirl Tonight

The pedal pushers open their Chicago fall campaign tonight. Sixteen two man teams, made up of the best cyclists America and Europe can provide, will bound away from the starter at Paddy Harmon's Stadium tonight and they'll continue their round and round endeavor until the six day event comes to a close at 11 o'clock next Wednesday night.

Seasoned campaigners in the bike saucer will mingle with the usual array of new faces. One of the leading pairs is the veteran Reggie McNamara and Gaetano Belloni, pronounced boloney. Jimmy Walthour, whose dad pedaled bikes ahead of him, will be teamed with Charley Winter in another outstanding combination. Fred Spencer and Gerard Debaets, both well known to Chicago bike addicts, form another team which will bear watching.

Fred Spencer and Gerard Debaets, Franco Georgetti and Pietro Linari, Gaetano Belloni and Reggie McNamara, Charles Winter and Jimmy Walthour, Ernest Kockler and Carl Stockholm, Norman Hill and Tony Beckman, Alfred Letourner and Paul Brocardo, Victor Rausch and Franz Deulberg, Paul Croly and Harry Horan, Charles Ritter and Robert Oliver, Harris and Horace Horder, Richard Lamb and George Dempsey, Emilio Richfi and Willie Reiger, Mike Rodak and Harvey Black, Alfred Gearis and Waldorf McClay, Alfonso Zucchetti and August Vermeersch.

8,000 See Special Events.

Freddie Spencer, American sprint champion, defeated Franco Georgetti of Italy, the American motor-paced title holder, in straight heats, in the feature event of last night's special events. Spencer won the first heat by two yards and crossed the finish line inches in advance of the Italian in the second. The opening events attracted 8,000.

Otto Stender of the Henry A. A., who had an allowance of 45 yards, won the half mile handicap for amateurs, and August Vermeersch of Belgium took the race for professionals over the same distance.

Debaets' Team Wins.

Gerard Debaets of Belgium and Reggie McNamara of America won the match race from Pietro Linari and Gaetano Belloni of Italy. The event was decided in three heats, the first of which was one mile. The Italians took the second, which was an Australian pursuit. In the deciding heat of one mile Debaets nipped Linari at the tape.

Jimmy Walthour Jr. of New York City won the five mile open professional race after a close finish with Oscar Rass of Detroit, Mich. All riders took advantage of the event to loosen up for the long grind. Horan and Winter fell on the backstretch and shortly afterward Black and Ritter went to the boards. There were a few spills in the amateur races, but aside from skin bruises, none of the riders was seriously hurt. Summaries:

4 RIVETERS OF PURDUE POUND ON TITLE DOOR

Who'll Stop Welch, White, Harmeson, Yunevich?

BY HARLAND ROHM.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 6.—Inasmuch as four seems to be a legal and customary number of football players in a team's back field, with the resultant epithets of "Four Horsemen," "Four Elephants," or "Four Crocodiles," this paragraph, ladies and gentlemen, introduces the "Four Riveters" of Purdue's Boilermakers.

They need little more introduction than to call them by name, as the three ball carriers have been making themselves known to opponents to the extent of ten touchdowns in five games, while the fourth is the gate crasher who pushes opposing iron men out of the way.

Nine Boilermakers Score.

Yet, before going on with the discussion of the four who are making Purdue a name to be feared this year, it might be of moment to recall that nine individuals have taken part in the Boilermakers' scoring this year. And, as a cheerful note to other conference teams who were looking forward to the graduation of Welch, Harmeson, and Caraway, four of the nine are sophomores.

The Four Riveters, who tonight mixed passes and worked on a defense against them, in anticipation of the flood tide of Ole Mississippi's power next Saturday, of course, are Glen Harmeson, Ralph Welch, Alex Yunevich, and John White. The others who have scored at least one touchdown for the Old Gold and Black are William Mackle, James Purvis, Lewis Pepa, Ed Caraway, and Howard Kissell. Caraway, Kissell, and Mackle are ends.

Probably the answer to Purdue's back field power, outside of the fact that the Boilermakers have a mighty good bunch of individual back field men, lies in a story which came out of the Chicago game. Purdue had the ball on the Maroon's 5 yard line and the quarter back, White, called for a drive on tackle with the right half back carrying the ball. Welch was playing right half and as they came out of the huddle, he turned to his buddy, Harmeson, and said "You play right half. I'll take that blanked tackle out of the way." Welch, who might have made the touchdown, helped make the hole, and Harmeson went over for 6 points.

Harmeson Averages 6 Yards.

Here at Purdue, they're cheering Pest Welch more this year than that famous day in 1927 when he ran wild against Harvard. For Welch has been sacrificing individual brilliance and ball carrying ability to take more part in the unpraised job of blocking.

Perhaps there's another angle to this for Harmeson, who for two years carried the burden of directing the team play at quarter back, with little chance to shine as a ball carrier, finally drew his release from calling signals and got his chance to show what he can do when taking a pigskin from one place to another is his sole job. His answer so far is an average of six yards for each try, the best in the conference.

Before talking of those other two Riveters, here's another story relative to Welch and Harmeson. Harmeson, as most every one knows, has flat feet and bunions and the only way to take a smile off his face is to step on his foot. In practice one night Welch is reputed to have made a dive over the line and landed on Harmeson's head. Whereupon, the jokesters allege, Harmeston sat down and began to howl that his feet had been hurt.

White Clears the Way.

Incidentally, though both carry the ball with skill, they divide the other jobs. Harmeson tosses most of the passes, and place kicks, while Welch does most of the punting. But what makes this tricky is that they sometimes switch off, with Harmeson punting and Welch tossing passes.

If you're interested in such statistics, both Harmeson and Welch play basketball and football and the former may try to equal his brother Harold and win a fourth sport letter in track or tennis this spring. Harold Harmeson, captain of the Purdue football team in 1925, and Elmer Oliphant have been the only four sport letter men at Purdue.

A couple of husky sophomores fit in with that pair of seniors, Alex the Great Yunevich and John White, the latter a stocky 170 pound chunk from Louisville, where he was a star in four sports. His particular job at present is to clear the path for the other three and handle punts.

Yunevich, a German-Russian-Lithuanian from Bicknell, is another all-sports high school star, who came on to prove what he can do with his 186 pounds. One thing he showed was three of the five touchdowns Purdue scored on Michigan.

Four Riveters—they're hammering away with the idea of clinching Purdue's first Big Ten football championship.

In the Wake of the News

IOWA! ICONOCLAST OR NOT?

IOWA, under temporary Big Ten suspension but permitted to complete its schedule, is conceded to be the principal barrier to clean football slates for Minnesota and Purdue, conference leaders and tied for the title. Hawkeyes meet the first of these tests against Minnesota at Iowa City Saturday, the other at Lafayette a week later.

If a defeated eleven is out of the title hunt, Iowa is out because it lost its first conference tilt to Ohio State, 7 to 6, by the unsatisfactory point after touchdown route in a contest wherein neutrals conceded the Hawkeyes were superior to the Buckeyes. Iowa tied Illinois and the Illini were lucky to escape with that. It defeated Wisconsin by practically the same margin as did Purdue.

Form as well as dope favors the Gophers, but Hawkeyes have the reputation of proving tough foes for the northmen and they may prove all of that and more so long as Glassgow is in the game. For Purdue a week later there's a chance the Hawks may be "softened up" a bit after bucking the Minnesota power machine.

Iowa first swept on to the horizon in these parts back in 1899 when it tied Chicago's champions, 5 to 5, and did not lose a game. It showed that this was no fluke the following year when it beat Chicago and Michigan and tied Northwestern. Again in 1921 Iowa had a clean slate with victories over Illinois, Purdue, Minnesota, Indiana and Northwestern. The Hawks repeated against the same teams in 1922 except that Ohio State took Indiana's place, but title honors were shared with Michigan and Chicago. After beating Minnesota last fall and on the way to a possible title, Iowa met unexpected late season reverses from Wisconsin and Michigan.

KIECKHEFER IS DEFEATED IN CUE TRYOUT TOURNEY

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Three Chicagoans went down to defeat today in the northern section elimination tournament held here to determine an entrant in the national three cushion billiard championships.

By one point Charles McCourt of Cleveland won from Earl Lookabaugh of Chicago, 50 to 49, in 60 innings. McCourt's high run was four, Lookabaugh 7. Art Thurnblad of Chicago, who had suffered two previous defeats, defeated the favorite, Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago, 50 to 42, in 52 innings. The winner had high runs of three sixes and an unfinished seven. The best Kieckhefer could do was a five.

Earl Lookabaugh of Chicago defeated Joe Moriarity of Chicago in the only evening game. The score was 50 to 38 in 64 innings. Four games tomorrow afternoon and night will wind up the round robin. The schedule is: Afternoon—Kieckhefer vs. Moriarity and Lookabaugh vs. Thurnblad. Evening—Pairings to be determined by afternoon results.

DE PAUL SQUAD BACK TO NORMAL AS WOUNDS HEAL

The many woes that have beset Coach Eddie Anderson of De Paul since the opening of the season and which reached a climax in the Loyola game last Sunday when only seven reserves occupied the players' bench, apparently have been tossed for a loss. The squad, reduced to a mere handful through injuries, attained a normal aspect yesterday when Anderson mustered twenty-five men for practice.

The Blue Demons immediately set to work for their intersectional game with St. Mary's university of San Antonio at Soldiers' field Nov. 17. The Texans have rolled up the total of 176 points, compared to 26 for their opponents so far this season.

Excepting Ed Finnegan, veteran tackle, none of the regulars sustained more than sprains and bruises in the Loyola tilt. Finnegan, who is playing his final season at De Paul, suffered a serious head injury and will be out of the line-up indefinitely.

Michigan Prexy Speaks His Mind on Sport Problem

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—"The cure for the present ills is not more rules, but education of the alumni and public generally in a saner attitude toward intercollegiate athletic relations," said Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan in an administration comment on the recent Carnegie report.

Dr. Ruthven holds the public responsible for the present form of collegiate athletics and said, "In the opinion of the administration, both Michigan and other universities are just at present in a transitional stage between worse conditions and better.

"We cannot deny the existence of collegiate athletics nor the pressure from enthusiastic alumni and others, which is largely responsible for present conditions. This fad, we believe, is about to wane. But even at its height we do not think there is any justice in refusing to admit to the university an athlete because he is an athlete or in denying him the same sympathetic help in his studies that we want to give every student."

LOYOLA PREPARES FOR NIGHT GAME; USES GHOST BALL

The Loyola grid squad ran through its last home workout yesterday preparatory to meeting Loyola of New Orleans Monday night. The ghost ball made its initial appearance of the season on the north side lot when Lamont kept his squad out after sundown so as to get the team used to handling the ball in the dark, as the game Monday will mark the Ramblers' night debut on the gridiron.

The regulars experienced some difficulty in busting up the short pass attack used by the frosh in last night's scrimmage, although the yearlings' running game was consistently smeared, due to the good work of the wingmen, Sextro, McNeil, and Weimer.

GRINNELL GUARD MAY BE OUT OF TEACHERS GAME

Grinnell, Ia., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—With a layoff of ten days since their last game and the possible loss of their giant left guard on account of injuries, the Grinnell college football players are not optimistic, as they prepare for their fifth game of the season with Iowa State Teachers' college here Friday.

Coach Lester Watt's protégés came through the Drake night encounter with only slight injuries. Humphrey, right tackle, suffered a broken rib and Thomas, quarter back, received bruises. The local eleven was doped to take the coming tutor tilt until Charles Parish, veteran guard, fractured a bone in his left leg.

Amateur Boxing

The weekly amateur boxing show will be held at the Coulon gymnasium, 1154 E. 63d street, tonight. Among the fighters who will appear are Sexton Johnson, Walter Palm, Jimmy Molitor, Art Mitchell, and Axel Johnson.

Tony Fagiano and George Shrosbree, local featherweights, will meet in the main event of Joe Coffey's show at the Hippodrome tomorrow night. Seven other fights complete the card.

CAGE LEAGUE MEETS.

The Chicago Commercial and Manufacturers' Basketball league will hold its first meeting at 211 South State street tonight. Managers of all teams are requested to be present. The meeting will convene at 8 o'clock.

DELAVAN PREPS WIN.

Elkhorn, Wis., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Delavan High school defeated Mukwonago, 34 to 0, at Delavan this afternoon.

Gophers Work Out Against Iowa Plays

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Minnesota's regulars, with the exception of the cripples, Nagurski, Tanner and Pulkrabeck, received more instructions in defensive tactics today as they continued their preparation for Iowa.

Freshmen ran through Hawkeye plays against the varsity for more than an hour. Then Spears went to work on his own offense with a stiff signal drill.

Hoeffler, who played the entire Indiana game, gave a good account of himself at right end, while Reihsen and Burdick filled in at left guard and full back, respectively.

It seemed probable today that all of the cripples would start against Iowa Saturday, but reserves received individual drills to be ready for an emergency.

Following their final home practice tomorrow night, the Gophers will head for Cedar Rapids, where they will work out Friday.

Practically every one of the 5,000 tickets sent for this game has been sold with Minnesota rooters traveling to Iowa City by train, airplane and automobiles.

SHAKES UP HAWKEYES

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Aroused over the listless play of his linemen, Coach Ingwersen shook up the Iowa lineup this afternoon and gave the team an unexpected scrimmage in preparation for the Minnesota game.

Westra and Ely, giant varsity tackles, were ordered to the second team after freshmen had repeatedly sifted through to block varsity pass attempts. Benjamin and Gilchrist came up from the B team to plug the holes in the forward wall.

Gus Mastrogany, left end, who injured his ankle in yesterday's drill, was on crutches today, and Bruce Thomas, varsity full back, continued to watch the drill in street clothes.

DIAVOLO ROMPS TO EASY WIN IN $10,000 BOWIE

Uses Stake as Warmup for Cup Race.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—The Wheatley stable's Diavolo accomplished the striking feat here today of using the $10,000 Bowie handicap, one of Pimlico's outstanding stake events, as a mere trial for the two and a quarter mile cup race to be run here on the closing day of the meeting. The son of Whisk Broom II. and Vexations so decisively whipped a field of five others that his jockey, Jimmy Burke, was able to rate him going past the winning post at the end of a mile and a half of the Bowie.

The others were staggering and punch drunk from a dizzy pace at that mark, but Diavolo went merrily on for a full two and a quarter miles, flashing a performance that again brings up the question of whether Sun Beau is his superior.

Display Finishes Third.

Six lengths back of the smooth moving Diavolo finished W. E. Caskey Jr.'s William T., whipping Walter J. Salmon's Display for the place by two lengths. Then, in order, finished Bateau, winner of the Suburban; Genie, winner of the Bowie last year, and Stream Line, stablemate of Bateau.

The race was run over a fast track and Diavolo carried 127 pounds, conceding weight to all the others and 38 pounds to William T., which was the light weight of the field. The winner's fractional time was :24 2-5, :48 4-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:40 2-5, 2:06 2-5 and 2:23 1-5.

Crowd Made Him Favorite.

Few more popular victories have been scored at Pimlico, as even the lay spectators could realize the class of a colt that was next to last in the early running but moved up as he pleased and then drew away from the others like a train away from a railroad station. Diavolo was the favorite of the big crowd and paid $4.30.

YANKEES SUED FOR $540,000 BY PANIC VICTIMS

New York, Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Charging that 7,500 persons fleeing rain became panic stricken, trampling a 60 year old man to death and injuring nearly a score of others when bleacher gates at the Yankee stadium, which should have been open, barred exits, a suit on behalf of eighteen persons for a total of $540,000 against the American league baseball club of New York was placed today on the general calendar for trial in the Supreme court.

The panic took place Sunday, May 19, last.

Trespassing Hunters to Be Arrested

BY BOB BECKER.

Pheasant and rabbit hunters who are figuring on a big hunt next Sunday, the opening day of the Illinois pheasant, rabbit, prairie chicken, and quail season, will do well to keep out of Du Page county unless they have written permission from land owners giving them shooting privileges.

According to a statement made yesterday by Sheriff Lawrence Hattendorf of Du Page county, not less than 100 deputy sheriffs will be distributed throughout the county at daylight Sunday morning to protect posted property from trespassing hunters. The presence of this squad of deputies means that a roving shooter who enters upon posted land will have little chance of getting away with this kind of illegal hunting. The Illinois game code specifically describes hunting on any one's land "where notice that hunting or trespassing is forbidden," as an unlawful act.

Sheriff Tells Plans.

In telling of the plans of his office to enforce the no trespass feature of the Illinois game code, Sheriff Hattendorf said yesterday:

"We are going after the trespassers harder than ever this year. Next Sunday there will be at least 100 deputy sheriffs on the job to see that estates and farms which are posted against trespassers and hunters are not bothered. This drive has the coöperation of the Izaak Walton league whose members will assist to see that the game code is obeyed.

"Nearly all of the land owners in the county have posted their lands against free lance hunters so there is very little so-called open shooting ground in the county and unless visiting hunters stay on property where they have written permission to hunt they will get into trouble."

Fifty Fined Already.

The sheriff reports that already Du Page county magistrates have assessed fines against fifty trespassers who, during the last few weeks, have killed game before the opening of the season.

Du Page county's stand against the irresponsible gunner who refuses to acknowledge the right of the property owner to bar any one from his land, is based on section 24 of the Illinois game code. Hunters should get acquainted with this regulation and then think twice before climbing over a fence to hunt on posted land. The regulation says:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to hunt . . . . upon the land of another . . . . where notice that hunting or trespassing is forbidden, is posted or exhibited in a conspicuous place on such land."

Start the Day with a Mint Julep Shave and Start it Right!

Once you get a box of BRISK, open the lid and shave with BRISK, you will never "monkey" with anybody's tube, stick or powder.

Take the flat, oval box of BRISK in one hand and rub your moist brush over BRISK.

Work up lather on your face. Start in shaving. Boy! How the whiskers go down before your razor when BRISK paves the way.

Boy! What a difference it makes when you start the day with a BRISK shave. It sets you up like a big check in the morning mail. One is tempted to go into all sorts of ecstasies over the glorious shave, but the words "mint julep shave" tell everything!

BRISK makes a mint julep shave because of the things it does on your face and to your spirits. First of all, BRISK lathers luxuriously and freely in hot or cold water—and plenty of lather is the first requirement of a good shave. BRISK absorbs two to three times the moisture of water that old fashioned shaving cream does. Hence it makes two to three times the amount of lather—and a lather that stays moist on your face until you finish your shave!

Lubricates The Cutting Stroke

The rich, moistureful lather quickly "soaks" the beard oil and soaks the hair soft for easy, clean cutting. Moreover, it lubricates the cutting stroke of the razor. You know how a bit of soap on a saw eases its passage through a log—well, that's how BRISK smooths the path of the razor. The razor does not "pull" or bump along over your face, but glides easily over the skin, cutting down the hair cleanly and closely and almost without effort.

Every stroke of the razor does a clean job. No need to go over and over the same spot and "butcher" your face to get a close shave.

Increases Your Face Value

The man who starts out in the morning with a sore, raw, red face starts under a handicap. The man who starts out with his face fresh and looking fit starts out in a winning spirit. BRISK gives you the kind of shave that starts the day right for you and keeps you in good trim all day long.

BRISK is new, even unto the package. It's a flat, oval tin box made for men only. And it holds an amazing lot of shaves because you don't have to use so little compared to other shaving creams. Get BRISK now at any good drug store or toilet goods counter—fifty cents.

BRISK has four brothers: ZEST, a refreshing after-shaving lotion; TRIM, a hair dressing in cleanly stick form; SMOOTH, a powder that kills shine without showing powder; STYP, a new type "stoptic" that closes cuts promptly!

BE ON YOUR GUARD, MOTORISTS! "FREEZE-UP" WEATHER IS COMING . . .

SNOW AND COLDER! That's what the weather man will be predicting very soon. Just one look at this picture makes you think about getting some Denatured Alcohol put in your car. Better play safe and have the nearest garage or filling station put some Denatured Alcohol in your car today. It's the only sure way to protect yourself against costly repair bills later on.

CAR WON'T START! This careless motorist left his car standing in the cold too long . . . motor froze up and the starter couldn't turn it over when he stepped on the button. That certainly sounds like a lot of trouble . . . but it may be worse. Perhaps the radiator is broken or the cylinder head cracked. Wise motorists are getting Denatured Alcohol put in their cars . . . it ends all this inconvenience.

Take 2 minutes today to protect your car against freeze-ups with DENATURED ALCOHOL

IT'S due, car owners. Coming any day . . . maybe tonight! Winter . . . with its frosty mornings, below-freezing nights, dangerous day-time temperature . . .

Take no chances with that car of yours. Once frozen it's never the same . . . and in less than 2 minutes you can avoid all danger of such a happening.

For it takes only 96 seconds to make your car ready for freezing temperatures at any place where you buy gas and oil.

Just drive in to the nearest garage or filling station that shows the orange and green Denatured Alcohol sign . . . Without the slightest delay, with no bothersome overhauling whatever . . they'll consult a handy chart, put in as much Denatured Alcohol as your particular make of car requires, check it with an Alco-Tester . . .

And away you drive ready for winter with your cooling system protected by the surest, safest, most economical anti-freeze you can get.

Sure . . . because with Denatured Alcohol you can protect your car to any degree of temperature!

Safe . . . because Denatured Alcohol is harmless to rubber and metal alike. Can't hurt water pumps, rot rubber hose, gum-up motors, cause short circuits.

As for its economy . . . figure it out yourself! You buy only what you need and pay for only what you use. You have no special overhauling costs to meet. And you can buy Denatured Alcohol for a fraction of the cost of certain preparations.

Denatured Alcohol is approved by every manufacturer of motor cars and enthusiastically endorsed by all radiator makers.

Remember, too, that Denatured Alcohol is backed by 25 years of successful use in 30,000,000 cars . . . and you can get it any time, anywhere . . . as easily as you can get gas!

The Industrial Alcohol Institute, Inc., Graybar Building, New York City.

YEP, IT'S CRACKED! That's the bad news the repairman is telling this motorist. Same old story . . . left his car outdoors all night . . . down went the thermometer. And now there's a big repair bill staring him in the face. Play safe . . . use Denatured Alcohol, the most economical anti-freeze you can get.

PLAYING SAFE! Cold spells won't catch this driver unprepared. He's having his radiator filled with Denatured Alcohol and checked with the Alco-Tester.

SIX INDISPUTABLE FACTS

You've heard a lot about anti-freezes. Here are the real facts in the case . . . the indisputable reasons why more motorists use Denatured Alcohol than all other anti-freezes combined.

1. An entire season's supply of Denatured Alcohol usually costs less than half as much as one filling of some preparations.
2. Denatured Alcohol is harmless to radiators, engines and electrical systems. It will not corrode metal parts or attack rubber hose and does not cause leaks.
3. No special service is required to make your car ready for winter. Just put Denatured Alcohol in your radiator as it is.
4. Every car manufacturer approves Denatured Alcohol, and the firm that made your radiator is also emphatic in its endorsement.
5. If your protective solution is lost through accident, the cost of replacement with Denatured Alcohol is usually one-sixth that of replacement with some preparations.
6. You can get Denatured Alcohol anywhere. Service when you need it, wherever you are.

TRADE BRACED TO WITHSTAND DROP IN STOCKS

Steel Industry Keeps Sails Trimmed.

BY O. A. MATHER.

There is no disguising the fact that the collapse of the stock markets is affecting general business adversely. The actual losses of an army of speculators and the wiping out of "paper profits" of still another army cannot but cause caution and hesitancy.

But for a people to become demoralized over an inevitable and long predicted readjustment in securities values is as senseless as to ignore present facts and probable future results. Trade conditions always have been affected by stock market upheavals, but whether the effect has been temporary or prolonged has depended on conditions other than the stock market situation.

It is present sober judgment that general conditions now are far better than at the time of previous stock market declines. There is no inflation of commodity prices, of stocks of goods and of commercial credit. Conditions both in the factories and on the farms are about normal. Therefore, there is justified hope and belief that business will suffer a relatively brief period of dislocation.

Initial Effect of Break.

That the stock market happenings have affected the steel industry is told by the mid-week trade reviews. But this industry, just as the automobile and other industries, has kept sails pretty well trimmed and is prepared to weather a squall.

"The initial effect of the stock market break on the iron and steel industry has been to accentuate caution on the part of buyers," the Iron Age says. "New business has been light and the placing of some prospective tonnage has been delayed, indicating that purchasers wish to obtain a better appraisal of the influence of the securities debacle on their own business before making further commitments in raw materials.

"Cancellations reported, however, are almost negligible and specifications against unfilled orders have held up well, with reductions chiefly of the kind that would have been made regardless of developments in Wall street. The low inventories of large consuming industries are among favorable features of the situation.

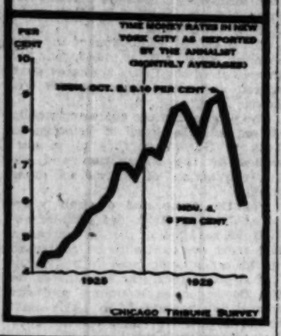
"Thus far, few evidences of reduced popular demand for consumption goods have appeared, except in the automobile industry. Automobile makers generally are revising production schedules downward. Consumer demand for goods outside of the luxury or semi-luxury class is expected to hold its own unless serious unemployment should develop.

Remain at High Rate.

"Farm implement manufacturers have not altered their production programs, which remain at a high rate. Improvement is looked for in the demand for railroad equipment, since lower money rates will enable the carriers to market equipment trust certificates more easily."

Steel ingot production this week is rated at an average of 77 to 78 per cent of capacity, compared with 80 per cent a week ago and 86 per cent a year ago. The U. S. Steel corporation is above 80 per cent and independents are below 75 per cent.

Time Money Rates Have Declined Sharply Since the Stock Market Break



BOARD OF TRADE RESTRICTS TRADING RIGHTS OF MEMBERS

The controversy between the Chicago Stock Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade was further complicated yesterday when Board of Trade members voted to prohibit members from trading on any Chicago exchange which attempted to limit trading activities of Board of Trade members on their own exchange. The vote was 837 to 147.

The argument between the two groups started with the listing on the Board of Trade of several stocks already traded in on the stock exchange. The amendment to the rules voted yesterday parallels a rule of the stock exchange which prohibits stock exchange members from trading on any exchange listing the same securities.

Samuel P. Arnot, president of the Board of Trade, said that houses holding dual memberships will be given time to adjust their accounts before a strict application of the rule is enforced.

Ford Output for 10 Months Is 1,810,997 Cars, Trucks

New York, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Production of the Ford Motor company during the first ten months of the current year was 1,810,997 cars and trucks, officials of the company announced today. Production for the month of October was 177,483 cars and trucks, an increase of 55,801 over the production during the same month of last year.

Small Loans Are Assuming Dignity of Big Business

BY SCRUTATOR.

The making of small loans on collateral or on promissory paper that would in many cases not be recognized by commercial banks is big business in the United States, although it does not amount in volume to anything like the installment credit activities.

An estimate from a reliable source puts the amount of such lending, with the upper limit of the individual loan at $300, as high as a half billion a year, with $275,000,000 or more of loan company funds constantly out. The amount of installment credit outstanding is variously figured at four to five billions.

In the loan shark days it was found that honest people who found themselves in circumstances that required ready money often had to pay interest rates that were equivalent to 100 per cent or more. The conditions aroused public sentiment and the Russell Sage Foundation made an exhaustive survey that resulted in a recommendation that laws be passed permitting small loans to be made at a rate of 3½ per cent a month, or 42 per cent a year.

Pass Legislation.

Twenty-six states have passed legislation based on this recommendation, and although 42 per cent seems an enormous toll, still it was so much better than what had been in the past that social and welfare groups regarded the new legal status of the business as a fine accomplishment.

For one thing, it legalized the charging of a rate of interest that made the lending profitable, whereas the loan shark was a violator of the usury laws and kept himself and his doings as far in the dark as possible. Now corporations making the little loan are so respectable that one or two of them have their securities listed on leading stock exchanges.

It is rather obvious that the small consumptive loan cannot be made at a rate that compares with that charged by a commercial bank. To begin with, the bank must pay dividends only on its capital stock and gets a large part of its loaning funds from depositors. The small loan maker, generally speaking, has only his capital to lend. All the expenses, plus the losses on bad debts, must be added into the interest charged on the actual lending capital.

Cuts Legal Rate.

It was often difficult to make legislators see that they should authorize such a high rate as 42 per cent. This legal rate may, in fact, be higher than is necessary now. One of the largest companies in the field has pointed with pride to its record of cutting the rate to 2½ per cent a month and claims that by doing so it has increased its lendings from thirteen millions to thirty millions. And it asserts further that only one-half of one per cent of its lendings constitutes the total loss.

Savings in the United States are large. Perhaps ten billion dollars a year is available for investment. But despite the wide distribution of prosperity, it has been shown by statisticians that less than one-fourth of the people with incomes of any kind have incomes of more than $2,000 a year. Many of these find their incomes allow no appreciable margins for saving.

Emergencies arise that require ready money. A death means funeral costs. A birth means doctor and hospital bills, unless the family prefers to take advantage of charity or free services by counties and municipalities. The independent wage earner prefers to pay his way. It is rather significant that the loan companies make few loans to single men or to older couples whose children have reached an earning stage.

Recognized Necessity.

For the family man of moderate means to have a source where he can get funds in emergencies is recognized as an economic necessity. Hence the special legal recognition of the small loan business.

It is a tribute to the integrity of the American wage earner that he can, even at 30 per cent, obtain a loan on nothing more substantial than his agreement to pay. The loan companies, or some of them, at least, insist that their decision to lend depends on what the applicant's home looks like. If that is all right, they may go so far as to make the loan even if he is out of work.

There are a variety of reasons given in requests for small loans. Chief among them is debt already contracted and overdue. Unemployment, illness, and death still require money. No way has yet been found to furnish funds for such purposes at commercial banking rates and the small loan business, even charging from 19 to 42 per cent, performs a needed service.

Record of Leading Issues During Second Collapse of Stock Market

The following table shows how 100 representative stocks in the principal industries declined yesterday and also their present prices compared with closing prices of Tuesday, Oct. 29, when the previous collapse terminated, and closing prices of Thursday, Oct. 31, following the two-day recovery. It will be seen that yesterday's final prices in a number of instances were lower than on Oct. 29, while others are only slightly higher, showing that the recovery has been practically nullified.

CHICAGO STOCK VALUES TAKE ANOTHER FALL

Middle West (Old) Off 65 Points

BY GEORGE HAMMOND.

The pressure of considerably more selling than buying orders in the Chicago stock market yesterday brought another drop of prices which resulted in a series of losses ranging as high as 65 points. The most drastic declines, however, were confined to a few issues in which trading was light.

Auburn Automobile led the automotive division with a 45 point drop on sales of about 700 shares. Middle West Utilities old stock lost 65 points after a turnover of around 1,300 shares. Commonwealth Edison was off 27 points on sales of less than 1,000 shares.

An exception to the rule was Ryerson Steel, which moved up a point on small sales. After the close, directors announced the declaration of an extra dividend of 50 cents a share. This action marks the first anniversary of the offering of the stock to the public.

Makes Excellent Showing.

Donald M. Ryerson, chairman of the board, stated that the directors felt justified in passing along some of the company's prosperity in view of the excellent showing in sales volume and earnings made during the last twelve months. Sales for the ten months ended Oct. 31 totaled $39,382,500, compared with $25,182,282 in the same months of last year.

Grigsby-Grunow led the radio group with a loss of 10½ points to 20, after which the stock rallied a point to close with a net decline of 9⅜ points. B. J. Grigsby, president, announced that net profits, sales volume and factory

SCENT MYSTERY IN AUCTION OF CIGAR SHARES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 6.—While shares of Webster Eisenlohr, Inc., manufacturers of several popular brands of cigars, were being traded in today on the New York stock exchange at prices ranging between 8⅛ and 7¼, a block of 189,760 shares representing more than 41 per cent of the outstanding 453,000 shares was sold at public auction at 2¼ a share. The ownership of this stock and the reason for its sale at auction instead of through the exchange facilities were not disclosed.

The price of 2¼ a share represents a loss of $569,280 from the lowest price which the same shares brought on the New York stock exchange today and a drop of $21,073,360 from its high point this year on the exchange.

The sale aroused much conjecture in Wall street where guesses were made that the stock auctioned represented the interest held by Anthony Schneider, president of Webster Eisenlohr, who was killed Oct. 30 by a fall from his apartment window, or that of David A. Schulte, head of the Schulte Stores, who resigned from his active participation in the management of Webster Eisenlohr about three weeks ago. Officials of the company denied that it was the stock holdings of Mr. Schneider, and Mr. Schulte declared that it was not his stock.

Another suggestion was that the stock might represent the interest of the Union Cigar company, which controls Webster Eisenlohr, Inc. No confirmation could be obtained.

Western Securities Crash in San Francisco

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Prices of western securities were again knocked down on the local exchanges by New York selling today. Leaders fell two to six dollars a share on renewal of bear attacks that sent prices tumbling ten to thirty dollars a share. Losses at the day's low prices were: Transamerica, $6.50; Caterpillar, $6; Standard Oil of California, more than $3; Pacific Gas and Electric, $6.25; Pacific Lighting, $8.35; Golden State Milk, $2.75; Union Oil and Shell Union, $2 each, and Kolster, $2.87½.

The Influence of Public Favor on Security Values

INVESTORS whose experience in buying securities dates back over many years will recall that at various periods certain types enjoyed unusual popularity. The pendulum would swing toward bonds and perhaps preferred stocks at one time, then over to common stocks at another.

Both bonds and stocks can advantageously be included in most well balanced accounts. Accordingly investors, while giving due recognition to the current preference for a particular kind of investment, should not allow themselves to be governed unduly by shifting public favor.

Security prices like commodity prices are governed by the law of supply and demand. An unusual demand for certain classes of securities will naturally create bargains in those types that are temporarily neglected. When sound investments are selling at comparatively low price levels because public favor has supported other classes of securities, or as a result of developments which do not affect them basically, then is usually a good time to buy.

We recommend the purchase of high grade bonds and investment stocks at this time.

CHICAGO STOCK VALUES TAKE ANOTHER FALL

Midwest Utilities (Old) Declines 65 Points.

Equals $2.48 a Share.

Net income after all charges and taxes for the five month period was $4,227,056, equal to $2.48 a share on 1,748,000 shares of capital stock. This compares with $3,091,118, or $1.20 a share on the same amount of stock in the corresponding period of last year.

Mr. Grigsby's statement reads that sales during the period advanced $20,657,934. Sales for October of $10,057,629 nearly doubled those of the same month a year ago, he said. October net profits were $1,239,027, compared with $596,625 a year ago.

The balance sheet shows a cash position of about $20,000,000 in cash on hand and accounts receivable and $7,500,000 for inventories. Total current assets are carried at $27,000,000, against current liabilities of $8,000,000.

Mr. Grigsby added that the plans for segregating the tube manufacturing plant from the receiving set business are going forward and that the stock in the new company will be equitably distributed among the stockholders.

Drops 13¾ Points.

The investment trust group was led by Insull Utility Investments, which eased 13¾. The company's second series preferred was down a point, although the directors placed the stock on a $6 annual basis, with the declaration of an initial quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share.

Cities Service headed the general list with an 8 point decline. Losses of from 2¾ to 4¾ points were felt by Process Corporation, Art Metal Works, Addressograph, and U. S. Gypsum.

News and Gossip of Stock Markets

Price Cutting Spreads.

Now that price cutting is spreading in the motor industry and radio companies are announcing deep slashes in prices, more attention than ever is likely to be given to the well known business barometers, such as the steel industry. This week's reports from the steel industry indicate that consumers are inclined to hold off their new orders until they can appraise the situation.

Office Equipment Orders.

Improvement in earnings of the Underwood-Elliott-Fisher company is expected to result from the recent deluge of business in the financial district. This brought large orders for batteries of bookkeeping and accounting machines and a rush on the part of leading banking and brokerage houses to provide surplus mechanical office equipment for bull and bear movements of the future.

Disappointing.

Rails evidently came under the influence of the disappointing car loading report for the week of Oct. 22, marking the second constructive period for which freight business has declined. The latest statement showed a reduction of 29,164 cars from the corresponding week of 1928 and a decline of 45,196 from the previous week's total.

Has Little Effect.

Good news has little effect in these days of falling stock market prices. Over the election day recess Loew's, Inc., increased its annual dividend rate to $3.00 and paid an extra of 75 cents a share, but the stock slipped off with the general list just the same. Brown Shoe directors raised the rate to $3 annually from $2.50 and reported its largest sales year, despite competitive conditions. This stock also failed to respond to the good news.

Chicago Curb Market Stocks

Chicago curb stocks weakened at the finish yesterday. The close found losses ranging from 2 to 5 points general throughout the list. All groups of stocks were included on the losing side, although a few issues, including Nehi, Associated Gas, and International Securities ran contrary to the trend and recorded gains of a point to four points in light trading. Announcement was made that the Transformer corporation had earned $1.45 a share during October but the stock remained quiet.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Cotton goods markets were steady and unchanged today with light inquiry for both fine and coarse goods, but no concentrated buying. Household lines continued of interest for the holiday season. Wool goods markets were quiet. Burlaps were rather quiet with a firm tendency continuing in spots and afloats and only limited interest in future shipments. Spot raw silks were quiet and unchanged here and abroad. Yen exchange was higher. Silk consumption in October estimated at 57,689 bales was expected. This figure was balanced by large amount of silk available for coming month and by 49,000 bales estimated to be in transit.

RAW SILK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(AP)—SILK—Raw futures closed weak; sales, 1,570 bales; December, $4.70; March, $4.71; May, $4.70. Open market quotations, 60 day bales: Shanghai, steam extra B, $4.90; Canton double extra A 14-16s, $3.45; Japanese crack double extra,

STOCKS TUMBLE ANEW; BANKER POOL LIES LOW

Bear Ridden Market Is Given No Support.

One of the most discouraging exhibitions of the day was the performance of U. S. Steel. This old line leader was under fire throughout the three hours and was driven down at one time to 165, off 19¼ points. It recovered some 4 points before the final gong sounded, but buying at no time reached the insistent stage and prices melted anew at the slightest pressure.

Choice Rail Issues Tumble.

Another factor that was very disheartening to the bull crowd was the fresh decline in railroad stocks. Market commentators have had many nice things to say of these shares here of late, what with the favorable earnings reports and prospects of the leading roads of the country. Today, however, these stocks went down as easily as say of them, Atchison crashing for some $27 a share, New York Central declining more than $16, and Norfolk and Western $22 a share.

No group of the entire list, in fact, escaped the selling tide. The oils, which have essayed a turn at market leadership from time to time since the first signs of the current weakness developed some six weeks or so ago, retreated in a group, losing from $3 to more than $11 a share.

What few friends the motors had left abandoned them pell-mell and the whole list drifted down $2 to $4 to still lower levels.

Specialties folded up by the score. It was all but unanimous.

Investment Buying Invisible.

Reports were current of some investment buying, but if so it was a negligible factor. Not only have a large number of trusts exhausted their cash reserves by purchases made in previous breaks of the last month, it was said, but those which have preserved large cash funds are waiting for more stable conditions, which, in plain United States, means lower prices.

There was no news of particular bearish significance to accelerate the decline. But Monday's unexpected drop had dampened bullish enthusiasm over the election day shutdown and professional traders in the main were strongly bearish.

Leading bankers of the financial district were frank to admit their disappointment this afternoon at the continued weakness of the market. The fact that trading throughout the day was conducted in an orderly manner, without the distressing experiences of two weeks ago, when offers of stock found no nearby bids, was advanced as casting a somewhat more cheerful light upon the picture.

But Bears Are in the Saddle.

It was conceded, however, that the action of the security markets during the day indicates that substantial selling power lay behind the market and that buying had not yet developed great strength.

In the absence of more material signs of a turn for the better, several experienced Wall street observers remarked that the turning point is generally to be distinguished by the fact that every one has given up being outspokenly cheerful.

A reassuring element of the situation, bankers pointed out, was the fact that despite the heavy strain to which the financial community had been subjected during the last two weeks, no instance has come to light of any important house being in difficulties. In circles close to the banking group formed to support the market it was given out that the attitude of the group was unchanged—that it was contenting itself with assuring the maintenance of orderly trading.

Banks Have Big Job Ahead.

Local bankers anticipate that their institutions will again be called on this week to take over a large volume of brokers' loans formerly held by out of town banks, and other lenders. It is anticipated that the New York City banks will experience no difficulty in meeting this problem since, despite the fact that they were forced last week to take up almost a billion dollars in such loans, they remain in a strong position.

The banks of the city are borrowing very little from the federal reserve and could easily expand their discounts to meet the situation. In addition, the federal reserve is actively buying bankers' bills and government securities, in order to release credit to the market.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Was more active and easier today, closing 2 to 10 points lower on the active positions. Sales, 17,500 brls. Prime crude, 7.50c; prime summer yellow, spot, December closed 9.06c; January, 9.16c; March, 9.25c; May, 9.41c.

WHEAT PRICES SAG BELOW FARM BOARD FIGURES

Values Close Lower After Erratic Session.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat prices have dropped below the figures at which the farm board recently announced it would loan to farmers to carry the grain the balance of the season.

Kansas City December at the inside figure was down to $1.13⅞, or 4½c under the basic price, while at Minneapolis No. 2 northern at the low point figured out $1.20, or 5c below the basis.

The low prices of the day were made around midday, when sudden selling sent values in Chicago crashing around 1⅞c in a instant with comparatively little support on the way down, and the quotations on the blackboard were 1c or more out of line with the actual trading in the pit. The market righted itself almost as fast as it declined, but the finish was 1⅛@1¼c lower.

Wheat prices on the Chicago Board of Trade had a range of 2⅛@3¼c for the day, with the sharp bulge following an early break, with talk of a large export business bringing in buying orders, but later there was general selling on the weakness in the stock market, and also on the announcement that the Canadian pool had not completed its payments on the 1928 wheat crop due to the amount of unsold grain on hand.

Wheat Market Oversold.

It was apparent from the action of the market during the day that an oversold condition existed, and at no time did values come close to the inside figures which were made on the drastic decline of Oct. 24, when December sold down to $1.13¾. Stop loss orders were caught on the break with the best buying coming from shorts and on resting orders.

The continued decline in the stock market has created a feeling of nervous uncertainty amongst grain traders, and erratic fluctuations are generally expected to continue. Export sales of around 1,000,000 bu, mainly hard winters, were estimated in all positions, and railroads have removed the embargo against shipments to Galveston, which was taken as suggesting that sales aboard of late were larger than reported.

Winnipeg wheat was little affected by the pool announcement, and closed ⅞@1¼c lower. Buenos Aires was off ⅛@1⅛c at the last, after being ⅛@1c higher early, while Liverpool rallied sharply from an early decline and finished ⅛@⅝d lower, with May in that market 8¾c over Chicago at the time it closed, the greatest premium in weeks.

Corn Resists Pressure.

Corn showed rather stubborn resistance to pressure, and while higher early with wheat and on commission house buying, eased later, and closed unchanged to ¼c lower. There was some buying of December and selling of May at 8c difference by cash houses who were changing over hedges. The spot basis was steady on old and ½@1c higher on new, with the latter now regarded as selling relatively too high as compared with old, everything considered. Buenos Aires closed unchanged to ⅝c higher.

POOR SUPPORT IN LARD

Stop order selling, with no support of consequence, carried lard prices down yesterday, with a close 12½@15 cents under the previous day. Trading was fair. Liverpool declined 1s. Export clearances from New York for three days were 7,555,659 lbs; of bacon, 983,000 lbs. Hog prices were lower, but the big depressing influence was the break in grain and stocks. Deliveries of cash lard on November contracts were 350,000 lbs. Hog receipts at western points were large, as compared with a week ago and the same period for the last two years.

Bellies were offered fairly and closed 12½@20c lower, the latter on January.

The winter packing season has started, with the first week's slaughtering in the west, as given by the Grain World, aggregating 533,500 hogs, against 553,900 the previous week and 559,375 last year. Prices follow:

Estimated receipts at Chicago Monday, 8,000 cattle, 38,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep.

There was a good clearance of hogs when prices touched new low levels for the season yesterday. Losses of 10c were general, bringing the extreme top down to $9.30, lowest since Jan. 21.

The general average price figured $9.05, with more hogs selling at $9.00 late in the day than at any other one price. Larger houses bought freely at the full price cut, Armour, Swift, and Wilson handling a combined total of about 14,000 hogs, leaving only 4,000 in the pens at the close. Salesmen balked when packers asked additional price cuts late, but dumped thousands of hogs on the market subsequent to the advance estimate of 38,000 for today. A feature of the trade was the sale of 109 "roasters" averaging 36 lbs at $13.25.

Yearlings in Demand.

Yesterday's liberal receipts of 15,000 cattle subjected prices to another drubbing, bringing some classes of heavy steers as much as 50@75c under the close of last week. Yearlings were in fair demand at the least decline, some of the best at $15.00@15.75 being almost in line with the general selling Tuesday.

Fancy 886 lb yearlings topped the market at $15.75, while 925 lb mixed steers and heifers sold up to $15.65. Good 1,315 lb steers sold at $15.25. Butcher stock sold slowly at weak to mostly 25c lower prices. Calves ruled strong to 25c higher. Stockers and feeders were erratic, anything with weight changing hands at a reduction.

Lambs Share in Loss.

Following a generally steady opening, lamb prices shared in the price cutting, finishing 15@25c under the general trade the previous day. Fancy natives to city butchers topped the market at $13.10, while good 93 lb fed westerns sold at $12.75 and several loads of plain quality lacking finish at $12.00@12.50.

Lambs without fleece at $11.50 were mates to the $12.10 kinds a week ago, the spread between shorn and wool stock widening to $1.25@1.50, against 75c to $1.00 a week ago. Aged and yearling sheep held firm, 98 lb fed western yearlings bringing $10.00. Light ewes are quoted to $6.00.

BUTTER PRICES CRASH

Violent fluctuations were witnessed in butter and egg futures on the Chicago mercantile exchange. A report showing only 465,000 lbs butter withdrawn from storage at the four markets over the double holiday, against 1,301,000 lbs last year, precipitated a crash that sent values down 1@1½c from the finish of the previous day, equal to $1926216 per car, with the finish at the bottom. December being 39c and January 38½c. Sales were 126 cars and receipts 5,938 tubs. Eggs fluctuated with a range of ⅝@⅞c, and closed ⅛c higher in sympathy with strength in the spot market. November sold between 39¼@40c and closed at 39¾c, while December finished at 41¼c, and sold between 40⅝@41¼c. Sales were 251 cars and receipts 3,127 cases.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Bearish sentiment predominated in wheat, cotton and stocks at the close, with the trade more discouraged than at any time. There has been heavy liquidation and a rally is due, but sentiment favored sales on all sharp upturns. There were a few wheat traders who expressed bullish sentiment at the close who based their opinions on renewed export buying and possibility of government help. Most traders, however, were disinclined to believe that the government would come to the rescue of the market. Under ordinary circumstances traders were so bearish that the unexpected might happen.

Wheat traders were disturbed by an announcement of the wheat pool, in the Winnipeg Free Press, saying that the Saskatchewan pool in annual conference endorsed the action of the selling agency in not selling their wheat this year, which they think is justified by conditions of crops in most wheat growing countries. Another feature was that the final payment on the 1928 crop has not been made, which the pool attributes to the large carryover on Aug. 1. Pool members are said to be dissatisfied as the conference went on record as not being favorable to the policy of holding wheat back from year to year, but this year special conditions are said to exist.

Housebroken

By PAUL HERVEY FOX

SYNOPSIS.

Tom Davies, football star of a small eastern college, plays brilliantly in his last game. After the battle, Bruce Stevens, his room mate, asks him to go to the dance that night to escort a girl who'd been asked down to the college for him. Bruce explains that he wishes to avoid meeting one of the chaperons. The girl, Suzanne Branch, makes an instantaneous appeal to him. She tells Tom that she is engaged to marry a friend of her father's. After she leaves Tom writes to her. Before the Christmas holidays Tom meets Suzanne in New York.

INSTALLMENT IV.

THE ENGAGEMENT.

The next day Tom was at Miss Hedges' house again. "But I'm going hopping," Suzanne said.

"So am I."

"Tom, you've got to be sensible."

"I am sensible."

"Then let's say goodby."

"Goodby," he said, and continued walking at her side.

She bit her lip, and looked up at him suddenly. "O, you're so stupid and silly!" she said. But he noticed that her eyes were moist.

On the fourth day, he knew he could stay no longer. His mother would have the police dragging the river for him, and his father would send out a search warrant if he didn't appear to spend the remainder of his holidays at home.

On that night he had taken Suzanne up to Miss Hedges' apartment after the theater. They were in the mood of the play they had seen, a sentimental little comedy.

Miss Hedges was still up, but she did not stay long. Suzanne was to leave for her home in the morning, too. She was a little tense that night. Tom threw Miss Hedges a grateful glance, when she ignored Suzanne's pleading glances and left them alone together.

Then Suzanne seemed irritable. She interrupted him, scarcely listened when he spoke, laughed in the wrong places, said things that were not altogether kind.

She didn't like him, she never would! A sense of loss moved dully in him, and he looked at her with dejected, unhappy eyes. He got up to go.

She went with him to the door. "I didn't mean to be so rude," she said now. "I really didn't. I'm terribly sorry. I don't want you to go away thinking—thinking that I—"

She could not go on. Her troubled eyes gazed up at him. Then, because he could not help it, Tom drew her into his arms and kissed her. It was the second time in his life. This time she did not struggle. She only sighed as if she were very tired.

He put his hand on Tom's shoulder and thereafter said the conventional things.

"O, you didn't give me a chance!" she said. "I knew I shouldn't have seen you. I knew it!"

"I love you, Suzanne!"

"I know." She looked up, put one finger against his cheek, touched it shyly and smiled. In a voice he could just faintly hear she said now, as if in a kind of sadness and helplessness: "I love you, too."

Suzanne had sworn him to dark secrecy. She seemed even to find a guilty delight in concealing their romance.

"My people are so anxious to have me marry Robert Brinton," she explained. "I've got to prepare them, you see. And there's Robert himself to consider. He's horribly sensitive—not like you and me. I just can't hurt him. I'll have to think of a way. . . ."

It was not until Easter that Tom met her people. In the meantime he wrote to her the sort of letters all young lovers write, and every now and then escaped to town, to see her all too briefly for an afternoon and evening.

He had kept the news from his own family, and said nothing about it in college. There were times when his thoughts and longing seemed to fill him to bursting.

Bruce's high spirits these days, and his perpetual references to the wild times before them in China, got on Tom's nerves.

He felt older and wiser, infinitely more responsible than his friend. He had gained a new self-respect. He caught himself looking at children with amused and interested eyes. The business of having a high time, of making laughter and pleasure the sole end of one's existence, had lost all savor for him.

Suzanne was of course posted as to his holidays. She sent him a special delivery at Easter, telling him to come to Pleasant Brook at once. She had told her people, and told Robert Brinton at the same time.

"They've done nothing ever since," she wrote, "except talk in whispers and look at me with reproachful eyes. I don't know whether they think you're a chorus man or a safe cracker, but please, please come and show them yourself.

"As for Robert, he took it much better than I expected, which was rather horrid of him, when you come to think of it. He'll probably go right on living. But he did say one thing: he wanted to see you, because he knew so much more about men than I did. If you aren't all right, he's to get a black horse and a pair of false mustaches and kidnap me, and hold me prisoner in the desert. So come along, because the suspense is unbearable, and I've got to find out as soon as possible whether I'm going to be kidnapped or not. . . ."

Tom borrowed Joe Galbraith's red and black roadster and ate up the miles between the college and Pleasant Brook all of a fine spring night.

He looked around the countryside the next day with an interested eye. This was where she had grown up, this was where, as a long legged kid, she had ripened into final perfection.

He liked the weather beaten house she lived in, and the quiet town itself. He got on promptly enough with her mother, a practical woman with an air of experience and fortitude, and with the raft of younger sisters. One of them, Joan, had her arms around his neck before he had been in the house half an hour. Mr. Branch, too, proved a gentle old man with a well filled library and a mild blue eye.

Afterwards Suzanne took him across the fields to Robert Brinton's big house. Brinton had thin features, a slow smile, and a penetrating glance. He showed them around the place, with its model dairy and prize live stock. Now and then Tom felt his eyes resting upon him.

But he liked the man, couldn't very well help liking him. He had a sense of humor, but it was plain enough that he cared a good deal for Suzanne and her loss was a blow to him.

Afterwards they all sat together in the big living room with its handsome hearth while the spring air rustled the curtains.

Brinton smoked his pipe, and the talk fell into leisurely channels. Presently as if by impulse, after he had risen to knock out his pipe, he put his hand on Tom's shoulder, and thereafter said the conventional, congratulatory things.

He was a little stiff, almost a little old fashioned, but he was certainly a gentleman.

They walked homewards through the soft air, and Tom praised him.

"I could see he liked you, Tom. As if he wouldn't!" she said.

Tom's cup was filled. But it was that day, when they had reached the house that he discovered a characteristic in Suzanne that startled him . . . that he could not quite define.

Before it happened she had been talking so happily.

"Just suppose," she had said, "just suppose you had listened to me, and you had really let me go ahead and marry Robert. Suppose I had met you afterwards!"

"What would you have done?"

"Run off with you, of course!"

"But suppose you meet somebody else you like better than me."

"Don't be silly. You know that there isn't anyone else better than you."

The soft spring air was around them, the new grass was coming up, and the trees had their first washed green. Tom was happy, and knew that the moment was a golden one, even as it passed.

Shakespeare Has the Goods Today, Actor Declares

Pitting 'Hamlet' Against the Psychiatrists.

Shakespeare knew all the modern psychology sharks know, but instead of theorizing about why or how men and women react to this or that situation he merely made them react.

That's Fritz Leiber's idea. Mr. Leiber got so excited last night when the first rehearsal was held in the new Chicago Civic theater that he said a great many things about Shakespeare.

"Shakespeare is certainly getting a break in Chicago," he said as he gazed around the compact little theater from the stage. "With a perfect little theater like this, and backers who already have assured a five year Shakespeare fling, we certainly should put Shakespeare over.

"But it seems silly to talk of 'putting Shakespeare over.' There would be no difficulty if he were let alone. He needs no help. He has everything that the writers of mystery thrillers, detective plays, sex plays, problem plays have, and more."

Mr. Leiber's idea is that if actors and audience quit trying to understand Shakespeare, and quit trying to think of him as a classic writer and master of English, Shakespeare's plays would be given and taken more as they were in Elizabethan times.

"Take Hamlet, for instance," Mr. Leiber said. "Tomes have been written on whether he was sane or insane. Why does that matter? My own opinion is that he was violently sane.

"Shakespeare didn't have any one idea to sell or theory to expound. His virility and variety are what made him loved by the mass of people. And if people can forget that his work is among the classics, they will come to Shakespeare plays today just as they go to movies, for those plays are as thrilling.

"After all, he was anything but a highbrow. If we succeed here, it won't be because it is fashionable to come to the Civic theater, but because human nature has not changed and Shakespeare knew all there was to know about it.

"Jealousy works in the exact way it did then. And there may not have been so much analysis of love in his day as in ours, but love itself was the same."

The Chicago Civic theater is tucked in a corner of the Chicago Civic opera house. It seats a few less than 900 persons. It is so arranged that it is much as if Shakespeare were being presented in a drawing room. No seat seems far away from the stage.

The season opens Nov. 11 with "Hamlet." Twelve plays will be presented in as many weeks, after which the company, in the name of the Chicago Civic theater, will go on a two month tour. Top prices in the theater here will be $2.50.

Those who founded the Chicago Civic Shakespeare society, which is fostering the theater, are Harley L. Clarke, Dr. Walter Dill Scott, Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, Dr. John M. Manley, Frederick H. Rawson, Meredith Nicholson, Booth Tarkington, Rufus C. Dawes, J. P. Bickett, John C. Shaffer, C. S. Stanton, Nathan William MacChesney, Charles W. Higley, Glenn Griswold, Henry J. Smith, and Dr. F. R. Moulton.

Settings for the new theater will be semi-modernistic, but not so modernistic that the audience cannot tell what they represent, Mr. Leiber said. They cost $35,000, and are on the unit plan—that is, they will not be shifted often, being simple rather than realistic and detailed.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

THE TRIBUNE on Saturday published an aerial photographic map of Lincoln park and by error failed to credit the picture to the Chicago Aerial Survey company.

The statement in the home edition of THE TRIBUNE yesterday that Gloria Swanson had left Chicago for Hollywood was incorrect. Miss Swanson will appear at the opening today of her talking picture, "The Trespasser," at the United Artists theater.

Nancy Dyer and Her Father Give Delightful Art Show

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

There has just opened at the O'Brien galleries an exhibition of water colors by H. Anthony Dyer and his daughter, Nancy Dyer, that is perfectly fascinating. No one should miss it. Miss Dyer has caught the peasant characters of France upon the sharp point of her wit and transferred them upon paper with her cleverness tempered by humor.

She gives us irresistible backs—the backs of waiters—the backs of market women—the backs of street urchins. Have you ever noticed how much character there is in a back and how much humor? She brings all the possibilities of hips and heels and shoulders and of back hair [a great field, this] into distinct and conscious focus. Faces interest her, too, and full lengths, side face or full, catch her attention and hold ours. A group of women gossips on a bench is priceless; the figures at a gaming table are intriguing; the children with or without an attendant priest are fascinating.

In her particular field Miss Dyer is foremost. Her art is entrancing. She says just enough in each sketch, and never crowds her canvas. She leaves something of the amusement to be gained up to you. She does not underline her effects. She is extremely clever in her use of space. Her colors are brilliant, soft and rich. And through all of her pictures runs her own personality; they are strung on it like pearls on a cord. You hear with her ears, see with her eyes, feel with her heart and yet you lose her in your own stirred consciousness of the persons and conditions she has placed before you. She can conjure the atmosphere of a crowded wine cellar from the twist of a waiter's top curl. It is marvelous.

Mr. Dyer supports his daughter with an exhibit of very beautiful water colors of the Italian lakes, of little forgotten doorways, of streets and of house fronts. He paints with exquisite feeling. His coloring, atmosphere and arrangement, his technique, the finish of his work, stamp his pictures as tiny, perfect gems.

The exhibition will run through Nov. 15.

Three Congregations Plan Party for Settlement

Chase House Settlement and Day nursery, 211 South Ashland boulevard, is to be the beneficiary of three large bridge teas, all to be held on Monday, Armistice day, Nov. 11, at 2 o'clock. The Episcopal parish houses to be thrown open at that time are St. Paul's church, 4944 Dorchester avenue; St. Chrysostom's, 1416 Dearborn parkway; St. Luke's, in Evanston.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send your name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Eleanor Richards, 1606 Morse avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Would you like to live to be 100 years old?

The Answers.

Miss Eileen Fauver, Hotel Lincoln stenographer.—Certainly. If one knew for a certainty that the century mark would be reached one would know what could be attempted and how divide one's time. There is so much to do and see in this world.

A. C. Steuber, 1350 East Marquette road, traffic manager.—Yes, if I could be useful; otherwise it might or it might not be worth while. From various newspaper stories many of the octogenarians are hale, hearty, and active. But most of the century celebrants have a different story to tell.

Mrs. E. R. Peebles, 6450 Kimbark avenue, real estate.—No. By that time we are beyond appreciating life. I have seen so many very elderly people lose their faculties and all that, and I certainly would not want to be in their place. Many of my relatives are in the nineties, and I may be there myself some day, for all any one knows.

L. T. Mason, 6326 Kenwood avenue, postoffice clerk.—I believe I would. I always get a thrill out of watching the never ceasing flow of improvements, developments, and progress all around us in this country. The longer I live the more of these advances I will see.

Miss Eva V. Dunbar, 8 South Dearborn street, dramatic teacher.—Most assuredly. I believe we should endeavor to live as long as possible, just so we will not be a burden to others, but be useful and bring joy. By a process of cultivation one can both gain and give, and age should not thwart this.

Beware Fat, and Diets, Too, Doctor Warns

Both May Peril Health, He Tells Colleagues.

"Obesity is just as definite a condition of illness as measles or pneumonia, and the sooner it is recognized as such by the medical profession the better it will be for humanity." Dr. Maximilian Kern so informed hundreds of physicians attending the congress of the American College of Physical Therapy at the Hotel Sherman yesterday. His remarks were directed especially against the fad for dieting to grow thin.

"One of the popular diets known as the eighteen day diet," he asserted, "probably has done much more general harm to the American woman of today than any of the popular quack fads in the last twenty years. Another of the diets that has sent many patients into doctors' offices recently is the one in which a woman starts on the first day by taking 500 calories and end some days later by taking 1,500 calories.

To emphasize the grave possibilities of such a treatment it is only necessary to point out that an ordinary small girl needs 2,500 calories for the small activity she may indulge in daily.

"These women simply are bankrupting themselves of the proper and vital heat units their bodies must have to keep going. The probability is that when she starts to get fat what she needs is not a diet but a doctor. The extra fat may not be due to overindulgence in food, but to the endocrine glands, and you can't reach the endocrines by dieting."

Kenwood Episcopal Church to Honor 70th Anniversary

Bishop Charles P. Anderson and Dr. George H. Thomas will be the principal speakers tonight at a dinner which marks the 70th anniversary of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Kenwood. Dr. Thomas has been rector of St. Paul's church since 1915. Dr. Jacob Bockee, a physician, was responsible for the founding of the parish in 1859. The Rev. Dr. Clinton Locke, founder of St. Luke's hospital, gave the congregation its first pastoral oversight. Dr. Charles H. Bixby was connected with the parish for 45 years as rector and rector emeritus. Dr. Thomas succeeded Dr. Herman Page, present bishop of Michigan.

THEATER

FINAL opportunities to see the good play called "Journey's End" lie between tonight and the 16th instant; for next week is bulletined as the last of the engagement in the Adelphi. . . . The next attraction in that theater will be the Negro song-and-dance show called "Blackbirds," which is of high celebrity because of a long run in New York. It is dated for Tuesday night, the 19th.

And, speaking of final opportunities to see good things in the Chicago theaters, it is to be remembered that the fine play — too fine, perhaps — of "Thunder in the Air" is in its last week in the Princess, and that Miss Barrymore's varied acting as Sister Garcia in "The Kingdom of God" will be available only until Saturday night. These are high lights in the season, so far as the season is gone; and I hope the season will bring something else as good!

Miss Helen Ford is now announced for a song-and-dance play based on the legends of Nell Gwynne. This brings to mind that Mr. Ziegfeld some time since loudly and proudly announced that he was having a piece made on the subject, and would put Miss Ina Claire into it.

William Gillette is to be hurried into New-York in his revival of "Sherlock Holmes," although it is become something of a tradition down there that revivals do not attract the inhabitants. He is to start the 15th in a try-out town, and appear in New-York the 25th.

As to the question of revivals in New-York, there is—or, rather, there was—"Abraham Lincoln." It was taken off after just one week of performances.

"The Duchess of Chicago," long deferred as to its American première, will be sung tonight for the first time in Springfield (Mass.).

William Hodge's rôle in "Homicide," wherein he is to be seen Sunday night in the Garrick, is that of a detective.

Colleagues to Honor W. L. Bodine with Dinner on Nov. 14

William Lester Bodine, for thirty years superintendent of compulsory education, will be guest of honor at a testimonial dinner given by his friends and former associates at the Edgewater Beach hotel on Nov. 14. Bernard J. Mullaney, vice president of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, who was associated with Mr. Bodine in newspaper work on the Times-Herald more than thirty years ago, will be toastmaster.

William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, members of the board of education and other school officials will attend.

Mr. Bodine entered the service of the school board in 1899. He served five terms as president of the National League of Compulsory Education Officials, of which he is now honorary life president, and in 1903 he was chairman of the child saving conference, which sponsored the amended child labor laws in the legislature. He introduced free bus lines for crippled children of the Chicago schools, and was a founder of the Chicago Parental school.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Few of us realized how much we had been missing Claudia Muzio until she came back to the opera last night. Her return after a full season's absence classified as the most important news of the performance.

She was carefree, she was magnetic, she sang as though writs of attachment were not and never had been. She came close to re-creating a new Violetta. That is what it is to have a voice like hers, a personality and sense of the stage like hers. Still more, that is what it is to have brains like hers.

She has all the manner of grand opera and all the voice. She can turn her back on the conductor to address her companions on the stage with superb disdain of such aid to halting singers as the beat of his baton, and she comes in with triumphant exactness on her exact cue and her tempo is the tempo of the orchestra.

In fact, she knows her operas, not only their areas but their details and byplay. "La Traviata" is one of the three most popular operas in the repertoire of the Chicago Civic Opera company. Sometimes one wonders if it is not partly so because its drama, so open that it needs no explanation, is just about as important as its music, perhaps here and there a little more so.

Certainly Miss Muzio plays it as a drama as well as something to sing. Her big aria of the first act, "Ah, fors'e lui," was one of the vocal lusters of the evening, and worth every last handclap of the applause that followed, but it was only one of her high spots. In the course of years it has been my duty to see and hear many sopranos in the second act of this piece, and most of them have left the scene fairly soggy with tears. The way that Miss Muzio registered heartbreak and the crash of air castles was a different way, and a considerably better one.

Several of her associates in the cast seemed to feel the same way that she did about it. Mr. Hackett was a notable case. He, too, had won applause in the first act with his part of the drinking song. He did it lightly and joyously, but it was only a song. There are even those who maintain that it is only a musical trifle-bit, though this is neither here nor there.

But later in the piece he had occasion to express, through Verdian melody, the thought that he was living in heaven, and it sounded as though he meant it.

These are cases where artists in an opera do a little more than merely to sing a pretty tune. When they do it they deserve the name of artists.

Mr. Bonelli did the part of the unhumorous, but virtuous father with much distinction. He has a fine voice and he knows how to sing. Also, Verdi gave him plenty of opportunity for demonstrating both facts.

A gayly costumed and accurately trained ballet diversified the proceedings for a few moments in the third act, performing what can perhaps be described as a modified or stylised gypsy dance to music by the orchestra with interjected remarks from principals and chorus.

There is one matter of acoustics that it would be interesting to have more information upon. At no time since the new opera house opened has there been much if any trouble about hearing the voices of the principals, but on all of the three nights so far there have been intervals when the chorus, singing, it is true, pretty well up stage, seemed in need of amplification.

GIRL SCOUTS GIVEN $50,000 FROM ESTATE OF MRS. ROSENWALD

New Orleans, La., Nov. 6.—(AP)—The annual convention of the Girl Scouts of America opened today with announcement of a gift of $50,000 from the estate of Mrs. Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, and an address by Dame Katherine Furse, director of World Bureau of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, on leadership.

Mrs. Nathan L. Miller, wife of a former governer of New York and national vice president, announced the Rosenwald gift. She said that fund would be used in expanding Girl Scout leadership.

Dame Katherine urged development of capacity to lead in the world Girl Scout movement, to pass to the next generation the traditions of Girl Scouting as an antidote to untoward modernistic tendencies.

Speaking of the difficulties in enlisting workers in scouting, she said:

"Duty and discipline should come through self-control and the development of leadership. To my mind the big mistake to which there is a tendency is that grownup people will not consult the youngsters enough.

"Modern young people have so much independence that they will not join a movement which is managed from above."

East vs. West Football Plans Stir Up Society

BY THALIA ——.

Many of the Harvard alumni are planning to take advantage of the comparative proximity of the Harvard-Michigan football game on Saturday to go over to Ann Arbor and root for their Alma Mater's team. There are also numerous large parties planning expeditions to Urbana for the Army-University of Illinois contest. Brig. Gen. Robert E. Wood, being a loyal Army man, and Mrs. Wood are taking with them, actually, a carload of friends to the latter fracas. Their guests will include the Robert J. Thornes and their daughter, Laura, the Frederick Boyntons, Mallory Boynton, Mrs. Charles M. Kittle, Mr. and Mrs. William Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Card, John Harmon, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Peabody, Dr. and Mrs. Ira Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Tullis [Anne Wood]. Service club rehearsals are keeping Frances, the Woods' debutante daughter, from going along.

A quartet of the Junior League girls who are appearing in the children's theater performance of "The Patchwork Girl of Oz" opening on Saturday morning are thrilled with their plan to fly to Ann Arbor for the game in a small 4 passenger plane, because they can't leave earlier with their party. They plan to remove costumes and makeup and dash out to the Curtis field to make it in time for the kickoff. Charlotte Picher, Laura Jacoby, Virginia Skinkle, and Letitia Channon are the daring maidens.

Others going over to the Harvard-Michigan game include Mr. and Mrs. Neil C. Ward and the Burt A. Massees, the James Otises, Barnabe Otis, and R. Chester Otis Jr.

Mrs. George E. Marcy is to give a large luncheon at the Blackstone today at 12:30 o'clock, after the first of the Kinsolving musicals.

A reception and tea will be held this afternoon at the new buildings of the Western Theological seminary in Evanston. The receiving line will be composed of Bishop and Mrs. Charles P. Anderson, the Rev. and Mrs. Sheldon M. Griswold, Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, the donor of the new library; Mrs. Angus S. Hibbard, Mrs. George Allen Mason, Mrs. George A. McKinlock, and Mrs. Fletcher Durbin. Mrs. William E. Casselberry, Mrs. George Craig Stewart, Mrs. Arthur Dole, and Mrs. Edward Welles will pour.

There seem to be more young names than usual on the reservations list for the luncheon the English Speaking union is giving tomorrow at the Blackstone for Lieut. Col. Edmund Vivian Gabriel, C. M. G., C. B. E. Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland and her daughters, Harriet and Beatrice, are to be there, and also Mrs. William Mitchell Blair, Mrs. William E. Casselberry Jr., Mrs. Charles E. Brown Jr., Mrs. Cyrus Bentley, Edwin Seipp, the Frank J. Loesches, Mrs. Murry Nelson, and the Godfrey Haggards, who are to entertain for Col. Gabriel at the Casino Friday night.

Miss Caroline Bush, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bush of 1538 State parkway, is to give a luncheon party on next Monday at the Saddle and Cycle club for Miss Betty Hoss, who will be the house guest of Miss Betty Durham on the occasion of the dinner-dance Miss Durham's and Miss Jessica Hambleton's parents, the Raymond E. Durhams, and the Chalkley J. Hambletons are to give for them on Saturday night.

Dinner parties are being planned for before the Emerson house benefit of the rodeo on Nov. 19 by Rosemary Baur, who is to have the debutantes assisting at her tea earlier in the day as guests; Miss Florence Crane, recently arrived from the east; Mrs. Joseph B. Long, the Louis Sudlers, and Jane Schuttler, who will hurry back from football games in the east to attend the affair. Miss Crane is helping sell boxes, too. The Henry Fields will have with them Miss Minna Lindsay, Mr. Field's aunt from Boston, who will be visiting them at the time.

The White Elephant Rummage shop is to have a book sale next Tuesday with Mrs. Alvin C. McCord in charge.

Mrs. James A. Patten is chairman of a luncheon to be given by the Central Council for Nursing Education next Wednesday in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house. Her committee includes Mrs. Charles D. Bohling, Mrs. C. Frederick Childs, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Theodore Tiekens, Mrs. Arthur H. Spiegel, and Mrs. Harry F. Williams. Among the members of the junior auxiliary of the Children's Memorial hospital who will assist Mrs. Patten in receiving are Mrs. Charles Granville La Forgee, Mrs. Lytton Benello, Mrs. Robert Greenlee, Miss Roberta Harvey, Mrs. Billings McArthur, and Mrs. Milton Morse. Dr. Morris Fishbein will speak on "The Cost of Medical Care."

Mrs. Frank D. Fulton of Winnetka is to give a dance at her residence on Thanksgiving eve for her 15 year old daughter, Helen, and her contemporaries. Helen is the young woman who has won lots of tennis prizes.

Society Listens to "La Traviata"

The traditional brilliance of Wednesday night audiences in the old Auditorium was displayed again last night in the new opera house. An imposing assemblage of opera goers, many of whom for years have been familiar figures on Wednesday nights, filled the rose hued box circle.

Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr. had a party of guests in her box, the center one of the lower tier, including her daughter, Miss Florence Crane, her sister, Mrs. J. M. Patterson, William McCluer, Robert H. Allerton and John Gregg. Mrs. Crane wore a gown of black tulle embroidered in red and green, and Mrs. Patterson wore rose velvet brocaded in silver. Miss Crane wore white taffeta, a strand of pearls and antique gold earrings.

Mrs. Robert G. McGann had her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Douglas Jr., with her, as well as the Farwell Winstons, and J. Sanford Otis. Mrs. McGann wore black chiffon with wide shoulder straps of silver, a diamond dog collar and pearls. Her daughter wore a princess gown of black satin, diamond earrings and three strands of pearls.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins, who have attended the opera on all three nights since its opening, were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig Baum. Mrs. Hutchins wore a simple frock of flesh colored chiffon and a black velvet wrap lined with Alice blue. Mrs. Baum was in white satin, and her daughter, Mrs. Robers McCormick Adams, was in pale green taffeta with a flowing sash of jade green.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Yager were hosts to Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Blair, and Edwin Krenn. Mrs. McCormick wore a green brocade gown with a very low back and her famous diamond and emerald necklace.

WE CHALLENGE YOU, MAY TINEE!

We have invariably agreed with your opinion, BUT WHEN YOU GIVE ONLY TWO STARS TO "MARIANNE," WE COMPLETELY DISAGREE WITH YOU.

All Chicago respects your excellent judgment, and your star-system of grading pictures has become a convenient guide for theater-goers.

Judging from the enthusiastic comments of the Chicago Theater audiences, "Marianne" merited 4 Stars if ever a picture did. In all our experience few pictures have met with such unstinted praise.

WE ARE SURE THAT TOMORROW'S AUDIENCES AT THE PARADISE, UPTOWN AND TIVOLI THEATERS WILL FIND "MARIANNE" FOUR STARS' WORTH OF IDEAL TALKING PICTURE ENTERTAINMENT.

Eat More Slowly if You'd Consume Less, 'n' Stay Slim

Yesterday we talked about beating the overweight game by arising from the table "light," so to speak. Not hungry, you understand—but before you feel you've eaten to full capacity.

Today we offer another simple way of keeping your weight always primed for the trend of fashion. It is to eat more slowly. If you want to know how you can consume less food than you're used to, try eating more slowly. You can't eat as much, and what you eat will be more satisfatorily nourishing.

Most people eat too fast. And business girls, because their noon hour is limited and there invariably is shopping or an errand to do, fall readily into the habit of gulping food down hurriedly. If they are doing sedentary work, the effect of this hurried eating at which more food is actually consumed than is necessary is to add weight. They are in no position to get out and walk off the fat that is being stored up.

Women at home are just as guilty of hurried eating. But at least they have the opportunity, whether they grasp it or not, of getting out and letting the oxygen burn up the excess fat that the unmasticated food is turned into.

One way to correct the hurried eating habit is to put yourself through a five minute relaxation test before starting in. There is time while waiting for the order to be filled. And another thing that helps overcome the bolting is to promise yourself you will not take liquid while there is still food in your mouth. Some one making a study of business women's lunch habits some time ago made the observation that it was a common habit to reach for a glass of water or for the coffee or tea cup before the food in the mouth was half chewed. It is one of those habits that a watchful parent trains her child out of, but the child full grown is apt to train herself right back into it again. There is no objection to having liquid at meals, but not while food remains in the mouth.

A business woman has to be watchful about her food because, as already said, her occupation so frequently being sedentary in character, she has the additional tendency of becoming "heavy" from simply sitting so many hours.

A smart sports type dress is shown today and printed kashmir jersey in soft brown tones was used. Modish plaits are placed either side of the center of the skirt, forming a panel in the front. The back of the skirt effects a soft fullness through being slightly gathered. The hip yoke secures the desired snugness and further emphasizes the slight blousing of the bodice.

The pattern, 2795, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 40 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 36 inch contrasting.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

The baby had been cross, and uncle was vainly endeavoring to rock her to sleep, singing in a loud and lusty voice "Three Black Crows."

Suddenly Shirley Anne sat up in his arms and said in a wistful tone:

"Unca Fwed, I'll do to sleep now if oo don't sing dat song anymore!

E. A.

"Aren't you a little girl to open such a heavy door?" Evelyn was asked the other day as she tugged at the door of the garage.

"I'm not so small," came the quick response. "I'm six years old and ten pounds overweight."

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

DOROTHY M.: A SIMPLE AND effective exercise for reducing the legs is the following: Suspend a pillow in the doorway on a level with your shoulders. Stand back about two feet. Kick the pillow with one foot, then with the other foot. Be sure to kick hard — and gradually increase the height of the pillow. Other exercises may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

CHARLOTTE M.: IN ADDITION to the sweets, you should eliminate starchy foods, white breads, greasy meats and rich pastries. Eat vegetables, fruits and bran breads. A certain amount of roughage is necessary in your diet. This is contained in lettuce, celery, spinach, asparagus, cabbage, cauliflower, beets, onions, figs, prunes, and other fruits with their skins, and cereals.

"Obey" Is Banished, but So Is Clause About Endowing

BY DORIS BLAKE.

You probably noted in the news columns that in the new prayer book, revised for the first time since 1892, "obey" has been stricken from the bride's promises and the bridegroom no longer has to swear that he will endow his other half with all his worldly goods.

The bridal vow of obedience for a good many bridal seasons has been accepted as just a twinkling bit of humor injected into an occasion of solemnity—the only thing, as one of his sex propounded, that contributed any sense of importance at all to the groom on the big day. So the revised form of marriage contract, in so far as obedience is concerned, is what you might call no news at all.

But the other clause may not look so amusing to our alimony grabbing specie of femme, although it is doubtful if men ever took it as seriously as women took the vow to obey. It is recorded that periods in history did see some observance of the vow by wives, but we haven't as much evidence that men took the clause that affected them as seriously. Rather, that's the conclusion after years of hearing of wives who have had to beg for the price of a new hat or coat or $10 to run the house on.

Of course, neither clause affected unions where each party thereof set out to make a real go of their marriage. Nor will the reformed version affect this type any more.

No man expects to assume the rôle of tyrant or disciplinarian toward the girl he marries, so that obedience strikes itself out automatically. And no woman of sense expects a man to endow her with all his worldly goods. They belong to both, not to one or the other. So that the change is consistent with the advanced position of husbands and wives working together under modern dictation.

We have a feeling that a modification of the male clause might have been incorporated for the benefit of women. Just a suggestion that half of his world's goods could be endowed and it would be fair enough. It would be wise if for no other reason than that women be forced to learn more of financial management. This feeling is influenced by recent disclosures of an acquaintance whose husband left her a fortune after years on her part of begging for hat, dress, and pin money. The quick squandering of the fortune is but another of the thousands of instances of women unfairly cut off from an education in finance handling.

You feel really safe for hours
when you depend on Kotex for sanitary protection

What a relief to know there's one pad that protects in every possible way, though worn for hours.

THERE are so many ways in which a sanitary pad should protect—and Kotex has not overlooked one.

Kotex protects you from embarrassment . . . because it is deodorized, and because its round, tapered corners keep it inconspicuous.

Absorbs more than cotton

Kotex protects delicate clothing because it is made of the most absorptive substance possible. This is Cellucotton absorbent wadding, which actually absorbs 16 times its own weight in moisture! Five times more than cotton or any cotton material.

Kotex protects your comfort. And how important that is! Kotex never packs, cannot chafe. It stays soft and delicate for hours . . . because it is made of air-cooled layers of Cellucotton.

Preferred by hospitals

There's no more striking testimony to the superiority of Kotex filler than this: 85% of the leading hospitals use Kotex filler in preference to anything else! They prefer it for its wonderful absorption, and its unusual comfort.

Please read about other Kotex features at the right. You'll see that no refinement of comfort has been overlooked.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .
1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
2—Safe, secure . . . keeps your mind at ease.
3—Fastidious . . . the sign of true daintiness.
4—In hospitals . . . Kotex is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.
5—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a patented process.

Mother Offers Valuable Thoughts About the Radio

by Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A book on the care of babies by Miss Carolyn Conan Van Blarcom, a noted authority on the subject, can be had at The Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street, for 50 cents, or by mail for 65 cents.

Almost never do I write an article, like a fisherman casting his net into the sea, hoping for a catch of opinions in letters.

But when early in September I wrote an article about radio and children I had a lingering hope that the thinking mothers would have something to say. Because it's the mothers who are going to have the real thing to contribute on this subject for a long time to come—not the professional or scientific student of children, whose laboratory is not the home. It is the wise use of radio in the home that we must develop, and who has an opportunity to collect data on the subject equal to a mother's?

Radio is a subject of great importance right now, in children's lives. Radio is comparatively new, program making is still experimental so it all has the appeal of novelty which tends to make people listen in too much. It is so nearly universal that harm and good of radio are widespread.

Radio is assuredly something that bears thinking about. To go back over. As I said, I didn't deliberately spread my net when I wrote about radio and children, but a remarkably fine and thoughtful letter came to me as a result of the article. Here is a woman who thinks and talks to great purpose. This is a letter that every person who has a radio and children should ponder carefully.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: Reading your article about the effect of radios on children, I am moved to write a few suggestions, based on a little experience I have had with my own children.

"One day when there was a beautiful program to be given by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, I called my two boys to me and told them I wanted them to relax on the floor and listen to the lovely music. Result was that in about five or ten minutes' concentration was no longer possible, the restlessness of the age overtook them, and mother's plan for them flew to the winds.

"That set me thinking rather seriously about children versus radios.

"1. Children being brought up with the sound of the radio ringing in their ears will naturally accept it as just another sound in the course of everyday life, on a par with vacuum cleaners, automobile horns, street cars, and millions of other noises of civilized life.

"2. An adult who unthinkingly allows a radio to run incessantly as a background to every home activity is hindering the sensitive child (or even a normal one) in developing concentration, discrimination and fineness of taste.

"3. It behooves every mother and father to study radio programs, pick the finest, and then use it as an 'occasion.' It should be the unusual thing, not the usual thing."

This is masterly.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscripts returned.

Getting the Facts.

My cousin, who lives in Chicago, sends me quite a few of her old clothes. After they are cleaned and pressed they are in such good condition they look like new.

I have a friend that can afford expensive clothes and rather lords them over me. While walking downtown with a suit my cousin had sent me that was an expensive one and in good condition, I bumped into this friend. "Oh, what a lovely suit. Where did you get it?"

I couldn't resist the temptation and remarked casually, "Over at the 'L' Shop." This store is exclusive and expensive.

Just then my younger sister who was with me spoke up, "Why, you didn't either; Cousin Louise sent it to you at the same time she sent that blue coat and gray hat."

I had remarked previously of having bought that hat and coat at another expensive shop, so I certainly did feel embarrassed. M. A. H.

Imitates Teacher.

My most embarrassing moment occurred in my speech class at school. We were to imitate a certain person's walk. The teacher called on me and started to go out of the room, which I thought she did. I got up in front of the class, but instead of giving the requested impersonation I made the announcement that I would imitate our teacher instead. I illustrated her walk when the class burst out in a roar of laughter.

I turned to take my seat, when I noticed my teacher standing in the doorway. I prayed for the floor to swallow me, but it did no good. Thank heavens, she took it good naturedly. L. M.

If It's a Shade of Green It's All Right

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The cream of society is now become the pistachio cream. That much was apparent from taking a look at Meadow Brook which, by the way, is fast beginning to resemble the Paris races as a barometer of fashion. Here one saw last month society women out in sports clothes that emphasized this same confectionery green. For example, Mrs. Henry Cushing wore a sports frock of pistachio green angora jersey. Another woman equally in the spirit of the hour chose this tone as the background for a closely knitted material flecked with black.

Aside from this fact, it was interesting to see how widely the new silhouette has taken possession of even the purely sports type. In place of the familiar contours of other years, here were frocks with lengthened skirts, high waist-lines and moulded hips. The gored skirt was much in evidence and repeatedly one saw the whole style tone of the frock contributed by geometric and diagonal placements of self-bands.

But to go back to green, one cannot say too much of its influence upon every province of clothes. Green evening gowns are featured every place. Sports clothes are partial to it. And a number of our wearable day-time frocks reflect the same partiality.

Indication of the last is found in today's model, a charming emerald green silk crêpe with elongated skirts in the back, a draped movement at the natural waistline which is accented by a bow of self material and, last of all, a collar of light tan georgette. Incidentally these wide bertha-like collars are seen again and again in today's mirror of fashion.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Big Hominy Hash.

You can make a hominy hash to serve with the wild duck, but plain big cooked hominy and butter is all right also, and will cost about one-twentieth of what the wild rice does, and is likely to be better if the cook has had little experience cooking the latter, which may also be acceptably combined with finely cut up vegetables and fat to make it savory.

And there is another thing about hominy hash to recommend it. It can be made quite like hashed brown potato, which used to be considered a fine leftover of potato of the hash order, but now is used in de luxe combinations.

Use one cup of cold big cooked hominy, drained; one tablespoon of butter or savory fat—for the frying pan—one tablespoon of chopped chives, one tablespoon of chopped onion, one scant teaspoon of salt. Sauté the onion and chives gently in the fat, then add the hominy and stir it while it heats well through and browns a bit. If it should not brown readily add two or three tablespoons of milk. Or, if more convenient, add two or three tablespoons of the hominy liquor.

We may, with this combination, make a hominy omelet, but perhaps it is most agreeable when more like the hashed brown potato. To make the omelet prepare in the same way as for the hash, with the same seasonings and sweat with the chives and onions one teaspoon of dry chopped parsley. It may be varied in other ways.

The hominy cakes and hashes seem just made for gravies and the following hominy fritter, when you have gravy, is good but not equal, perhaps, to the hash: Mash one cup of cooked big hominy, add one-fourth cup of sifted flour, one egg, one teaspoon of salt and one-half teaspoon of sugar or a bit of sugar to taste, but the half teaspoon is right when the fritter is to have gravy. Make the mixture, dip up portions and shape, roll in bread crumbs and fry in deep fat at 360 degrees or a little above, but remember that everything but the egg has been cooked and that much fire stiffens that. To use 360 degrees is safe, even if a minute more is required to brown crumbs.

A FRIEND IN NEED

Dress for First Party.

"I have been invited to a party and have no dress to wear. It will be my first real party and I hate to miss it, so I am asking your readers for one they no longer want. I wear size 16. My mother has been in the hospital for the last two months and there are so many bills my father cannot buy me a dress. H. M."

The problem of a pretty frock is one of no small concern to the young girl about to attend her first party. And what a disappointment it will be if she isn't able to get one! Won't you give her the dress you are about to discard?

Garfield Park Plans Best Chrysanthemum Show in Its History

Probably the most spectacular exhibit of chrysanthemums in the history of the Garfield park conservatory will open on Sunday and continue until Dec. 1. Over 300,000 blooms will be displayed, twice as many as usual, Chief Florist August Koch explained, due to the new horticultural hall and show room. About 370 varieties may be seen including 2,000 single stem plants and 5,000 bush plants. Among the features will be a grafted plant bearing 54 varieties of blooms, and chrysanthemums imported from Japan especially for the show. Some of these have petals eighteen inches long. The west park commissioners have announced that the conservatory will be open daily from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m., and no charge will be made for admission.

SMART MEN, LISTEN!
EVERY MONEY MAKING ELEMENT IS IN THIS BUSINESS.

One man has made 4,847 sales in past three months. Average commission about $2.00 per sale. Many sales were made in groups of half dozen and dozen or more in few minutes. Our men have earned well over a quarter of a million dollars in profits and commissions during past ninety days. They will make over one million dollars between now and Christmas.

We are selling an article with a $15.00 Retail Value for less than $5.00, which includes a big margin of profit for the salesman. This article has a wonderful Christmas appeal. A million men in Chicago will buy something of the kind between now and Christmas and pay from three to five times our price. At least a half million women will also buy on the same basis.

Salesmen who sell individuals can make $25.00 per day and up. The earnings of group salesmen and men who have contacts with firms or organizations are unlimited. We have over a half million dollars' worth of merchandise in storage and on immediate order, and expect to get another half million dollars' worth ready for delivery before Christmas.

If you are smart—if you know a real deal—if you can make money when you have a real opportunity—above everything else, if you know that it takes action to make money regardless of how good a deal is—and if you are ready to pay the price of success, which means work, in one of the biggest opportunities in the history of selling, call at once, or write, or wire for particulars. Room 268, 35 E. Wacker-drive, Chicago.

3520-30 SHERIDAN-RD.
One 6 and one 4 room apartment available for one year lease to responsible people of unquestioned character.

An apartment at 3520-30 Sheridan-rd. represents the highest type of home apartments in Chicago. Prices are reasonable though they are not low and the never grow lower. High class, unobtrusive service makes rental rates. They cease to be high class when they become cheap, because they attract a different type of tenant.

"The most beautiful view in the city" spreads before this imposing and massive structure—one of the architectural triumphs of the near North Side. It is the most coveted location in the city for a home, advertise you close to the heart of things yet distant enough to keep you unaware of them. An address here on this famous thoroughfare means something everywhere: a place of prestige for affluent people.

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS

The Personal Loan & Savings Bank is sponsor for the Personal Home Mortgage Company which begins operation this week, to take over and put in permanent form the second mortgage business heretofore conducted by the bank as agent for the Trustees of the Rosenwald Loan Fund.

The business was originally started following an extensive survey by President Hoover when Mr. was Secretary of Commerce. Mr. Hoover was hopeful that rates charged on second mortgage loans on homes could be reduced and more nearly approach the charges attaching to better known and standardized phases of financing. It was at Mr. Hoover's suggestion and through the financial interest of Mr. Julius Rosenwald that the Personal Loan & Savings Bank has been conducting a test for the past four years. Rates have been reduced from 40% to 60% over previously prevailing rates. A satisfactory profit has accrued on the capital invested, and there is every indication that a continuation of the business will work for the betterment of home financing in this community.

It was the understanding between Mr. Rosenwald and the bank that if the success of the business warranted continuation, it would later be organized in such a way as to not be entirely dependent upon Mr. Rosenwald's financial backing. That is the reason for the organization of the Personal Home Mortgage Company.

The capital for the Personal Home Mortgage Company has been provided through the subscription to 5,000 shares of Personal Loan & Savings Bank stock at $200 a share. One-half of the proceeds of the sale of this stock, or $500,000, is set apart for the capitalization of the Personal Home Mortgage Company, which is trusteed for the benefit of the shareholders of the Personal Loan & Savings Bank. The company will be under the direction of the directors of the bank, and will be officered by:

Willoughby G. Walling, President.
Robert B. Umbergar, Vice President.
Frank H. Spencer, Secretary and Mgr.
George T. Peck, Treasurer.

The change of the organizational form under which this business will be carried on does not affect in any particular the relations between the new company and its customers. Old clients will meet the same personnel as heretofore.

Home owners who have not heretofore used the facilities offered by us will be agreeably delighted with the rates, terms and conditions of our second mortgage plan, and quite as much with the efficient and understanding staff conducting the work.
